BRITISH AIRMEN COMING TO TRY ATLANTIC FLIGHT

Steamer Is Bringing Them with Airplane to Start from St. John's, N. F.

ENTER FOR £10,000 PURSE

HARRY HAWKER THE PILOT

Prize Winner for Long Flight—Fontan, Who Will Try Southern Route, Has Setback.

LONDON, March 18.—A secretly built airplane, accompanied by a pilot and an officer of the British Navy, have left England in preparation for an attempt to win the prize of £10,000 offered by The Daily Mail for the first machine to fly across the Atlantic.

At 1 P. M. today the managing director of the Sopwith Aviation Company placed the necessary £500 deposit with the Royal Aero Club and entered in the competition a Sopwith two-seater with a twelve-cylinder, 375 horsepower, Rolls-Royce Eagle engine, remarking that the airplane even then was being taken to St. John's, Newfoundland, after having been secretly constructed in two months at great pressure. He said Harry G. Hawker had been nominated as pilot and Lieut. Commander Mackenzie Grieve, R. N., as navigator.

It was announced that the start would be made at the earliest possible moment from St. John's. By arrangement with the Air Ministry Major A. Partridge, R. A. F., will act as official starter.

Before he left England Mr. Hawker said he believed the flight would require about nineteen and one-half hours, and that the machine was capable of remaining in flight about twenty-five hours at a rate of 100 miles an hour. He said it had already flown 900 miles in 9 hours and 5 minutes on one-third of the petrol in its tanks, and this was half the distance between Newfoundland and Ireland.

The fuselage is boat-shaped, and will support the machine in the water. A short-distance wireless has been installed.

Harry G. Hawker won the British Michelin Prize for 1912 by a flight of 8 hours and 23 minutes. He has made many long-distance flights along the British Coast. He established a world's altitude record of 28,500 feet in 1916.

Newfoundland lies nearer to Europe than any other part of North America, the distance being about 1,900 miles.

BELLINGER TO TRY FLIGHT?

Rumor That Naval Aviator Has Been Ordered to Start at Early Date.

Special to The New York Times.

NORFOLK, Va., March 18.—Lieut. Commander Patrick N. L. Bellinger, commandant of the air station of the Naval Operating Base at Hampton Roads, may be the officer chosen to pilot the aircraft on which the American Navy pins its hopes in the transatlantic flight, according to an unconfirmed report current here today. Rumor has it that the Navy Department, spurred to activity by the reports coming from all over the world that both French and British aviators are getting ready for the flight across the ocean, has ordered Lieut. Commander Bellinger to prepare for the attempt at once.

There was nothing definite to be learned at the naval base today, all inquiries being politely but firmly turned aside. That there will be a flight by an American naval officer in a naval plane there is no doubt, and it is admitted by officers in pricate conversation; but who will make the trip and when it will come are questions that cannot be answered at present.

Lieut. Commander Bellinger is considered one of the best aviators in the American Navy. He has been at his post in command of one of the largest aviation units under the American flag ever since the United States went to war. If he should be chosen, a friend of his said tonight, it would be because he had better knowledge of aviation than any other man in the service.

International Flight Rivalry.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Announcement from London that two British aviators have sailed for Newfoundland with a Sopwith airplane, with which to try to fly across the Atlantic and win The Daily Mail prize of $50,000, means that the United States Navy must hurry up if it expects first chance to negotiate the transatlantic air journey.

There is a friendly rivalry between the British Air Service and the American Navy in this matter. Rear Admiral David W. Taylor, Chief Naval Constructor of the United States Navy, who has had general supervision over planning the material for the navy's proposed transatlantic flight, told the correspondent of THE NEW YORK TIMES the last day in February that he fully expected that the British would be the first to cross the Atlantic by the air route in a lighter-than-air machine.

He rather expected that the British would make their first dirigible attempt during April. All his information showed that the new British Zeppelin, a

Dozen German Officers Reach Argentina Under False Names

BUENOS AIRES, March 18.—La Razon announces that between a dozen and fifteen German officers arrived here from Amsterdam on board the steamer Frisia under assumed names. Their passports, viséd by the Soviet Government in Germany, were issued by the Argentine Consul General in Hamburg on Dec. 5 of last year. Among the officers was a former submarine Captain named Seidel.

An Argentine student returning from Hamburg on the Dutch liner also had his passport viséd by the Soldiers' and Workmen's Council.

WILL SEEK TO INDICT DR. WILKINS TODAY

NO TRACE OF THE FUGITIVE

General Alarm Out for Missing Husband of Victim—Trains and Steamships Watched.

Following an announcement made yesterday morning by District Attorney Charles R. Weeks of Nassau County that he was prepared to go before the Grand Jury today with evidence on which he would ask the indictment of Dr. Walter Keene Wilkins, charging him with the murder of Mrs. Julia K. Wilkins, his wife, on Feb. 27 last, the police of this city and Nassau County detectives redoubled their efforts yesterday to find the missing physician.

Dr. Wilkins's whereabouts have been unknown to the authorities since 11 o'clock Sunday morning. Although a watch has been placed on the Wilkins home at Long Beach, L. I., where the murder occurred; on the town house at 164 West Sixty-fifth Street, and on all outgoing railroad trains and steamships, at a late hour last night Dr. Wilkins had not been apprehended.

Immediately after the issuance of a warrant by Justice Cassius Coleman charging the physician with the crime, District Attorney Weeks sent out a general police alarm. The State Police and police officials of all towns and cities throughout the East were notified to be on the watch for the fugitive. Detectives of the William J. Burns International Agency are also searching for him.

District Attorney Weeks announced last night that Police Inspector John Cray, in charge of the New York Detective Bureau, had offered the Nassau County officials fifteen picked men to conduct a search in the East for the missing doctor. A nation-wide hunt would be instituted at once, he said.

A report that Mrs. Wilkins's body would be exhumed a second time for further examination was officially denied.

"Nothing could be gained by that," District Attorney Weeks said.

A thorough search of Long Beach, particularly in the vicinity of the Reynolds Canal, which separates the seaside resort from the mainland of Long Island, was instituted yesterday by the county authorities on the theory that Dr. Wilkins may be in hiding near his home. It was pointed out that the physician, in telephoning to Lewis K. Friess, his personal counsel, on Sunday morning had promised to appear at Lynbrook before District Attorney Weeks the same day. Although he failed to keep his word, the police think he may have arrived, but feared to be questioned further by the District Attorney.

Evidence Found by Detectives.

A bit of evidence which detectives viewed as important was discovered yesterday in the Manhattan home of Dr. Wilkins. It was a section of lead pipe which they said was similar to that found beside Mrs. Wilkins the night she was killed. Stuffed in the pipe was a torn fragment of The New Era, a weekly newspaper published at Lynbrook. The importance lay in the fact that parts of a copy of the same newspaper were found wrapped around the hammer that was also found beside Mrs. Wilkins.

Two other discoveries made in the West Sixty-fifth Street home were a one-dollar bill, which the police said had the appearance of being stained with blood, and a piece of string which had the same number of strands as a similar piece found on a hammer discovered by detectives in the house at Long Beach.

In making public his decision to appear before the Grand Jury in Mineola today, District Attorney Weeks said he had already issued subpoenas for the witnesses whose testimony would be heard. Chief among them, he said, would be Chief of Police Patrick Tracey of Long Beach, Police Sergeant Harry Schneider, who answered the call for assistance on the night of the murder; Allen O. Myers, chief New York operative of the Burns agency, who has been working with his chief on the case; Coroner Edward T. Neu of Lynbrook, who took Dr. Wilkins's statement after the murder, and Mrs. Cassius Coleman, an acquaintance of the Wilkins family and wife of Justice Coleman. Dr. Arthur Jacques, who performed an autopsy on the slain woman, and Dr. F. T. Delano, who assisted him, are also expected to testify.

District Attorney Weeks remained in his office until a late hour last night awaiting the possible arrest of Dr. Wilkins. "We are covering all avenues of escape," he said. "This includes the banks where the Wilkins money was deposited, steamship lines, and the Washington end."

Mr. Weeks amplified his statement relating to the "Washington end" by

WAIT FOR BREWERS TO TEST THE LAW WITH 2.75% BEER

ROPER ASKS FOR A RULING

JERSEY BEATS PROHIBITION

"Bone Dry" Enforcement and 3% Beer Bills at Albany Relegated to the Legislative Discard.

By giving wide publicity to the Root-Guthrie opinion that the manufacture and sale of beer containing 2.75 per cent. of alcohol by weight may be carried on without violating any existing law or lawful regulation the Lager Beer Brewers Board of Trade of New York, has made its position plain, but to get action, some brewer must attempt to disregard the restrictions that have been enforced. No one doubts that such defiance of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue will start the whole prohibition question upon its way to the United States Supreme Court.

It is probable that the case will soon find its way into court, for though the Brewers' Board of Trade would not say yesterday when 2.75 per cent. beer would be placed on the market, the individual brewers are taking steps to put out their manufactured product with that amount of alcohol content. Some of these are said to have on hand stocks of this beer, which has been the national standard since the President, at the beginning of 1918, forbade, as a food conservation measure, the manufacture of "strong" beer. The proprietor of one big Manhattan brewery said that he expected to resume the sale of 2.75 per cent. beer within a day or two.

Three other brewers at least are determined to begin putting out this beer at once and so force the Internal Revenue Department to take action. There is a disposition on the part of some manufacturers to hold off in the hope that a decision will not be long withheld once the legal machinery of the Government begins to move. An official of the Retail Liquor Dealers' Association was quoted yesterday as saying that that organization would assume that the stand of the brewers was correct and that the retailer had the legal right to put 2.75 per cent. beer on sale. The directors of a large Brooklyn brewery will meet this week to determine the company's policy.

The brewers to get action from the Government will only have to attempt to market this 2.75 per cent. beer. Officers of the Board of Trade said yesterday that the brewers had on hand considerable stocks of this beer, which has been the national standard since the President at the beginning of 1918 forbade the manufacture of "strong" beer, as a food conservation measure.

The first step on the part of the Government, it was said, will be to stop at the breweries shipments of beer that contain more than one-half of 1 per cent. of alcohol. Either the Internal Revenue Commissioner will invoke the law, or, as suggested by Messrs. Root and Guthrie, the brewer involved may bring a suit in equity to enjoin interference with his business. The alternative would be for the Government to cooperate with the brewers to bring about a speedy interpretation of the law.

State Superintendent Anderson of the Anti-Saloon League was in Albany yesterday, it was said at his office. The league leaders are depending upon the specific mention of beer and wine in the wartime prohibition act to make it unnecessary to prove that beer is intoxicating in order to prevent its sale after July 1.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue, it was said at the Customs House, got authority for fixing on one-half of 1 per cent. alcohol as the limit for a nonintoxicating beverage from Section 608 of the Revenue act of 1918, which designates that amount for the purpose of taxation. The section reads:

> Section 608. That there shall be levied and collected on all beer, lager beer, ale, porter, and other similar fermented liquor, containing one-half of 1 per centum or more of alcohol, brewed or manufactured and hereafter sold, or removed for consumption or sale, within the United States, by whatever name such liquors may be called, in lieu of the internal revenue taxes now imposed thereon by law, a tax of $6 for every barrel containing not more than thirty-one gallons, and at a like rate for any other quantity or for the fractional parts of a barrel authorized and defined by law, to be collected under the provisions of existing law.

It is the contention of the brewers that neither this section nor the act of August, 1917, gives authority to any official to decide what constitutes an intoxicating beverage.

Although the Root-Guthrie opinion was addressed to Christian W. Feigenspan, President of the United States Brewers' Association, it was said yesterday that for the present the association, which comprises three-fourths of the industry throughout the country, would take no action nor advise its members to act. Copies of the opinion were mailed yesterday to brewers the country over. Some of them may follow the example of the New York and New Jersey brewers and decide to ignore the Government regulations, but it is probable that the Property of Our Army Will Be Sold to France

PARIS, March 18, (Associated Press.)—Docks, railroads, warehouses, hospitals, and barracks built by the American Expeditionary Force, to the value of $165,000,000, will be sold to France for the best figures the American Liquidation Commission can obtain. None of these can readily or profitably be removed, and the only alternative is to sell at the best bargain.

The Liquidation Commission is now negotiating for the disposal of various surplus properties belonging to the expeditionary force. Hundreds of thousands of uniforms have been dyed, so that they may now serve other armies, such as those of Belgium, Poland, and some of the Balkan States.

The present plan is to dispose of these surplus supplies among the Governments which need them.

ACQUIT BLEWITT IN WRECK TRIAL

Jury Clears B. R. T. Division Superintendent of Manslaughter Charge.

MAY NOT BE TRIED AGAIN

District Attorney Lewis Asserts That He Will Proceed Against Other Officials.

MINEOLA, March 18.—Thomas F. Blewitt, the first to be tried of the five B. R. T. officials indicted on manslaughter charges growing out of the Malbone tunnel wreck on the Brighton Line, Brooklyn, Nov. 1, last, which resulted in the death of ninety-three persons, was acquitted by a jury in the Supreme Court here tonight. Blewitt, as Superintendent of the Southern Division, was in charge of operating the trains during the strike. The prosecuting authorities believed their case against him was at least as strong as that against any of the other indicted officials.

District Attorney Lewis announced after the verdict tonight that he would proceed with the trials of Timothy S. Williams, who was President of the company when he was indicted; Edward Luciano, motorman of the wrecked train, and John S. Hallock, John J. Dempsey, and William S. Menden, all officials of the company. It was said, however, that the second homicide indictment against Blewitt probably would not be tried.

The jury, which heard the case tried before Justice Seeger in the Nassau County Supreme Court, retired at 4:45 o'clock this afternoon and returned at 8:18 tonight, with its verdict. Blewitt, overjoyed, rushed to a telephone and notified his wife at the couple's Brooklyn home. The fervent "thank God" with which she received the news was heard by those who stood near the acquitted man.

"I hold no animosity toward any one. I am so happy that I can't talk. I feel splendid," was Blewitt's comment on the verdict.

District Attorney Lewis, upon whom the task of prosecuting the indicted men devolved when the defendants got a change of venue to Nassau County, declined to make any comment upon the verdict beyond asserting that so far as he was concerned the cases of the others, who have insisted upon separate trials, would be tried.

Assails State's Case.

The closing argument in the case revolved, as did the evidence itself upon the question as to whether the wreck—the most disastrous in the history of the B. R. T.—was due to the incompetence of Luciano or to some unknown cause, and, if the former, whether Blewitt had used due care in passing upon Luciano's competence before assigning him to the train.

Former Judge Isaac Oleand, chief counsel for Blewitt, in summing up, after the customary motion to dismiss the indictment had been denied and after his offer to submit the case to the jury without argument had been declined by Mr. Lewis, said that "newspaper persecution" had created public bias and that, if this swayed the verdict, passion, and not justice, would rule. He said the suggestion that an attempt was being made to "make Blewitt the goat" rather appealed to him and went on to declare that Luciano alone could tell how the accident occurred. He pointed out that Luciano's constitutional protection, because he was himself indicted, made it impossible to examine him before the jury.

The attorney made a violent assault on that part of the State's case based upon an attempt to show that Luciano's reckless operation of the train proved him incompetent, pointing to discrepancies in the stories of witnesses. He argued at length that violation of the company's rules in employing Luciano as a motorman should not be given undue importance and begged the jury to realize that Blewitt was not lacking in regret and horror over the tragic accident. He closed with the declaration that if the defendants had been heard in Grand Jury room the indictments never would have been found.

For the prosecution District Attorney Lewis began by ridiculing claims of the defense that an obstruction on the track had caused the wreck, and turned to a vehement denial that there was any attempt to make a "goat" of Blewitt. Had that been his desire, he said, he would have placed Luciano on trial. Further, he insisted, the defendants might all have gone to trial together had they not refused to do so. The District Attorney insisted that Blewitt had not used due care in selecting Luciano, and

BRITISH PUT DOWN REVOLT IN EGYPT BY NATIONALISTS

Deportation of Three Leaders Announced in Parliament by the Government.

DEMANDED FULL AUTONOMY

SULTAN ASKED PROTECTION

Premier and Minister of Education, Invited to London, Declined to Go.

LONDON, March 18.—In the House of Commons today, replying to a question with regard to the deportation of three Nationalist leaders from Egypt, William Dudley Ward, on behalf of the Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, said that last November a deputation of Egyptian Nationalists under the leadership of Said Pasha Zagloul, Vice President of the Legislative Assembly, called at the British residency to advocate a program of complete autonomy for Egypt, which would leave to Great Britain only the right of supervision in regard to the public debt and facilities for shipping in the Suez Canal.

They demanded, according to the statement, to be allowed to proceed to London immediately in order to submit their program. At the same time, it was stated, the Nationalists elected a committee of fourteen leaders and commenced agitation throughout the country, collecting signatures to petitions and also subscriptions in support of their program.

Shortly afterward the Prime Minister, Rouchdi Pasha, suggested that he and Adly Pasha, Minister of Education, be allowed to visit London in the immediate future in order to discuss Egyptian affairs. Rouchdi further urged that the Nationalist leaders should also be allowed a hearing in London.

The British Government, according to the statement of Mr. Ward, replied that, while sympathizing with the idea of giving the Egyptians an ever-increasing share in the government of the country, it could not abandon its responsibility for order and good government in Egypt, over which a British protectorate was formally declared in 1915, and for safeguarding the rights and interests of the native and foreign populations. No useful purpose, it was stated, would be served by allowing the Nationalist leaders to come to London and advance immoderate demands which could not possibly be entertained.

Ase regarded the two Ministers, Mr. Ward said, the Government announced their visit would be very welcome, but that it would be better in the interests of their own convenience and dignity that it should not be timed to coincide with the first weeks of the Peace Conference, when Mr. Balfour (the Foreign Secretary) would be absent in Paris and fully engaged. It was proposed that the visit should be postponed for a short time. The two Ministers, Mr. Ward said, then tendered their resignations to the Sultan.

At the beginning of January the British High Commissioner, Sir Reginald Wingate, was summoned to London to report upon the situation, said Mr. Ward, and an invitation was addressed to the two Ministers to come to London in the middle of February. But they replied that they declined to come unless the Nationalist leaders also were permitted to proceed to London.

Continuing, Mr. Ward said the British Government felt unable to accept such a condition, and the resignations of the two Ministers, which had remained in suspense, were accepted by the Sultan. Steps then were taken for the formation of a new Ministry, but the Nationalists, on hearing of the refusal of their demand, endeavored to prevent a new Ministry from being formed by intimidating the Sultan and those Ministers or others who were ready to remain in or to accept office.

Mr. Ward said the Sultan appealed to the acting High Commissioner for protection from further insults and intimidations, and authority had been given for the arrest and deportation to Malta of said Pasha Zagloul and three other nationalist leaders who played a most conspicuous part in the agitation. Since then there had been some demonstrations and rioting in Cairo and in one or two provincial centres, chiefly organized by students who had enlisted the help of the town rabble.

Collisions occurred with the Egyptian police and with British troops engaged in maintaining order, according to the statement, and there had been some casualties and a few looters had been shot.

Mr. Ward said these manifestations had not been approved by the more sober elements of the population and that there was every reason to believe the situation was well in hand.

Earl Curson of Kedleston, Government spokesman in the House of Lords, made there an identical statement to that of Mr. Ward.

In the rioting at Cairo, six persons were killed and thirty-one others wounded, according to a Cairo dispatch received today. At Tanta, on the Nile seventy-five miles above Alexandria, where rioting also occurred, the casualties were eleven killed and fifty-one wounded.

The message, which was filed on March 13, stated that order had been restored and that the troops were able to cope with the situation. The Government has warned all persons to refrain from interfering with the railways or the telegraph or telephone lines, on penalty of being shot under martial law.

WILSON AND PREMIERS IN CONFERENCE IN EFFORT TO SPEED ACTION ON TREATY; ALL THE BIG PEACE PROBLEMS REVIEWED

Report Japanese Leader Has Agreed With Wilson Not to Raise the Race Discrimination Issue Now

Copyright, 1919, by The Chicago Tribune Company.

PARIS, March 18.—President Wilson this afternoon met Viscount Matsui, chief of the Japanese delegation, and told him it was impossible for Japan to put into the peace covenant a special article permitting equal rights of immigration with Caucasians. It is understood that Mr. Wilson received a promise from Matsui that Japan would not hold up the adoption and acceptation of the League by beginning a fight upon that point.

It is reported, however, that Matsui accepted this with the reservation that some time in the future Japan would insist on the right to reopen the question regarding free immigration as well as of no discrimination against Japanese owning property or working in any country which was a member of the League.

The pair reached a gentlemen's agreement that the proposition would not be taken up during the present crucial period, or at any rate would be delayed as long as possible.

The Italian announcement that it might be better for Italy to make peace as soon as possible with Austria-Hungary is not regarded as a threat that Rome intends to make a separate peace unless the 1915 secret treaty is lived up to, but merely as the Italian method of insisting on speeding up the peace treaty.

Following the Italian announcement, however, a movement was set on foot to try to draw up the Austrian, Turkish, and Bulgarian treaties practically coincidentally with the German pact.

A high authority at the Hotel de Crillon believes that the peace treaty will be ready to be submitted to Germany by April 1 barring unforeseen incidents. This is strengthened by Lloyd George's promise to remain in Paris instead of departing for London on Thursday. Unofficial reports are that a general strike was voted in England this afternoon, and may upset his decision.

Clemenceau, Lloyd George, and Wilson this afternoon called in the financial experts for further information regarding the indemnity figures, which now are pared to thirty billion dollars.

NOSKE SAYS FOOD WILL END ANARCHY

Restoration of Order Is "Merely a Question of Bread and Employment."

NO DANGER IN NEW ARMY

Defense Minister Denies the Report That It Will Be Composed of Ex-Officers.

Copyright, 1919, by The New York Times Company.
By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, March 16, (via The Hague, March 17.)—THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent has obtained an interview with Herr Noske, State Secretary and chief of the German military forces, about his attitude toward the scheme of forming an army composed of some 200,000 officers of the reserve and line, which is much discussed in certain circles here. Herr Noske has established himself in a wing of the palatial Navy Office, and his antechambers are crowded with officers of all ranks, who seem to have learned their lesson in democracy, if one may judge from their friendly intercourse with the men of the rank and file. Herr Noske talks straight to the point.

"I have just had submitted to me a number of clippings from American papers, containing apprehensive comment regarding the strength of the forces organized by me," he said. "Such apprehension is entirely groundless. I would never have lent my aid to form any military body if it had not been absolutely necessary. However, the German civil war cannot be ended merely by force of arms. You can't club millions of starving people into submission. They have been starving for five years now. Their bodies are like engines that have been running without intermission for a long time. Their nerves are on edge, or entirely destroyed; and the civil war we are now witnessing is mainly due to these facts.

"The German laborer is not Bolshevist at heart. Give him employment and decent food and we shall have no further use for cannon."

"Do you consider the Spartacide revolt ended?" the correspondent inquired.

Rebellion Only Smoldering.

"For the present, yes; but it may flame up at any time. As yet the Spartacide organization is too imperfect to cause a simultaneous rising all over Germany, and a spontaneous outbreak here and there can be defeated by our military forces. But if the Entente continues to starve us and to deprive us of the raw materials which are needed to give the people employment, the day must surely come when the anarchistic conflagration will become general and we shall be powerless witnesses of the final destruction of Germany, and maybe of Europe."

The correspondent then mentioned the plan of making von Lettow-Vorbeck Generalissimo of the army of ex-officers. Herr Noske's gaunt figure straightened. His strong face was fastened on his interrogator's, and his large, dark eyes lighted up behind his large, horn-rimmed stained eyeglasses.

"That is mere talk," he said, "which, I admit, certain circles would like to see translated into fact. But von Lettow-Vorbeck himself does not dream of any such scheme. He came to me on the first day of his arrival and placed his services at the disposal of his country, like an honest patriot. It was agreed that he, like the other Generals, should form

FRENCH FINANCES FACE A CRISIS

Upheaval in Exchange Disrupts Money Market and Halts Reconstruction.

BIG INDUSTRIAL PROBLEMS

Prosperity Possible if Difficulties of Financing Can Be Surmounted.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, March 17.—The week-end's flurry in exchange—in the course of which sterling jumped 30 cents and the dollar 6, to the detriment of the franc—threw into relief the critical nature of the French financial situation. The ostensible reason for this break, which was the worst for the last two years, is the British refusal to continue the system whereby pounds sterling are guaranteed to the French Treasury, for transmission to French buyers of British goods, at a certain price, hitherto fixed around 26 francs.

The effect of this refusal is such that a prominent neutral business man who tried to buy £1,000 here on Saturday was told that the transaction was impossible unless he was prepared to pay 30 francs per pound. In other words, the exchange market is so upset that there is no real quotation.

While it is probable that measures will be officially taken to remedy such a state of affairs, the fact remains that France is face to face with financial difficulties whose solution is yet to be found. The country is richer than ever. Scarcely a quarter of the war's expenses have been spent outside of France, and the enormous influx of British and American money spent by soldiers has far more than offset that. But throughout the war France has followed the policy of raising money by loans instead of taxation—which was evidently difficult, owing to the tremendous moral and physical effort the country was making—and now there seems to be no method which the Finance Minister can find of making good the huge deficit, to say nothing of the 14,000,000,000-franc hole in the yearly budget.

Of the so-called war taxes, that on luxuries has been a sad failure, while the excess profits and even income taxes have led to all manner of evasion, with results far below what was expected. M. Klotz suggested a remedy by the imposition of a tax on capital, but the opposition was such that he dropped the idea like a hot poker.

A Grave Industrial Problem.

It is a difficult and terrible problem. French productive ability—which alone can produce goods worth real money—has been so hit by the war that it is out of the question virtually that France will be able to export anything like an effective quantity—for exchange purposes—of goods until she has reconstructed her ruined industrial plants and reconstituted those which were destroyed by the Germans while the others were diverted to munition making. But these industries cannot be reconstructed without the admission of American or British machines, steel materials, and the like, which the French Government refuses to allow to be imported. The reason given for the prohibition is that it will create such a balance of trade

CONFEREES ARE IN ACCORD

No Final Decisions Made but Satisfactory Progress Is Reported.

LEAGUE GOES WITH TREATY

ALLIES TO CONTROL RHINE

War Council Decides on International Board—To Dismantle Heligoland Forts.

PARIS, March 18, (Associated Press.)—Announcement was made at the close of a conference today between President Wilson, Premier Lloyd George, and Premier Clemenceau that no final decisions had been taken, but that all the main questions surrounding the Peace Conference had been discussed; that the meeting had been entirely satisfactory, and that there had been no change in the plans previously announced, which contemplate the completion of the peace treaty within the next two weeks, including the League of Nations.

Lord Robert Cecil, after a conference with Premier Lloyd George, declared tonight, in behalf of the British delegation, that the League of Nations covenant, in the opinion of the British delegation, should be incorporated in the preliminary peace treaty.

The conference was an extended one, lasting from 3 o'clock in the afternoon until 6 o'clock this evening. It had been intended that the meeting should occur at the "White House," but the program was changed and the conferees gathered in the apartment of Colonel Edward M. House at American headquarters.

Vittorio Orlando, the Italian Prime Minister, did not attend the conference, as the discussion principally concerned Great Britain, France, and the United States. In the course of the meeting Captain André Tardieu of the French peace delegation and M. Loucheur, French Minister of Reconstruction, visited the apartment of Colonel House.

Lord Sumner and Norman Davis, the British and American financial experts, were also called in.

Toward the close of the meeting two of the Japanese delegates, Baron Makino and Viscount Chinda, arrived and talked with Colonel House, but did not join in the conference.

The Japanese desired to know when the League of Nations Commission would resume its sessions, as they wished again to offer an amendment terminating racial discrimination. Their announcement of their purpose to renew their offer of the amendment was not accompanied by any intimation of insistence to the point of refusing to accept the treaty without the amendment.

Their views will be heard later, after the neutrals have had a hearing, which today was fixed for 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

In the course of the conference Mr. Lloyd George made known the fact that he would probably be able to remain for the concluding work on the treaty.

It developed that no differences in opinion existed on the financial terms of the treaty. While no authoritative statement was made, there is reason to believe that the territorial aspect of the League of Nations figured in the deliberations. The general course of the discussion tended to dissipate differences in the various points of view.

Returning to the "White House," President Wilson dined with Lord Robert Cecil, the British League of Nations delegate, and Colonel House.

British for League with Treaty.

Before the dinner Lord Robert received the British and American correspondents and announced that it was the opinion of the British delegation that the League of Nations covenant should be incorporated in the preliminary peace treaty with Germany. Lord Robert had previously expressed this as his personal opinion, but his announcement tonight was made after he had conferred with Premier Lloyd George, and was made in behalf of the whole British delegation.

Asked if the covenant might provide for race equality, Lord Robert said that this could not be done without interfering with the internal affairs of various nations, which would viloate the principles of the League.

Regarding the voluntary withdrawal of any nation from the League, Lord Robert pointed out that there was much to be said on both sides of the question.

While discussing the League covenant with the correspondents, Lord Robert said:

"If the Monroe Doctrine means, as I believe it does, that there ought to be no interference with affairs on the American continent by European powers, without the consent of the United States, then I say that the doctrine is strengthened by the League of Nations."

Lord Robert's statement was in answer to a query if the Monroe Doctrine might be reaffirmed in the covenant. He said that much had been said about the Monroe Doctrine, but expressed doubt if it was wise to put any one power in a special position in the League.

Special interest attached to today's conference in view of recent reports of divergences between the powers as to the inclusion of the League plan in this treaty. The meeting was looked upon as an earnest, decisive effort to reconcile all views into a common understanding for an early conclusion of peace in a comprehensive form, including military, naval, economic, and financial terms, as well as the League of Nations.

The general situation as to the peace treaty has been greatly clarified during the past twenty-four hours by discussions between the heads of various delegations, and American Commissioners today took the view that the attitudes of the American, French, and British Governments would be brought into entire accord.

It is said that the present plan of a majority of the five big powers to attach the League of Nations compact to the peace treaty as an appendix would enable Germany to sign the treaty without securing admission to the League, although at the same time she would accept the declaratory principles.

Present plans contemplate the completion of hearings given neutral nations on the League of Nations during the present week, and during the succeeding week attention will be given to boundaries, reparation, and other branches of the treaty. It is believed that the revised League covenant will be ready for adoption at the end of next week.

Rhine to be Internationalized.

The future navigation of the Rhine will be controlled by an allied commission, in accordance with today's decision of the Commission on the International Régime of Ports, Railways, and Waterways. The commission to be named will replace the German-Holland commission of pre-war times.

The British delegation to the Peace Conference, it was announced today, has consented to refer to the Supreme Council the question of the future ownership of the German cables to America. All parties interested in the question are preparing briefs.

The fortifications on the Island of Heligoland, Germany's formidable base in the North Sea, must be dismantled. This decision was reached today by the Supreme Allied War Council.

It was decided also that the Kiel Canal should be internationalized and made available to the ships of all nations on even terms. Tolls will be collected to pay for the maintenance of the canal. Germany probably will retain sovereignty of the waterway.

The council has under consideration the question of maintaining Heligoland as a port of refuge for peaceful craft.

Disposition of German warships is not likely to be included in the treaty of peace, according to the view of the American peace delegation. Germany, however, will be required to surrender title to the ships. The ultimate ownership will be determined later.

The official statement relative to today's meeting of the Commission on International Labor Legislation, issued this evening, says:

> The Commission on International Labor Legislation held its twenty-seventh meeting this morning under the Presidency of Samuel Gompers.
> The meeting was devoted exclusively to hearing the statements put forward by the representatives of women's organizations of the allied countries.

Edwin S. Montagu, British Secretary of State for India, has been elected Chairman of the Financial Commission of the Peace Conference. The duties of this commission are to report questions relating to currency, national debts, and other financial matters which must be included in the peace terms.

LONDON GLOBE DENUNCIATORY

Makes Attack on Wilson's "Autocratic Attitude."

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 18.—The Evening Globe says it has special information "on the best possible authority from Washington that, so far from the Senate relaxing its hostility to the draft of the [League] covenant and coming around to the President's view, there is little or no prospect of that document ever being ratified. It is no question of its failing to get a two-thirds majority; an actual majority of the Senators are hostile."

The paper follows up this assertion by an editorial vehemently denouncing President Wilson's "autocratic attitude."

"Neither France nor Britain," it says, "spent life and treasure incalculable for the deliverance of mankind from Wilhelm II. in order that the destinies of the world should be settled by the 'sic volo, sic jubeo' of Woodrow I. If he carried the United States in his gripsack we might, considering the magnificent service of that great country to the common cause, be disposed to pay very great deference to his ideas; but he does not. The peace terms must come before we begin to discuss the points of Wilson's little pet dog, and both Colonel House and Secretary Lansing have already agreed to the military part of them. Does Wilson propose to throw them over in order to show the Senate and House of Representatives what a great man he is among these poor, decadent Europeans?"

The Pall Mall Gazette editorially suggests that President Wilson does not properly appreciate the situation in Europe, which must continue in a semi-paralyzed condition until the precise terms of peace are proclaimed and ratified.

"We cannot wait for the semi-millenniums in order to resume our daily life," it says.

Lord Northcliffe's Evening News, which says that the League of Nations must come into being and get going, nevertheless says:

"It is not necessary that any particular statesman should sing a great peace aria. Statesmen are not operatic singers, but servants of their peoples."

Barcelona Strike Is Settled.

MADRID, March 18.—The general strike at Barcelona has been settled. An agreement between the Canadian Company, one of the main public service corporations in Barcelona, and representatives of all the unions concerned in the strike, which began among employes of the Canadian Company will be signed immediately.

NEUTRALS PLEAD FOR LEAGUE RIGHTS

Several Ask for a Larger Share in the Organization and Direction.

ARGENTINA READY TO ENTER

Chile Also Declares Her Adhesion—Ministers Praise Wilson as World Peacemaker.

PARIS, March 18.—A plea that neutral countries have a larger share in the organization and direction of the League of Nations than is now proposed was made to a sub-committee of the Peace Conference Commission on the League of Nations today by envoys of Holland, Switzerland, Denmark, Norway, and Sweden. Otherwise, the representatives said, they were generally satisfied with the plan.

In connection with the meeting of neutrals to consider the question of the League of Nations, it was announced today that the Danish delegation was composed of Deputy Minister Munch, ex-Premier Neergaard and M. H. A. Bernhoft, Danish Minister in Paris. Norway is represented by Messrs. Beichmann and Castberg and Baron de Wedel Jarlsberg, the Minister in Paris.

The Dutch League for a Lasting Peace has adopted a resolution for presentation to the Peace Conference on the subject of a League of Nations. The resolution proposes that a maximum be fixed for armaments, that the smaller powers have greater representation, and that the statutes of the League be revised after a certain period. The resolution asks that The Hague receive the honor of becoming the seat of the League of Nations.

ARGENTINA, the first Latin American Government to respond to the Supreme Council's invitation to neutral States to participate in the discussion of the League of Nations covenant, has indicated its desire to become a member of the League through a communication to Minister Marcelo de Allear, who was designated as the country's delegate.

The instructions of the Argentine Government to its representative are to make certain suggestions, which do not radically affect the plan as it stands.

A dispatch from Geneva quotes the Tribune of that city as declaring that it has received information from Berne that the Peace Conference will be formally requested to make Geneva the seat of the League of Nations.

STOCKHOLM, March 17.—In announcing Sweden's acceptance of the invitation extended to her and other neutral nations to attend a conference in Paris on the subject of the League of Nations, Premier Eden said today that the Government had confided Swedish representation to a committee which had been long studying the question, and would act in conjunction with the Swedish Ministers in Paris and London.

"Naturally," the Premier said, "this procedure in itself cannot satisfy the neutral powers. We maintain unconditionally the demand to be permitted to take part in the actual, full, official deliberations on this world problem before we shall find ourselves able to decide upon our own attitude.

"Obviously the League will not become a real League, able to perform its tremendously difficult task, unless it is made universal and is built on the principle of full justice for all its members. We can only present certain important views at the present stage of the proceedings and have not neglected the opportunity to do so, and this initial courtesy from the Peace Conference to the neutrals, favoring the unconditional rights of neutrals, seems to me to be prophetic of new and more decisive concessions which finally will place this difficult problem on the only correct foundation—all free nations uniting for right and peace."

THE HAGUE, March 18.—The Government has informed Parliament that, in addition to Professor W. J. M. van Eysinga of Leyden University, Holland will be represented at the meeting of neutral representatives in Paris to exchange views on the League of Nations by Dr. Loudon, ex-Foreign Minister, and Supreme Court Counselor Loder.

The Mercurio in an editorial today dealing with the League of Nations says that Chile has nothing to lose by joining the League, but it suggests that it would be preferable if the statesmen of Chile, Bolivia, and Peru could create their own organization and settle their differences without intervention by outsiders.

The newspaper announces that the Chilean Minister to France has been instructed to attend the neutral conference on the League of Nations. It adds that Chile will support the principle and proceed to an accord with the other South American neutrals.

VALPARAISO, March 18.—The Chilean Foreign Minister, in a statement to The Associated Press today, declared the adhesion of Chile to the League of Nations as an entity. International cooperation, he said, would assure world peace and compel respect for existing treaties, as outlined by President Wilson's preamble.

URGED LLOYD GEORGE TO STAY

Wilson, Clemenceau, and Orlando Asked Him to Defer Return Home.

PARIS, March 17.—A letter signed by President Wilson and Premiers Clemenceau and Orlando was handed to Premier Lloyd George this afternoon, strongly urging him to postpone for a fortnight his return to England, in view of the urgency of the problems before the Peace Conference. Mr. Lloyd George will submit the letter to the British Cabinet, and, it is understood, will act in accordance with the views of that body.

The letter read as follows:

"It seems to us imperative, in order that the world may wait no longer for peace than is actually unavoidable, that you remain in Paris until the chief questions connected with peace are settled, and we earnestly beg you to do so. If you can arrange to remain another two weeks we hope and believe this all-important result can be obtained.

"We write this with full comprehension of the very urgent matters that are calling you to England, and with a vivid consciousness of the sacrifice we are asking you to make."

TO STUDY LEAGUE ISSUES.

Root Heads Committee Named by City Bar Association.

Elihu Root has been named as Chairman of a Committee on International Law which has been appointed by John G. Milburn, President, for the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, 42 West Forty-fourth Street, to deal with the project of a League of Nations. Other members of the committee are: Chandler P. Anderson, James Byrne, Frederic R. Coudert, Paul D. Cravath, Abram I. Elkus, James W. Gerard, William D. Guthrie, Charles E. Hughes, George L. Ingraham, John Bassett Moore, Alton B. Parker, Munroe Smith, Charles H. Strong, George W. Wickersham.

The following letter accompanied the names of the committee:

"At the last meeting of the association I was authorized on my own suggestion to appoint a Committee on International Law which should be charged with the duty of considering all questions of international law that may arise in connection with conventions or treaties between this country and foreign powers and the relations of such conventions or treaties to the treaty-making power under the Federal Constitution. I have bestowed the most careful consideration on the selection of this committee, feeling as I do that in the present situation of affairs, with all the matters being discussed in Paris, including the League of Nations, it is a great opportunity for the Bar Association and the members of the committee to render an invaluable service to the country and the whole world. It has been my aim in making the selection to choose men of wide knowledge and experience and calm, sober judgment."

DEMOCRATS LEAVE HALL DURING REED SPEECH

Sixteen Missouri Legislators Resent His Attack on League and the President.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., March 18.—Angered at his disagreeing with President Wilson and at his opposition to the proposed League of Nations, sixteen Democratic Representatives left the hall during an address by Senator James A. Reed of Missouri, before a joint assembly of the House and Senate today.

Senator Reed stated that the President was wrong in his plan for a League of Nations.

"No, no," came in a chorus from the Democratic Senators and Representatives, mingled with loud applause from the Republican side and crowded galleries. Members jumped from their seats, and amid the confusion the sixteen Representatives left the hall.

Tonight Representative Tolson announced that the sixteen Representatives planned to introduce tomorrow a resolution endorsing the League and supporting President Wilson. The largest crowd ever assembled in the new Capitol building heard Senator Reed's address, which consumed more than three hours.

Declaring that the League would impair American sovereignty, abrogate the Monroe Doctrine, violate the American Constitution, create a "super-government of the world," and force the United States into worldwide difficulties and policing obligations, Senator Reed challenged assertions of its advocates that the League's decrees and powers would be merely advisory. He insisted that its action would be mandatory and involve "command of the world."

"There are a number of advocates of the League," said Senator Reed, "who seek to protect it against the indignation of the American people by arguing that the council has only 'the power to recommend' and that it is then optional with the several nations to comply or to refuse to comply with the recommendation. If it be a true statement, then the League is backed by no force whatsoever and the League is an innocuous thing.

"If, however, it is contended that the obligation is morally binding, then indeed we are worse off—because the United States will keep its moral obligation, whereas some other nations might not.

"All these contentions were utterly destroyed by the President, who, when he presented the League constitution to the Peace Council, expressly stated: 'Armed force is in the background of this program, but it is in the background, and if the moral force of the world will not suffice the physical force of the world shall.'

"The American people were told that the constitution of the League had been conceived by American representatives and was being forced on reluctant Europe. It now transpires that the entire scheme, from first to last, with some slight modifications, is the product of British statesmanship.

"Here is a tribunal of five men, without any limitations whatsoever upon their authority, against whose decision, once rendered, there is no appeal save to armed forces. Against the abuse of their power there are neither checks nor safeguards. If this be not a creation of the very command of the world then the language of agreements cannot create powers."

BERNE CONFEREES SUGGEST AMENDMENTS

Propose a People's International Parliament—Want Full Disarmament.

PARIS, March 18, (Associated Press.)—In reply to a request by the Committee on the League of Nations, of which President Wilson is Chairman, that neutrals send suggestions before Thursday, representatives of the International Conference of the League of Nations Societies, in session at Berne from March 6 to 13, have outlined in a telegram numerous amendments which they submit for the consideration of the committee.

This conference was composed of delegates of sixty associations of England, Italy, Germany, Austria, Denmark, Holland, Hungary, Sweden and Switzerland, and there were present also at the sessions representatives from France, the United States, Russia, Bulgaria, Egypt, Esthonia, Greece, India, Lithuania, Macedonia, Rumania, Turkey, and the Ukraine.

"Recognizing the superiority of the Paris Text [League of Nations proposals] over the international anarchy existing today," says the telegram, "We submit the following amendments."

Twenty-six articles are submitted, the first of which reads:

"An international Parliament elected by the peoples should replace the assembly of delegates proposed in the Paris text. This Parliament should have full prerogatives and legislative powers, each country electing one member for each million inhabitants."

The other articles provide that an international tribunal shall be created, and that the Council of the Society of Nations, embracing all States, shall proceed to complete disarmament on sea and land, with the abolition of any obligatory military service, volunteer troops sufficient to keep order only being maintained by each State.

Further, according to the amendments, the Society of Nations shall dispose land and sea forces to prevent any violation of peace. All colonies, except those self-governing, shall be supervised by an officer of the society. Customs tariffs and mnopolies designed to favor particular interests shall be abolished. All members of the Society of Nations shall have the same economic rights. The people's rights of self-disposal and the protection of national minorities shall be guaranteed by a world constitution. Boycotts for national reasons shall be forbidden.

In conclusion the telegram says:

"The Berne Conference begs the allied and associated Governments to consider the above and amend their scheme accordingly."

The message is signed for the International Conference by O. Weber, Swiss National Councilor; M. Halberlein, President of the Communal Council of Zurich; Professor Emile Bise of Freiburg, Dr. Hans Buchili, Professor Broda of Berne, Enrico Bignam of Italy, Philip Snowden of England, Professor von Laun of Austria, Herr Stoecker of Germany, General Meester of Holland, Matbillo Widegren of Sweden, Baron Wrangel of Russia, and MM. W. Demer and Knellwelt, Swiss National Councilors.

ANARCHY WITHOUT A LEAGUE

Baker Tells San Francisco Club His Views.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 18.—"The cost of the war in money alone was $197,000,000,000, or $11,000,000,000 more than the total property value of all of North America," Secretary Baker told a gathering at the Commercial Club here today, following his arrival with General March, Chief of Staff, to inspect army posts.

"The deaths from wounds in battle numbered 7,300,000, and the total deaths in all the armies reached 9,000,000," he said.

Referring to the proposed League of Nations, Secretary Baker said:

"Unless such an organization was formed under some name and under some constitution, anarchy bred by disease, hunger, and despair would overwhelm the earth.

"No child born in a civilized nation in the next hundred years will escape paying a considerable portion of the debt this war has brought about."

Secretary Baker and General March left today for San Diego.

PEACE LEAGUE SAYS THERE IS NO SPLIT

ONLY EIGHT MEMBERS OUT

Total on Roster Is 300,000—Taft Not Showered with Letters of Protest.

In contradiction of Washington dispatches, published yesterday in some New York newspapers, asserting that the League to Enforce Peace had been split badly by the attitude of its President, William Howard Taft, toward the tentative covenant for a League of Nations in the peace treaty, the organization yesterday issued a statement asserting that there had been but eight resignations out of 300,000 since the tentative covenant was promulgated. The statement reads:

"The League to Enforce Peace issues this statement to reassure members who may be disturbed by reports that the organization is rent by doubt and schism. Since the League announced its indorsement of the principles of the Paris covenant only eight members have resigned out of a total list of 300,000. Only three of these are officers, two connected with State branches and one a member of the Executive Committee, the controlling body of the League, which numbers eighty-two members and represents nearly every State in the Union.

"The statement that Mr. Taft as President of the organization has been showered with letters of protest from league members and officers is equally untrue. There is no truth in the report that serious difference of opinion among officers of the league have threatened to split the organization. Senator-elect Capper of Kansas, who, according to Washington dispatches published this morning, has repudiated his allegiance to league principles, assures the league in a letter received at headquarters, several days after the publication of the Paris covenant and its indorsement by the league, that he agrees with the stand taken by Mr. Taft.

"Of the 7,300 volunteer speakers pledged to work in different parts of the country under direction of the League's Speakers' Bureau not one has withdrawn his pledge as a result of the league's policy. The same is true of more than 3,000 prominent clergymen all over the country who are listed as active workers in the league cause and who are speaking for it at least once a week.

"From constant touch with every part of the United States the officers of the League are confident that the present spasm of opposition to the Paris plan is due mainly to misrepresentation backed by reactionary elements of our population, who fear that a change in our methods of handling international questions will interfere with their vested privileges. This is the real basis of the opposition. It is supported also by some who under the guise of patriotism seek to advance their personal political fortunes.

"Mr. Taft's attitude, which is substantially that of the League, is that he would accept the Paris Covenant as it stands and thank God for it; that it does not, however, fully meet his ideals, not being as strong in some respects as the plan we have been advocating; that he would be glad to see amendments that would strengthen it and thinks it wise to make changes that will make still more clear the meaning which we understand it to carry. He is also favorable to making changes that will placate opinion, especially in the direction of definite acceptance of the Monroe Doctrine, which we understand is already the real basis of the instrument.

"Neither Mr. Taft nor the League, however, favors amendments after the treaty is finally adopted in Paris, as amendment would then probably mean defeat of the League.

"This is exactly the position taken by Washington regarding adoption of the Constitution of 1787 unchanged, when he said:

"'The Constitution that is submitted is not free from imperfections; but there are as few radical defects in it as could well be expected, considering the heterogeneous mass of which the convention was composed and the diversity of interests which were to be reconciled.

"'A constitutional door being opened, for future alterations and amendments, I think it would be wise in the people to adopt what is offered to them, and I wish it may be by as great a majority of them as in the body that decided on it; but this is hardly to be expected, because the importance, and sinister views of too many characters will be affected by the change. Much will depend, however, on literary abilities, and the recommendation of it by good pens, should it be openly, I mean publicly, attacked in the gazettes.'"

LENROOT THREATENS LEAGUE.

Says Congress May Make Peace Without a Treaty.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—If President Wilson does not negotiate a peace treaty satisfactory to the Senate, Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin, Republican, said in an address on the League of Nations before the Washington Commercial Club here tonight, Congress may pass a joint resolution summarily ending the war with Germany without a treaty, leaving American participation in the League of Nations to future determination.

Senator Lenroot declared he favored the general plan of the League as proposed, but would not be coerced into voting for the Constitution as now drawn without amendment. Asserting that the United States today is in "a most critical situation," with American principles and ideals endangered by the plans for the League, Senator Lenroot continued:

"We are told that the President will not permit peace with Germany unless there is made as part of the peace treaty the Constitution of the League, as drawn in large part by Great Britain. We are told that this will be done to force the Senate to accept without amendment this British Constitution, revolutionizing our Government and its foreign and domestic policies. In other words, the Senate is to be coerced to do something which it otherwise would not do, and public opinion in America is thus to be coerced into demanding ratification.

"In my judgment, President Wilson has once more misjudged the temper of the American people and * * * the Senate. I will not be coerced into voting for the Constitution of the League, and I am sure the Senate will not be. The proposed Constitution will be considered upon its merits, * * * regardless of whether it is coupled with the peace treaty or not. If the Constitution * * * should not be amended to protect and safeguard the interests of the United States, the Senate will propose such amendments as it may deem necessary.

"Germany is whipped. We are asking for no annexation, no indemnities. We have accomplished the purpose we had when we declared war and, while it would be desirable to have a formal treaty of peace with Germany, it is not necessary. We can declare the war has ended and go on about our business, and I confidently predict that this is what will be done if the treaty is not ratified by the Senate. The proposed League of Nations will then have to be considered separately if it is considered at all. By this course the United States would lose nothing, for the obligations imposed upon us by the proposed League far outweigh any possible benefits coming to us.

"America does not need a League of Nations so much as a League of Nations needs America," said the Senator in conclusion, "and the American people are willing to enter such a League provided the legitimate interests of America are properly safeguarded, which they are not in the Constitution as now proposed."

WANTS WILSON TO RESIGN.

Penrose Turns On the President a Proposal Aimed at Him.

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, March 18.—Challenged by The New York World to resign and submit his opposition to the League of Nations to a vote of the people of this State, Senator Penrose today replied that President Wilson ought to resign and test the sentiment of the people of the United States through an election.

"Your telegram of March 15 has just been called to my attention upon my return to Philadelphia," Senator Penrose telegraphed to The World. "It seems to me the logical proposition would be for President Wilson to resign and test the sentiment of the American people on the so-called League of Nations as he has defined it. This would give him an opportunity to explain fully what he has in mind in a way which he has not so far clearly done."

Senator Penrose in an interview said:

"A considerable majority of the Senate is opposed to the proposition as outlined by President Wilson without any explanation of a definite character as to its scope and meaning. For all I know, there is a similar majority in the House of Representatives.

"Under these circumstances, if we had a Parliamentary system of Government such as exists in England, President Wilson would have to resign and go before the people on his issue. Lloyd George would have to resign and go before the people if he failed to retain a majority in Parliament.

"Every one agrees that it is desirable to secure a treaty or covenant which will tend toward the prevention of war. I am one of those who believe that the first duty of the Paris conferees is to dictate a peace to Germany and bring home the American troops at once.

"Mr. Wilson will find himself gravely mistaken if he thinks that the Senate will accept any peace document which he thinks fit to present to it. He will discover that the Senate is as much a part of the treaty-making power as the President."

WICKERSHAM URGES LEAGUE

No Surrender of Essential Sovereignty Involved, He Declares.

BOSTON, March 18.—Ex-Attorney General George W. Wickersham spoke here tonight in support of a League of Nations as proposed by President Wilson. After reviewing the steps leading to the adoption by the Peace Conference Committee of the draft of the League covenant, he said:

"If there is to be any League of the Nations responsible for the overthrow of the Teuton powers, to preserve the fruits of victory, and to prevent unnecessary and preventable war in the future, it could be vested with no less power than is conferred in this instrument.

"In the most accurate sense of the term, there is no surrender by any party of any part of its essential sovereignty, unless the agreement by each that it will not make war on the other until the process of arbitration or investigation shall have been exhausted, be deemed a surrender of sovereignty. If so, by upward of twenty treaties now existent, the Senate of the United States has compromised the national sovereignty of the United States."

BERLIN FEARFUL OF TERMS.

Threat to Combine with Russia Is Frequently Heard.

Copyright, 1919, by the Chicago Tribune Co.

BERLIN, March 16.—There is much interest in Berlin over reports that the terms of the peace treaty are to be made known this week. Everybody seems to think that if the terms are too harsh or if a disposition is shown to punish the Germans the nation will turn Bolshevik and, combining with Russia, start another war.

President Ebert of the German Republic says that the present Government cannot control the situation if the Allies vent their wrath on Germany, but that the Bolshevist terror will menace the world.

I do not know whether the Germans who tell me this really believe it. Several Germans with whom I have talked today, all of whom are royalists, said that, no matter how much they abhorred the Bolsheviki, if the load put on Germany was too heavy they would join the Bolsheviki, Spartacides, and communists—anything to take up the sword and fight until the last man is dead. After which we went into the Hotel Adlon for tea.

Members of the missions of the Entente nations living at the Adlon feel a little dubious as to how they will be treated by the people of Berlin when news of the peace terms is made known, especially if the terms are regarded by the Germans as harsh and unjust.

A guest at the Adlon who arrived today is General Ludendorff. Handbills have been distributed every day on the streets saying that Ludendorff should be stood up before a firing squad. He is closely guarded to keep away his enemies.

EXTREMIST VOTE DECLINES.

Bourgeois Parties Gain in Duesseldorf and Halle Elections.

BERLIN, March 17, (Associated Press.).—The bourgeois parties have made gains in the municipal elections in Düsseldorf and Halle.

In Düsseldorf the bourgeoisie elected 59 members of the City Council, of whom 43 were members of the Clerical Party. The Majority Socialists elected 12 Councilmen and the Independent Socialists 23.

The elections in Halle put an end to the domination of the Independent Socialists, who elected 37 delegates to the Workmen's Council as against 36 for the bourgeois parties and 12 for the Majority Socialists.

In the elections to the Workmen's Council at Kiel the Majority Socialists chose 15 members, the bourgeois parties 11, and the Independent Socialists 4.

UP TO GERMAN POWER TO PAY.

Bonar Law Says Britain Won't Demand More Than It Expects to Get.

LONDON, March 18.—Replying to a question asked in the House of Commons by Claude Lowther, Andrew Bonar Law, the Government leader, stated that the committee of inquiry into the financial condition of Germany, of which Premier Hughes of Australia was President, was appointed to advise the Cabinet. Its report, therefore, was confidential, and publication of it was not proposed.

Asked for an assurance that a full bill would be presented to Germany at the Peace Conference, and that if only a small amount could be exacted it would be regarded as payment on account, Mr. Bonar Law replied that he could give no such assurance. It had never been and was not now the Government's policy to demand more than it believed it could get out of Germany, he said.

SEIZE FIVE PROPAGANDISTS.

Our Troops Arrest Them in the Occupied Zone.

COBLENZ, March 18, (Associated Press.)—Five persons alleged to have made endeavors to carry on Spartacide propaganda among civilians, within the zone occupied by American troops, have been arrested by American military authorities here in the last few days.

All are supposed to have come from unoccupied Germany recently and are being held, pending further investigation.

SEE EXTRA SESSION PROBABLE BY JUNE

HIS PURPOSE NOT KNOWN

Evidence Lacking That He Has Changed Determination Not to Act Until He Returns.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—An extra session of Congress before June 1 is believed to be a certainty by many Government officials and members of Congress, although their predictions are without the support of evidence to show that President Wilson has changed his determination not to summon Congress before his return from France.

Cabinet officers are known to believe that the session will begin in May, some expecting the date to be about the middle of the month, with others suggesting an earlier date, probably May 5. So far as known, none of the Cabinet members has specifically recommended any date to the President, but Secretary Glass is understood to have presented certain facts in regard to the Government's financial situation from which the President may make his own deductions.

Possibility of an early extra session is understood to have been discussed today at the regular weekly meeting of the Cabinet, which was attended by Secretary Glass, Acting Secretary Polk, Postmaster General Burleson, and Attorney General Palmer. Cabinet members who attended the meeting, it is understood, do not plan any further recommendations to the President regarding an extra session, as it is their belief that Secretary Glass covered the situation adequately yesterday in cabling the President as to the situation in a number of depармental bureaus as a result of failure by the last Congress to pass certain appropriation bills.

White House officials said today that if reports from Paris that the peace treaty might be completed next week proved accurate, President Wilson might return home by the middle of April. No information regarding the probable date of approval of a treaty has been received at the White House.

Members of Congress remaining in Washington, particularly Republicans, hope the session will be called two months before the end of the current fiscal year, next June 30, so ample opportunity may be given for considering appropriation bills that failed in the late Congress. Republican Leader Lodge of the Senate has sent letters to all Republican Senators requesting them to record their address of May 15 with his office, but this was said to be without significance.

ANTI-LEAGUE COURIER TO BE SENT ABROAD

Will Sail Soon with Poindexter Statement Prepared for British and French Press.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—The first courier to be sent abroad by opponents of the League of Nations will sail within two or three days. He will carry a long statement prepared for the French and British press by Senator Poindexter of Washington.

The identity of the messenger has not been disclosed, but it is said that he is "thoroughly responsible and quite well known." It is also learned that he is familiar with newspaper publicity, upon which he intends to concentrate his efforts. He will first approach the British press, for those who are sending him believe that to be the best avenue through which to obtain attention. There lingers some fear, in view of stories cabled here from France, that the French censorship might be enforced against any publicity attempted by the advance guard, hence it would be unwise for him to begin his campaign in France. On the other hand, it is felt that, if the British press accepts some of the prepared statements offered to it, the very nearness of the publication to France will force almost equal publicity in that country.

The statement prepared by Senator Poindexter will be a review of the American viewpoint as accepted by the opposers of the League. The Senatorial opposition will be recited, and extracts from various newspapers and individuals throughout the country included. Later statements by other Senators and prominent men in this country probably will be sent abroad.

It is expected that the messenger will return within a month or six weeks, bringing a careful estimate of the European attitude toward the League Constitution. His information will be used in debate in the Senate and on the stump. Indeed, the devisers of the idea appear to consider that the information forthcoming from the other side of the Atlantic will be quite as valuable as that to be sent abroad.

FOR REVISION ON LEAGUE.

Republican Club Adopts Resolutions Indorsing Senate Demand.

The Republican Club, 54 West Fortieth Street, after a long debate adopted a resolution last night indorsing the Senate demand for a revision of the proposed constitution of the League of Nations. The resolution, which was adopted with only one dissenting vote, was as follows:

"The Republican Club of the City of New York indorses the general project of a more effective union among the nations for the preservation of peace, a project for which the Republican Party and this club have consistently stood in the past, and for that reason indorses the action of the Republican members of the Senate in pointing out to the members of the Peace Conference now sitting in Paris, in ample time for consideration and action by said conference, the view of such Senators that, in the interests of permanent peace and general disarmament, 'the proposed constitution of the League of Nations in the form now proposed to the Peace Conference should not be accepted by the United States,' but should be amended to meet the grave objections which have been pointed out on the floor of the Senate."

The resolution was drawn up by the club's Committee on National Affairs. A resolution proposed by J. Van Vechten Olcott that President Wilson be urged to call a special session of Congress to "meet the pressing demands of the nation" was adopted.

Among those who took part in the general discussion and favored the resolution were Wilbur F. Wakeman, Taylor More, Nathaniel A. Elsberg, A. B. Humphreys, William M. K. Olcott, William S. Bennet, Emil E. Fuchs, John M. Dutton, Colonel Henry L. Stimson, and James M. Beck.

The club organized for a forceful Presidential and Congressional campaign by nominating Charles D. Hilles, former Chairman of the Republican National Committee, as its President, to succeed Robert W. Bonynge. The election will take place on April 1. The new Vice Presidents selected by the committee on nominations were Herbert L. Satterlee, William M. K. Olcott, and Major Henry H. Curran, now in the army.

Population of 115,178 in 1914 Now Reduced to 8,453.

PARIS, March 18.—The population of Rheims, which was 115,178 before the war, is now 8,453, according to a census just completed by the Government. Of this number 3,987 are men, 3,253 women, and 1,213 children.

Five hundred of the children attend school in the ruined city.

READY FOR BOSTON DEBATE

Lottery-Drawn Tickets Distributed for Lodge-Lowell League Discussion

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, Mass., March 18.—Everything is in readiness, and, with Governor Coolidge presiding, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge and President A. Lawrence Lowell of Harvard University will meet tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in Symphony Hall to discuss the proposed covenant of a League of Nations.

According to the present plans, made by the Committee of Arrangements, consisting of Louis A. Coolidge and Richard M. Washburn, representing the Senator, and the Rev. Edward Cummings and Courtenay Crocker, representing President Lowell, Senator Lodge will speak first, then President Lowell will reply, after which the Senator will have an opportunity for rebuttal. The Senator will speak in the negative and President Lowell in the affirmative.

The last tickets for the debate, which were allotted by lottery, were mailed yesterday and none without tickets will be admitted, which means that of 35,000 or 40,000 persons who are desirous of listening to the two men only about 3,000 will be able to do so, for Symphony Hall will hold no more.

There is some consolation, though, for those who applied for tickets and did not receive them. Such persons are to receive a souvenir edition of the debate containing every word that will be said in the hall. This was announced by the Committe of Arrangements yesterday.

Nevada Senate Won't Indorse League

CARSON CITY, Nev., March 18.—By a vote of eight to four the Nevada Senate refused to pass a resolution indorsing a League of Nations "of which the United States shall be a member." The resolution was passed by the Assembly early in the season. Last week the Senate tabled a resolution condemning the proposed League of Nations.

WOMEN SHOW WAR STRAIN

Soldiers in Rural Germany Turn Farmers and Plant Crops to Avert Famine.

By GEORGE RENWICK.

Copyright, 1919, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, March 14.—It is certainly a very curious sensation to be going back to Germany and a still more remarkable one to see familiar places in the Fatherland after more than four and half years of absence and of war. There is something decidedly eerie about it.

As the Dutch train rolled along from Oldenzaal, the last Dutch town on the route I chose, I could not help recalling that great adventure, now nearly a quarter of a century old, of my first going. I recalled the happy student life and the fascinating vision of imperial Germany bustling with energy and ambition, presenting as it did a marvelous and enthralling picture to a young mind. Then I thought of my subsequent visits and especially of my long stay in the country just prior to the war as correspondent of The Chronicle, when that vision became still more fascinating, almost bewildering.

Such memories have become almost unreal. Between those days and the present many vistas of war mingle with one another.

I recalled the sudden thunderbolt of the Summer of 1914, staggering even those who saw something untoward coming, staggering them with its terror and its sweep. Then I remembered my rapid rush across still ordered Europe to Vienna and a few days afterward the slow journey across a continent rushing to arms and after that long years of wandering in a world where war reigned supreme.

Old War Frontiers Gone.

In France, Flanders, on the Suez Canal, at the Dardanelles, in Northern Serbia, and at Saloniki I saw something of the frontier of force with which old Germany ringed herself and endeavored to push forward the ghosts of von Kluck and von Bülow on the Marne, the shells of von Falkenhayn battering away at the thinly-held Yser line, the Germano-Turkish forces in the darkness of night near Ismailia, the fire-clad hills of Gallipoli, the line of flame made by von Mackensen's guns on the Danube, the Bulgar outposts in the woods north of Saloniki, and then the electrified wire fence which ringed Holland off from Germany and from occupied Belgium—such to my mind were the German frontiers, for so long they advanced or receded as I watched the border line of death just outside the Dutch frontier.

As my train passed from Oldenzaal, in Holland to Bentheim, in Germany, there was nothing to tell me where that line ran, nothing to inform me when I actually crossed that long-barred front, until I saw a figure in shabby field gray marching down a furrowed field and scattering seed on the brown earth. A March sun smiled like that of June.

I had noted in Holland many fields of light green in the flat and somewhat sombre scenery. That was the coming harvest just sprouting above the ground. Across the border there were those light green patches to be seen, not so many as in Holland, but still more than I had expected.

There was the hope of Europe, the salvation of our Western civilization, for we may rush food to the starving millions of Central Europe, but so very much will also depend on the coming harvest of those light-green patches. All over Europe the soldier with the seed basket has replaced the soldier with the rifle and the hand grenade, and he struck me as being the real defender of his country against worse than war.

German Vigilance Relaxed.

At Bentheim Pass the baggage formality was soon over. Indeed, the Dutch authorities at Oldenzaal appeared to be much more concerned regarding people and things leaving their country than were the Germans as to whom and what arrives in theirs.

TheGerman officials I found to be polite and obliging. The station porters were mostly demobilized soldiers, who, owing to the scarcity of clothing, still retained odds and ends of their military uniforms.

It is in Bentheim that the traveler has the first vision of the tragedy which overshadows Germany. Tourists who in times of peace entered the Fatherland by this route may remember the Bentheim station buffets, laden with great stocks of food and drink. Now you can scarcely get anything. Some Norwegian sailors were drinking fiery-looking cognac, but no one appeared to want the few faded cakes offered to travelers.

On the bookstall the newspapers were days old, but many shelves were filled with those fourth-rate novels which Germany has recently been perusing in such vast quantities despite the paper shortage. They would appear to be so many efforts to dismiss the war from the people's thoughts, for they deal with everything save war.

The bookstall attendant tried to persuade me to buy a Baedeker of Northern Germany in English. "I have been trying to get rid of it for about five years," he said, with a smile.

A drab-looking train with a still shabbier engine was soon ready. It was midday, and though we were timed to reach Berlin at 7:30, there was no restaurant car nor did the stations en route provide anything eatable.

Farms Seemed to be Deserted.

There is, of course, little interesting in the way of scenery to be observed as one rushes through the flat, sandy country of Northern Germany, but still under the circumstances of today there is enough to hold the attention of the newcomer. I was struck by the curiously deserted look of the picturesque red farms. Everything, even under the bright sunlight, seemed sombre. The countryside appeared to be off color.

There was a striking absence of cattle on the farms, save for some sheep with their lambs, little live stock was to be seen, nor did poultry appear to be very plentiful. The fields looked strangely lonely and deserted. The contrast between the packed productive fields of Holland and the less intensive cultivation in Germany was far more noticeable than in peace times.

Many were the derelict factories along the route. Their war work was over, but here and there, at Hanover particularly, some places seemed quite busy with their tall, smoking chimneys.

Ever and anon woods slain for war purposes presented themselves in the sandy, cut up landscape, pictures sadly like the scenes on the old western front where the havoc was that of artillery. Often there was evidence that while the Germans had been cutting down their trees they had also been engaged in reforestation. The necessary work of restoration had not been forgotten in wartime.

The train ran well up to this time, things at the various stations appeared to be fairly well organized. Porters were in plenty, and large quantities of goods were being handled at most places.

In the compartments of the train the leather coverings to the cushions had disappeared, as also the leather window straps. The substitute for leather is some cunningly woven paper substance, out of which numerous articles are made, such as bicycle saddles and tablecloths. But the same old polite conductor was there, and he had been honored by being allowed to keep his red species of Sam Brown belt.

Berlin Streets Gloomy.

Owing to the general conditions in Berlin, trains from the west for some days had not been running into the Friedrichstrasse Station, and that by which I have traveled stopped at the Charlottenburg Station. Here it was that a little series of surprises awaited me. I had half expected to be stranded in the Berlin suburb of Charlottenburg, while in the more central parts of the city were revolution and uncertainty. I could hear the people discussing the latest news, talking over things quietly, as if it were a matter of a war afar off and not in the same city.

The civil strife in Lichtenberg, it was said, was almost at an end. That evening an attempted counter-revolution of extremists had failed. Was it the end of such trouble, such madness? the people asked.

There was evidence of increasing order. The trams were working and the underground trains were running.

My porter quickly secured me a powerful taxi, and I was rather surprised to notice that it had excellent rubber tires, though I saw others with substitutes in the shape of weird spring contrivances.

Then began a ride through a phantom city, for that describes Berlin today. The streets and long avenues were dimly lighted, and boys were dashing on roller skates over the smooth asphalt. Shadowy people moved slowly about, aimlessly, it would appear. Now and then I heard the hoarse call of some street vendor.

Not now brightly lighted cafés and restaurants, brilliant streets, and the crush of traffic! Berlinerstrasse and the Charlottenburg Chaussee seemed to be bordered by dull, haunted woods. Over all was an underworld gloom. How different all this was when compared with the bright and busy nights of Berlin before the war!

Seeking Pleasure Amid Gloom.

Sometimes a more cheery though strangely inappropriate note would be introduced into the scene which rushed passed me, as if on a blurred cinema film. Motor cars would pass with laughing, gayly dressed parties going to dances, but it was the last night for such pleasure, for an official ukase had gone out against that gay dancing which has been going on for months in the gaudy dance palaces, while other sections of Berlin's population starved, or fought for mastery over the city and the empire.

Then many familiar landmarks came in sight—the Alley of Victory with its white and fantastic figures gleaming dimly in the deepening twilight. There was the great Reichstag building and the Brandenburger Gate, with bullet marks on its columns. Beyond stood Pariser Platz, a gay and busy centre of former days, and away from it the dark shades of Unter den Linden faded into blackness.

What another Berlin! Down nere nearer the centre of the city, once one of the most brilliant spots of all Europe, was the same lifelessness I had noticed while my taxi whirled me from Charlottenburg. Some wounded soldiers wandered about and others sold various wares. Comparatively few people were about in the streets.

A machine gun armed automobile dashed past. To the people here that is an ordinary sight.

Unter den Linden in Shadow.

Though a few shops in Unter den Linden made a brave effort at illumination, this world-famous thoroughfare appeared to be but a shadow of its former bustling, brilliant self. "Berlin beneath her trees" presents on first sight a mournful vision to the newcomer.

My taxi ride over I had my first experience of what life today is in Berlin, where one used to live on the whole more cheaply than in any of the other great world cities, was going to cost. That taxi ride cost about six times what would have been charged for one of a similar distance in London.

In the Great Hotel at the corner of Pariser Platz years of war had not wrought much change. On the lounge sat much the same well-dressed crowd. In the dining room there were many in evening dress. The dinner was excellent, though here again the price was about three times what it would have been in London.

But this is only a corner of this great and tragic city, it is but the tinsel on the drab garb of Berlin's sorrow. Beyond, out in the darkness, is another and vastly different picture.

Later I went out into those dark streets with their strangely mixed crowds which one never expected to see in this once gay city. The entrances to the cabarets cast here and there a garish light on the main streets. The big cafés were full of people listening to the music, but when I got away from the brighter parts the gloom was unrelieved. They must tell their full story by daylight.

I turned back past the wandering crowds, for whom there was nothing better to do than wander about the ghostly streets. Many of the thoroughfares in the centre of the city are torn up. The work proceeds but slowly, and the confusion of relaying them makes the picture all the more sombre.

I visited a few of the cafés, which I once knew as bright and cheery places. People in them listlessly read the newspapers. They were drinking beer with a rank taste and smoking cigars and cigarettes which taste of anything but tobacco.

There certainly the people do not look badly fed or poorly clothed, but again those whom one sees in such places are the merest fraction of Berlin's population. Go along the quieter streets and observe in particular the women going about. Their eyes and cheeks and gait tell of the long, remorseless strain of years of war.

A Reminder of Lost Dreams.

I wandered past the office of the Hamburg-American Line, in the window of which stands a great model of the giant Imperator and a vast relief map of the world. People were looking sadly at what reminds them of lost empire of the sea and earth.

In the grimness of it all there are lighter touches. I could not help smiling at the efforts of an old newspaper seller to get rid of her copies of the once fiery Pan German Deutsche Tageszeitung.

"You are trying to sell the wrong newspaper," I remarked. "Look how your competitor with Vorwärts does a roaring trade."

"Yes," was the answer, "but the Tages Zeitung is no longer pan German."

"What is its color now?" I queried.

"As to that I do not know," she answered, so I bought a copy to try to find out.

The quiet night is followed by a morning which might have been of Spring at its best. From my window I can see the wide expanse of the Tiergarten, with the trees bursting into leaf beneath. The flowers are getting ready to spread out their varied tapestries—Spring with its promise of life.

Suddenly the morning quiet is broken by the sharp rattle of a machine gun in the distance. Again and again it spits out death somewhere in the eastern part of the city. Later I learned that those shots were practically the last fired in the fierce struggle of the Spartacides for the mastery of the city. The morning's news is that the Government troops are completely in control of the situation.

These are, of course, one's first-sight impressions. In a subsequent message I hope to give a fuller picture of the strange spectacle which Berlin presents today, and it is a strange one in the eyes of any one who knew the city at the height of its greatness and its power.

READY TO RECALL ASSEMBLY.

Weimar Recess Depends on Peace Progress—Berlin Move Abandoned.

BERLIN, March 17, (Associated Press.)—The Vossische Zeitung says it learns that the National Assembly, which has adjourned until March 25, will reconvene in the course of the present week if the Paris peace negotiations are concluded by March 20. The Cabinet, which is now in Berlin, will return to Weimar at the end of the week.

According to the same paper, the plan to transfer the Assembly to Berlin has been definitely abandoned. The delegates will complete their labors by the end of May and then adopt a resolution declaring for a Constitutional Parliament which will sit in Berlin.

The German Gazette confirms the report that the situation has been complicated by Prussia's demand that she be financially safeguarded, as the bulk of her revenues are derived from the railways.

a voluntary corps or division, and doubtless his name and popularity will prove a great attraction. He will make no distinction between men and officers. Whoever comes to offer his services will be accepted if he is physically and mentally sound.

"As for an army composed entirely of former officers, that is nonsense. Most of the officers, especially in the reserve, have already returned to civil employment, and cannot spare the time; and those who could join such an army know too well how unpopular it would be in Germany at the present time. Lettow-Vorbeck's corps will prove a strong addition to our forces fighting anarchy, because his name will attract the best elements of the officers and will not be rejected by the men of the rank and file. But, so far as we have noticed, they enlist only as limited-time volunteers. So, for instance, a large number of them will go back to civil employment as soon as I declare the present action against the Spartacides ended.

"Let me assure you, America can end and quell the anarchist spirit in Germany as soon as she chooses. It is all merely a question of bread and employment."

The Minister of Education, Herr Haenisch, has directed an appeal to pupils in high schools and universities asking them to join a voluntary corps.

"For of what use," it asks, "would be their years of study and the examinations they have passed if the country perished in anarchy?"

GERMANY'S FOOD EXHAUSTED IN MAY

Must Depend Upon Allies by the End of That Month, Commissioner Says.

BERLIN, March 17, (Associated Press.)—The Food Commissioner, in an interview, announces that the nation's available home food stocks will be exhausted by the end of May and from that time he will be forced to depend upon Entente supplies when proportioning rations.

The distribution of foreign supplies, the minister added, will be confined at the start to the metropolitan centres, which comprise populations of 47,000,000.

The Government is faced with a difficult problem in fixing the price of bread to be made from imported foodstuffs, the prices of which are much higher than those Germany maintained during the war. The price of bread is now 50 to 60 pfennigs for a two-pound loaf and to increase it greatly, it is believed, would cause more discontent.

The present price of bread is based upon maximum grain prices averaging 350 marks a ton for wheat and 330 marks for rye. The cost of American wheat is at least 1,000 marks a ton and when the present exchange and cost of transportation are considered the price of American flour, with which the Allies propose to supply Germany, instead of grain will reach, according to officials of the Food Ministry, 3,000 marks a ton.

To Maintain Present Ration.

Under the present straitened condition of German finances, the Ministry is unable to carry the excess cost by appropriation from the treasury. The Ministry, therefore, proposes to solve the problem by keeping the bread ration at the present amount and price, although an increased ration is demanded everywhere.

In making this bread the Ministry will use such imported flour as is required to supplement the home stocks of rye. It will sell the balance of imported flour to housewives in the form of white flour at a price to cover the loss on flour used in the ration bread. The officials recognize that the solution is not satisfactory, but see no alternative.

The problem regarding pork products is less difficult. The cost of bacon will be higher than the official maximum, but for months pork has been absolutely unobtainable on food cards. It is not believed that the workmen who are accustomed to pay a day's wages for an occasional pound of pork will object to the price of the imported product, even though it is several times the German peace time price.

$150,000 FUND PUT IN BARUCH'S HANDS

FOR ADVISER'S SOLE USE

Presidential Fund for Which No Accounting Is Required Is Virtually Gone.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—President Wilson has placed $150,000 at the disposal of Bernard M. Baruch, to be spent as he "may find necessary," as technical adviser of the Peace Commission at Paris.

The money was allotted from the National Security and Defense Fund of $100,000,000, which was placed at the disposal of the President by Congress in April, 1917. The Sundry Civil act, making appropriations for the fiscal year of 1919, also made $50,000,000 available for national security and defense, to be spent on order of the President.

The $150,000 was made available for Mr. Baruch in an executive order, signed on Feb. 14, before the President returned to Boston from France. The order reads:

[Executive Order.]

In order that Bernard M. Baruch, heretofore designated as a technical adviser of the American Commission to Negotiate Peace, may be able to undertake properly the performance of such duties as heretofore have been, or may hereafter be, assigned to him by the American Commission to Negotiate Peace, I hereby allot to the American Commission to Negotiate Peace the sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars ($150,000) from the appropriation for national security of defense authorized in the General Deficiency bill approved April 17, 1917; said sum to be subject to the disposal of Bernard M. Baruch for the purpose of creating and maintaining such organization, supplementary to that maintained by the American Commission to Negotiate Peace for the carrying forward of its other activities, as said Bernard M. Baruch may find necessary.

This order shall take effect this 14th day of February, 1919.

(Signed) WOODROW WILSON.

The White House, Feb. 14, 1919.

President Wilson is not required to render accounting as to the expenditure of the funds given to him. President McKinley received a similar, but smaller, fund for use in the Spanish-American war, but was not required to account for it and never did.

How the President has used his fund has not been disclosed except in two instances. The allotment of $150,000 to Mr. Baruch is one and the other was a grant of $5,000,000 for use by the relief commission, headed by Herbert C. Hoover, in making plans for feeding European peoples, in anticipation of the $100,000,000 appropriation made later by Congress.

That most of the President's fund has been spent or as pledged that other allotments could not be made was disclosed last week when Secretary Wilson made public a wireless message to that effect from the President, to whom he had appealed for money to keep the employment bureau in full operation.

HOFFMANN BAVARIAN PREMIER

BASLE, March 18.—Herr Hoffmann, Socialist Minister of Worship in the Eisner Government, has been elected Premier of Bavaria by the Diet, according to a Munich dispatch to the Frankfurter Zeitung. After the election the Diet adjourned to give the new Premier time to form a Cabinet.

At the beginning of the sitting party leaders declared their adhesion to the State Constitution, which was framed by the late Premier, and agreed unanimously on the first and second readings of the document, it is reported.

MUNICH, March 18.—The police have discovered a plot to steal army goods valued at 10,000,000 marks. Twenty-four persons have been arrested.

The new Bavarian Premier is probably the Herr Hoffmann who was a Majority Socialist member of the last Reichstag and was not noted for radicalism.

The precautions mentioned in the foregoing dispatch were apparently due to the fear that there might be a repetition in the Diet of the scenes that accompanied the convening of that body last month. Numerous shots were fired on that occasion, killing one of the Deputies and wounding others, including Herr Auer, the Minister of the Interior, who was reported later to have died of his injuries.

DEFENDS KAISER IN DIET.

BERLIN, March 17, (Associated Press.)—Colonel Reinhardt, the Prussian War Minister, defended the Government troops today in a speech in the Diet against the charges of brutality in the Berlin rioting. He said that the summary execution order of Gustav Noske, the Minister of Defense, directed at rebels with arms in their hands, was required by the situation.

Colonel Reinhardt was continually interrupted during his speech by howls and vitriolic remarks by the Independent Socialists. Answering the allegations of the Independents and Communists that they intended the general strike to be a peaceable one and did not desire the use of force, Colonel Reinhardt said:

"How do such vast quantities of weapons happen to come into the hands of the criminal insurrectionists? How do even cannon get into the hands of so-called innocent persons, and how is it that those weapons are regularly supplied with ammunition?"

By WALTER DURANTY.

against France that her exchange will drop 50 per cent. or more, thus forcing French manufacturers to pay double for all they buy, and rendering it impossible for them to compete with the British, Americans, or even the Germans in the world market, when a year or two hence they do reach the stage of production.

The French propose three ways out of the impasse: First, that such materials be "pooled" among the Allies at fixed prices; second, that allied rates of exchange be internationalized—that is, stabilized at a fixed rate; third, that the war debts of the Allies be pooled and guaranteed by an Allied Union or League of Nations, or whatever else one wishes to call it.

Both in Great Britain and America there will probably be great opposition to any of these schemes, all of which involve more or less artificial support of French credit. But there is no other alternative, except that of immediate payments of cash or goods to France by Germany. It seems improbable that Germany will be able to make such payments adequately at present.

Counting on Britain and Us.

The French point out—there is a suggestion to that effect by Senator Cheron in today's Petit Parisien—that German payments postponed over a series of years could easily be applied to cover the interest on the French share of the war debts, if internationalized, but they would be of no avail to relieve the present difficulties. The assertion is advanced that, whether they like it or not, America and Great Britain are likely to be forced to accept one or the other of the French proposals, simply to save France from an intolerable situation.

It may be objected that France should be urged to pay her share of the war costs by taxation, however severe, just as she paid it in blood. This idea is characterized as businesslike, although it may seem cruel when one realizes what France's blood tax has been. The French financial authorities reply that they would ask nothing better, but that it is a physical impossibility. Their country, they say, cannot bear the strain, and they now appeal to the Allies to help them rebuild France's credit, which the war has shattered.

London Money Market Nervous.

LONDON, March 18.—Abandonment of the control of French exchange has created great nervousness in the money market here. Fears that similar action was imminent in connection with New York exchange caused the cable transfer rate in London to fall somewhat today. From the opening of the market it exhibited a disturbed, almost panicky condition. An enormous business was done in dollars around the figure of $4.69 for a pound sterling. Some bids made late in the afternoon were at the rate of $4.67, notwithstanding the fact that the New York cable rate has remained at the old level of $4.764.

Exchange experts are inclined to the belief that interested authorities will continue the stabilization of New York exchange in order to avoid the almost worldwide disturbance which, it is considered, might result from the abandonment of control.

PARIS, March 18.—In the foreign exchange market today the dollar was quoted at 5.76 and the pound at 27.45.

MISSIONARY CHARGES CRUELTY IN KOREA

Says Complaint Was Made to American Consul—Mob Stones Ping-Yang Station.

PEKING, March 18, (Associated Press.)—An American missionary who has just returned from Korea describes the independence movement there as the most wonderful passive resistance movement in history.

The missionaries were taken by surprise when the movement began. After realizing that their churches had been closed by order of the police, and that most of their pastors were in jail, they concluded, it was said, that the time had come to break silence regarding the brutalities witnessed in the last decade. They had seen children beaten, old men ejected from their houses, and women struck with swords, it was stated, and they could not keep quiet, for humanity's sake, whatever the cost to their missionary work and themselves.

Thev determined, said this missionary, in an interview with The Associated Press, that the truth should be known. They appointed a committee to proceed to Seoul, confer with the American Consul, and present signed documents to the effect that two American women missionaries had been beaten by Japanese soldiers with guns, and that other American missionaries had been subjected to indignities.

The American Consul is said to have declared that if an apology were not forthcoming within a week, something would happen.

The Consul himself, the missionary said, had been arrested by Japanese soldiers at Seoul, but an interesting development was spoiled by his companion, also an American, who asked the Japanese if they knew this man, and informed them that he was the American Consul. The Consul was immediately released.

TOKIO, March 17, (Associated Press.)—Korean demonstrations continued Saturday and Sunday, according to dispatches printed in newspapers here, and it is indicated the national independence movement is remarkably extensive and well organized in some of the strongest provinces of that country. It is reported that the railway station at Pingyang has been stoned by a mob of 10,000 persons, the Korean national flag being commonly displayed. There is some uneasiness at Seoul, but the situation there is said to be under control.

GERMANY TO DEPOSIT $90,000,000 FOR FOOD

Allies Have a Large Quantity of Supplies to Send When the Ships Are Transferred.

BRUSSELS, March 18.—In accordance with an agreement which has been reached, the German Government has contracted to deposit 450,000,000 francs in gold in the Brussels National Bank. There will be two payments, one of 175,000,000 francs within four days and the other, which will be 275,000,000 francs, within ten days.

The deposits in the Brussels National Bank mentioned in the dispatch are presumably to be made in connection with the agreement recently reached at the allied conference with the Germans at Brussels for the provisioning of Germany in connection with the shipping arrangement. Earlier dispatches had reported that Germany was to make large gold deposits at Brussels as part of the financing of food shipments to her.

PARIS, March 17.—The British Government has indicated that immediately upon the transfer of German merchant shipping to the Allies it will be able to deliver the following quantities of foodstuffs to the Germans, the figures being in tons:

Bacon, 30,000; condensed milk, 10,000; vegetable oils, 20,000; margarine, 2,000; drippings, 2,000; rice, 35,000; Rangoon beans, 50,000; oatmeal, 15,000, and barley or rye flour, 10,000. This makes a total of 174,000 tons.

The French Government is ready to furnish raw materials which will produce 15,000 tons of palm oil.

The United States can deliver from stocks in Europe 40,000 tons of cereals and flour. Of the 1,000,000 tons of food shipped for the relief of Europe since Dec. 1 through American food agencies, all but this amount is pledged for the relief of liberated peoples and cannot be diverted. Payment for the food will be made by the Germans in gold or equivalent securities.

COPENHAGEN, March 18.—Under an agreement reached at Rotterdam, a dispatch from Berlin says, Great Britain will receive 30,000 tons of potash from Germany. Negotiations with other Entente countries were not completed. The proceeds of the sale of the potash will be credited to Germany in payment for food supplies.

Still Summing Up for O'Leary.

Continuing his summing up yesterday before Federal Judge Hand, Arthur O'Leary, of counsel for the defense in the trial of Jeremiah A. O'Leary and Adolph M. Stern for alleged violation of the Espionage act, warned the jury to beware of prejudice. He insisted that the Government, in its prosecution, was attacking the Irish race, offered an explanation of the flight of Jeremiah O'Leary to Washington State, and called attention to alleged discrepancies in statements made at various times by Mme. Victorica, the German spy. The summing up will continue today.

CALLS ON MEXICO TO PROTECT AMERICANS

State Department Directs Embassy to Appeal to Carranza to Safeguard Our Citizens.

VILLA BAND IN BORDER RAIDS

United States War Department Maintains Strong Force on the Mexican Boundary.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Villista activities in Chihuahua, resulting in depredations against Americans and their property and the reported capture recently of several Americans have attracted the direct attention of the State Department, which has called on the American Embassy at Mexico City to bring them to the attention of General Carranza's Government with a request for the protection of American citizens.

Announcement was made today that the department had telegraphed to the American Embassy there regarding the reported capture by Villistas at Las Cruces, Chihuahua, of James E. Whetten, an American, and Joseph Bentley, a Mormon, the latter, it is said, being a Mexican citizen by naturalization. The Embassy was directed to request the Mexican Government to take every step to rescue Whetten and to insure the protection of American citizens wherever the bandits operate.

All information reaching the department indicates that Villa is becoming bolder. A recent dispatch indicated that he was operating as near as fifty miles south of Columbus, New Mexico, the town which he and his gang shot up in 1916. The raid led to the dispatch of the Pershing punitive expedition into Mexico under orders to get Villa dead or alive.

The War Department has, throughout the war, maintained a strong force on the Mexican border. This force consists of seasoned cavalrymen who were not sent to France, and it is available for use at any time for a resumption of the campaign against Villa should he make a raid on the border or come close enough to risk capture.

"Quite another case," said the State Department in an official announcement today, "is that reported by Representative Edward L. Hamilton of Michigan, who telegraphed the department that 'Warren & Co. inform me that Lopez and Ojitos hold men in ranch for $5,000, with threat to kill them and destroy ranch if money is not paid.' Congressman Hamilton stated that Lopez has 400 men and has taken the towns of Janos and Asuncion, and that Warren & Co.'s foreman is raising money for the ransom. Two days before the receipt of Representative Hamilton's telegram the department requested the embassy at Mexico City urgently to request the Mexican Government to extend the proper protection to the lives and property in question."

BOLSHEVIKI ROUTED IN SEVERAL BATTLES

Lithuanians and Esthonians Attacking and Winning All Along Their Front.

STOCKHOLM, March 17.—Fighting has been resumed against the Bolsheviki along the entire Lithuanian front, according to an official statement issued at Lithuanian headquarters at Kovno. It reads as follows:

"The battle was resumed along the entire front on Saturday, the Bolsheviki suffering a severe defeat at Soda, northwest of Vilna; at Pagiriai we put the enemy to flight by a night attack. Southeast of Vilna we are advancing victoriously, forcing the enemy to retire along the whole front."

COPENHAGEN, March 17.—Esthonian forces are again masters of the situation on the Pskov front, according to an official statement issued by the Esthonian army headquarters, which says that the Esthonians have launched a powerful counterattack in that region.

In heavy fighting in the Petchori district, west of Pskov, Esthonian and Finnish troops have captured a number of villages, the statement says.

that under his obvious responsibility as an operating official he was criminally liable.

Judge Charges Jury.

In charging the jury, Justice Seeger said that Blewitt was charged with the responsibility of getting competent motormen by lawful means, but that a mere violation of the company's rules in this respect was not to be interpreted as a violation of statute. If the jury found, the Court said, that Thomas Gilfeather, the wreck victim upon whose death the indictment was based, was killed because of Blewitt's failure to exercise the utmost care, so far as foresight could go, Blewitt should be found guilty.

The court drew a careful distinction between incompetence and carelessness, charging that Blewitt was responsible for knowing whether Luciano was competent, but could not be held responsible if Luciano, though generally competent, had been careless on this occasion. The court held that evidence adduced by the prosecution to show that other motormen put on as strikebreakers were incompetent or inexperienced could not be taken into account in judging Luciano's competence.

The indictments growing out of the wreck followed a finding by Mayor Hylan, who sat as a Magistrate in John Doe proceedings to fix responsibility for the disaster, that the men subsequently named in the indictment were responsible. The change of venue was hard fought by relatives of the victims, and after it had been granted a second controversy grew out of the employment by the defense as associate counsel of County Judge Lewis J. Hempstead and Surrogate Leon D. Howell of Nassau County.

The Brooklyn Passengers' Protective Association, an organization of relatives of the wreck victims, pleaded with Governor Smith to stop the two county officials from aiding the defense or to recommend to the Legislature their impeachment, but Governor Smith announced that he was powerless to prevent them from acting.

Only one of the civil suits developing from the wreck thus far has reached a jury, that of Mrs. Laura V. Flahive, who was awarded $20,000 damages for the death of her husband, a Government stevedore, by a jury before Supreme Court Justice Gavegan in New York County last month, though she demanded but $15,000.

We feel a little guilty asking only $3.50 for them, though not so guilty as those who ask more! You see, it takes a man a whole day to produce 8 or 10 of them. Advertising is chief hand-maiden to ambition.

And men who are proud of their products are ambitious for their wide dissemination and use.

Without advertising, any surprisingly better commodity will gradually win a following through word-of-mouth recommendation. This may take years to accomplish.

The same result is brought about in a fraction of the time and therefore at a fraction of the cost by general advertising.

It is a phenomenon of to-day that a new mode is adopted simultaneously in Charleston, in Seattle, in San Bernardino and in Bangor, Maine.

The old days of long cycle between the metropolitan usage and ultimate rural adoption are past.

Our whole country adopts its new ideas to-day, together and at the same time.

For national adoption, advertise. It saves time.

Why First Mortgages Guaranteed by this Company Are the Best Investment for Prudent People.

It is a great thing to feel that your principal is safe, and that, even if real estate declines in value, you will not have to foreclose and become the owner.

The question, of course, is whether the guarantor can make good. If there ever was any doubt, this war experience has removed it. The Company has made good, as some 1800 mortgagees, for whom the Company during that period has foreclosed and collected their mortgages and whom it has protected, can testify.

They have been about the only mortgagees who have been unconcerned during this period and the Company has carried the burden easily.

PLAN TO SHELVE PROHIBITION BILLS

EXPECT CONGRESS RULING

Both Bone Dry and Three Per Cent. Measures Doomed to Die in Legislature.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 18.—The Walters 3 per cent. beer measure and the Thompson-McNab "bone dry" Prohibition Enforcement bill, introduced on behalf of the New York Anti-Saloon League, will be left in the limbo of forgotten legislation if the Republican lawmakers accept the mandate of the Executive Committee of the Republican State Committee. This committee met here today behind hermetically closed doors and remained in session for several hours, but, so far as could be learned tonight, was unable to arrive at a definite conclusion on any of the number of subjects that came before it for discussion except the two named.

Soon after the Executive Committee went into session this afternoon United States Senator William M. Calder, who happened to be "passing through" Albany and was conveniently near, was summoned to appear before it. Senator Calder was less communicative than is his wont when he emerged from the committee room, but it was learned that he was quizzed closely by the members regarding the prospects of Congress enacting legislation defining the term "concurrent jurisdiction" in the Federal prohibition amendment in a manner that would enable the various States to pay some attention to local sentiment in enacting "concurrent" legislation for its enforcement.

Just what the Senator and Congressmen Bertrand H. Snell and Norman J. Gould of Seneca, members of the committee, told it, is not known, but after the meeting adjourned this evening there was a well-defined opinion among persons who had talked with members of the committee that they felt some action by the incoming Republican Congress might be expected that would make it unnecessary for the Republican majority in the Legislature to take a definite stand at the present session and run the risk of incurring on one hand the displeasure of the prohibition extremists or on the other of labor organizations who are clamoring for an uninterrupted flow of beer.

The only statement authorized for publication after the committee adjourned ran as follows:

"Every member of the Executive Committee of the Republican State Committee attended either in person or by proxy a meeting that was held this afternoon at the Hotel Ten Eyck. All the women members were present in person. The meeting considered a variety of subjects and was very harmonious. Congressman Bertrand H. Snell of Potsdam, Chairman of the Executive Committeee, presided. Chairman Snell of the Executive Committee and George A. Glynn, Chairman of the Republican State Committee, will remain over until tomorrow and have some further talks with President Pro Tem J. Henry Walters of the Senate and Speaker Thaddeus C. Sweet of the Assembly. That is all that's to be said."

The Walton-Fearon Bill providing for the nomination of State and judiciary officers at a State convention was discussed, but no decision reached, although Chairman Glynn told the Executive Committee that an investigation made by him had disclosed an overwhelming sentiment among Republicans throughout the State in favor of returning to the convention system.

Miss Mary Garrett Hay, the suffrage leader, who is a member of the committee, cautioned her colleagues that it might be well to give the direct primary law a little longer trial before repealing it. She did not absolutely oppose the Walton-Fearon bill, however, and its promoters who a week ago were sanguine of passing it, have not abandoned hope as a result of anything that happened at the committee meeting.

Despite the harmony statement rumblings of a storm were not lacking. While the committee was in session Major Theodore Douglas Robinson, former Senator, and nephew of the late Colonel Roosevelt, was about the hotel corridors, making it known that he was engaged in a movement to rally the younger element within the party for a fight on the present machine. Major Robinson announced that a Statewide conference of this element would be held within a few weeks.

"The present Republican State Committee is not in any sense representative of the Republican Party in the State," said Major Robinson. "Chairman Glynn does not represent the Republican Party or any faction within the party. He represents nothing if not a public official who is politically dead. The Republican Party of the State of New York is not only leaderless, but rudderless, and drifting, drifting, drifting."

Will M. Hays, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, who had been invited to address the Executive Committee, sent a telegram of regrets.

WAIT FOR BREWERS TO TEST BEER LAW

attitude of the National Association will be to watch developments.

In the test suit brought in the Federal Court by Joseph E. Everard, a minority stockholder in the James Everard's Breweries of this city, to restrain the brewery from discontinuing manufacture on May 1 and the sale of its products on July 1, William M. K. Olcott, counsel for the brewery, notified United States District Attorney Caffey yesterday that his "co-operation" would be "welcomed." Mr. Olcott pointed out that this was desirable inasmuch as "the question is of such importance as to call for real adversary litigation, perhaps the Federal Government may wish you to work with us in the defense."

Assistant District Attorney Earl Barnes, to whom District Attorney Caffey referred Mr. Olcott's letter, said it would be referred to Attorney General Palmer. Should the Government decide to interest itself in the case, Mr. Barnes said, it might intervene as "a friend of the court," a common legal procedure in litigation between private parties involving questions of Federal law or administration.

This resolution has been adopted by the Homeopathic Medical Society of New York City:

> Whereas, An amendment to the Constitution of the United States calling for the total abolition of the use of alcoholic beverages is now on the eve of enforcement,
> Resolved, That this society, while recognizing the great evils, both physical and moral, which are due to the abuse of alcoholic beverages, regards the enactment of such a drastic measure as not conducive to the welfare of the public, as it does not solve the problem of the evil of the abuse of alcoholic beverages and will tend to other evils. Furthermore, disastrous results from an economic standpoint appear inevitable, the time most inopportune, and the invasion of personal liberty and rights evident.

Prohibition was considered by the society at its meeting held on Tuesday, and the resolution was made public yesterday by Dr. Charles Ver Nooy, the secretary.

JERSEY LOWER HOUSE REJECTS PROHIBITION

Refuses to Ratify Dry Amendment—Senate to Act Next Week.

Special to The New York Times.

TRENTON, N. J., March 18.—By a viva voce vote the lower house of the Legislature today rejected the prohibition amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

This action was taken through the adoption without rollcall of a resolution introduced last week by Assemblyman Hugh C. Barrett of Essex County, the Democratic floor leader, providing "that the General Assembly of the State of New Jersey does hereby reject the resolution submitted by the Congress to the several States for their ratification as the Eighteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States."

There is still pending in the upper house the resolution presented by Senator Harold B. Wells of Burlington County, a Republican, for ratification. When first moved this was beaten by a vote of 10 to 8, and the Senator announced today that he would have it brought up again next Monday night for further consideration. Senators Case and Haines did not vote last week, but even if both support the measure it would still be one short of the needed eleven, and it is not thought probable that any of the ten now recorded against it will change their position.

The vote in the Assembly came somewhat as a surprise. When he offered the resolution last week, Mr. Barrett succeeded in having it referred to the Committee on Municipal Corporations only after a parliamentary skirmish with Republican Leader Kellam in which he was forced to admit that it was a political measure. He reported it without amendment today and moved for immediate adoption. It was expected that Mr. Kellam might demand a roll call, but he did not and there were only a few "noes" heard when Speaker Pierson called for an "aye" and "nay" vote.

Adoption of the resolution by the Assembly makes good the assertion of James Nugent, one of the State's Democratic leaders, that the amendment would not be ratified by New Jersey this year. On the other hand, Republicans by allowing a viva voce vote have prevented themselves from being put on record as individuals and believe that the opposition party will not be able to make political capital from the passage of the resolution.

Forty-five States have ratified the national prohibition amendment. In Rhode Island ratification has been held up while the lawmakers discuss the legality of the measure. Several days ago a resolution directing the Attorney General of that State to enter a test suit before the United States Supreme Court on the constitutionality of the amendment was sent to its Judiciary Committee by the Rhode Island Legislature. The committee recommended yesterday that the resolution be adopted. Connecticut failed to approve the amendment.

PALMER TO DEFINE WORD 'INTOXICATING'

Commissioner of Internal Revenue Asks Attorney General to Give Opinion on Beer.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—A. Mitchell Palmer, the new Attorney General, has been asked for an opinion on how much alcohol it takes to make beer "intoxicating."

Commissioner of Internal Revenue Daniel C. Roper, whose duty it is to enforce the regulations against the sale of beer containing more than one-half of 1 per cent. of alcohol, today requested Secretary Glass of the Treasury to call on the Department of Justice for a statement on the question.

The promulgation recently made permits the manufacture of beer containing not more than two and three-quarters per cent. of alcohol, but provides that before the beer is sold its alcoholic content must be reduced to less than one-half per cent. This limit, it was stated by the bureau officials, was based on precedent and on court decisions in a number of states, but no Federal law or court decision could be found specifically describing one-half of one per cent. as the deadline of intoxication. The whole subject will be referred by Attorney General Palmer to Assistant Attorney General William L. Frierson. Mr. Frierson said this afternoon that the question of how much alcohol would make beer intoxicating had never come before him for decision. The rulings of the State courts and regulations are not uniform.

Mr. Wheeler, council for the Anti-Saloon League, is very positive in his views.

"If the brewers make and sell lager beer with two and three-quarters per cent. alcohol in it after July 1," he said, "they will violate the war prohibition act. The act provides that after July 1 no beer, wine or other intoxicating malt or vinous liquor shall be sold for beverage purposes as except for export. Beer and wine are definitely prohibited by this act. If any other malt or vinous liquor is made which is not beer or wine, it is true we would have to prove it was intoxicating. This is why we urge Congress before July 1 to further define the term 'intoxicating liquor' just as they are doing in all of the States in their laws controlling the liquor traffic.

CHICAGO, March 18.—William G. Legner, President of the Chicago Brewers' Protective Association, said tonight that local brewers would not at this time take steps toward producing beer of 2.75 per cent. alcoholic content, as Eastern brewers are planning to do. Mr. Legner conferred today with leading brewers of the Middle West and reported the sentiment was to take no action. He said, however, that he had found Eastern brewers optimistic.

ST. LOUIS, March 18.—Officials of St. Louis breweries tonight said they would not resume the manufacture of beer containing 2.75 per cent. alcohol unless the outcome of the action of New York brewers showed such action legal. A. A. Busch, President of the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association, said that, although the President's proclamation was issued as a war measure, under no circumstances would his brewery resume manufacture of the prohibited beer until an official ruling permitting it came from Washington.

FOR PROHIBITION TEST.

Rhode Island House to Vote on Resolution Ordering a Suit.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 18.—The House Judiciary Committee today reported with a recommendation of passage the resolution directing the Attorney General of the State to obtain a decision by the United States Supreme Court on the constitutionality of the Federal prohibition amendment. A slight change in the wording was made by the committee, so that the resolution now asks for the determination of the constitutionality "of the Eighteenth Amendment as promulgated." As originally introduced, the resolution questioned the constitutionality "of the action of Congress in proposing the amendment."

The resolution was placed on the calendar for next Thursday.

BONE DRY LAW EFFECTIVE.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Under a ruling by Judge Hardison, in deciding a liquor case in the District of Columbia Police Court this morning, the Reed bone-dry law repeals the Sheppard prohibition law and the military bone law in the District.

Commenting on the decision of the court in these cases, Judge Hardison said:

"Because of the lack of a specific clause in the Sheppard law regarding the transportation feature, Congress enacted the Reed law to apply to the District, thereby stopping the gaps in the Sheppard law. Since the Reed law is intended to plug up holes in the Sheppard law, it thereby repeals that special part. However, cases that have been passed on are not affected."

BRITISH AIRMEN TO TRY OCEAN FLIGHT

very large vessel, would be ready to attempt the voyage then.

But Admiral Taylor told THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent that he was hoping that the American Navy would win the honor of making the first transatlantic voyage in a heavier-than-air machine, either with the large naval airplane NC-1, which has been undergoing tests at Rockaway Point, L. I., or with another of the NC class of airplane. At that time Admiral Taylor said that the indications were that the American flight with the NC-1 could not be undertaken before May or June.

Admiral Taylor is now en route to Europe with Secretary Daniels, and while there will look into aircraft matters, as well as ship designs.

Secretary Daniels, before sailing for Europe, said: "The American Navy's trial will be made with the NC-1 or with a large naval seaplane of the same type. We are bending every effort and want to have the credit of being the first to cross."

Secretary Daniels regretted that information regarding American naval plans for trying to fly across the ocean leaked out when Commander John H. Towers was assigned to the task of making naval material and personnel ready for the projected flight. As they have wanted to win the first blue ribbon of the air with heavier-than-air craft, Secretary Daniels, Secretary Baker, and their advisers did not care to have the fact generally advertised that they were making these plans. But the cat was let out of the bag when, through a slip in the publication of naval orders about six weeks ago, it became known that Commander Towers had been assigned to this duty and that the navy was making a serious attempt to fly a heavier-than-air machine across the Atlantic.

It was intimated in a very well-informed quarter tonight that several weeks, in any event, would be expected to elapse after the arrival of the British aviators and their machine before they could assemble and test the machine on this side, so that it would be well into April before they could start, if not May.

Unless the tests with the NC-1 at Rockaway have indicated that that particular machine is not sufficiently airworthy, it is difficult to see why it cannot start in May, if not in April. The NC-1 is not only the largest naval seaplane, the largest Government plane of any type owned by the United States Government, but it has already given a good account of itself on various voyages.

LONDON, March 18.—A telegram from Paris says Lieutenant Fontan, who plans a flight from Cape Dakar, Senegambia, to Pernambuco, Brazil, left Villacoublay for Dakar on Sunday, but was compelled to land near Romorantin, southeast of Blois, because of a cracked cylinder.

It is said that he is now in Paris and intends to start once more for Dakar in a few days.

CROWDER FLIES TO CUBA.

Reception Plans Upset by Seaplane Journey from Key West.

Copyright, 1919, by The New York Times Company.
Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

HAVANA, March 18.—The rival political factions in Cuba had planned an imposing reception tomorrow in honor of Major Gen. Enoch Crowder on his expected arrival on the Florida steamer, but their plans were spoiled by the General's arrival this afternoon in a hydroaeroplane, having flown over from Key West.

A cable message shortly before General Crowder's arrival announced his departure from Key West. Several officials, and even some members of the Liberal Party, including Dr. Alfredo Zayas, hastened to the wharf to welcome the man whose coming is believed to have great possibilities for Cuba.

General Crowder went immediately to the Hotel Inglaterra and refused to make any appointments, saying that he was too tired after his flight.

The American public eat too few vegetables. Their salt and bulk, or "roughage" as some call it, are most valuable for digestive troubles.

CHILDS Vegetable Dinners are prepared for those who would "eat and grow thin" as well as those who would "eat and grow fat".

If too fat, eat carrots (excellent for constipation), onions (excellent for colds and skin disorders) and cabbage (excellent for the blood).

If too thin, eat potatoes (rich in starch), string beans (rich in protein), beets (rich in sugar) and turnips (a general tonic).

Your choice of any three of the above vegetables—deliciously cooked and temptingly served in generous portions—constitutes a Vegetable Dinner at CHILDS.

NEW YORK TROOPS BACK ON WARSHIP

Missouri Brings Home Machine Gunners Who Fought with 27th Division.

PROPELLER CATCHES TUG

Mishap at Pier Nearly Overturns Craft—Europa Also In with 1,368.

The United States battleship Missouri and the transport Europa, which arrived yesterday from France with 2,250 troops, were delayed by the fog outside Sandy Hook in the early morning. Just as the warship was making fast at Pier 1, Hoboken, at 1:30 P. M. one of the army tugs got too close up to the stern and had her bow lifted out of the water by the port propeller of the Missouri. The crew of the tugboat was ready to jump, but the craft speedily righted herself. Officers of the battleship said that two of the blades of the port propeller were bent through hitting the tug and she would have to go to drydock for repairs.

Among the 1,368 troops on the Europa, from Marseilles, were the 306th Tank Brigade Corps, 66 officers and 1,306 men, and three detachments of the 305th Tank Brigade, composed of 6 officers and 282 men, as well as a number of casuals.

Several officers from both brigades had received Distinguished Service Crosses. Among these was Lieut. Harold J. Ash, 1,793 Amsterdam Avenue, New York. He was a student at Princeton University, class of 1920, when he joined the French Army in 1917, and was transferred to the American Army in March, 1918, when the Tank Corps reached France.

— On Oct. 2 last Lieut. Ash went out with a battalion of tanks in a small tank driven by Sergeant Harley M. Nichols of Minneapolis. The tank fell into a ditch, Lieutenant Ash said, and before they could extricate it a German .77 shell struck the motor and put it out of commission. The Lieutenant and the Sergeant stopped with the tank for five hours, working the small guns, and managed to put a machine-gun nest out of action.

Later, when the fire of the enemy had died away, the two Americans crawled from one shell hole to another toward their own lines. Lieutenant Ash was wounded by shrapnel in the right shoulder and was hit by two machine-gun bullets.

The battleship Missouri had 775 officers and men, of whom 24 officers and 724 men were attached to the 106th Machine Gun Battalion, including 22 officers and 651 men from New York, Brooklyn and Long Island. The troops on the warship were under the command of Major Nathaniel A. Eggleston, of Elizabeth, N. J. While in France the battalion was commanded by Col. Mortimer D. Bryant of Brooklyn.

The battalion went to France on May 24 last year and after undergoing training in the field they were sent to join the 27th Division in the attack on the Hindenburg line and took part in the heavy fighting from Sept. 26 to Oct. 1 at Ronssoy, Picardy, and after five days' rest they joined the 30th Division at Roissigny and took part in two battles there. Their casualties were 17 killed and 150 wounded.

The transport Walter A. Luckenbach with 2,552 troops from Bordeaux did not dock in Hoboken until after dark, and had considerable difficulty in getting into the pier on account of the number of vessels there. She narrowly missed colliding with the transport Calamares.

Among the troops who will be landed from it this morning are the 40th Division Headquarters and Postal Detachment, the 26th Engineers Detachment, and the 160th Infantry Detachment, consisting of 16 officers and 1,449 men. There are also 258 sick and wounded, with a number of casuals. The troops were in command of Colonel Henry H. Brown of Sacramento, Cal.

The United States cruisers Charleston and Seattle will arrive this forenoon with troops at Hoboken, and the Harrisburg will dock at Hoboken late in the afternoon.

HOLIDAY FOR 27TH PARADE.

Aldermen Take Action—Gen. O'Ryan Issues Final Order to Troops.

Upon request of Mayor Hylan the Aldermen voted yesterday to designate Tuesday, March 25, as a holiday in honor of the 27th Division. The resolution urged all citizens to honor the soldiers who are to parade Fifth Avenue that day, and stipulated that all city employes should be absent from duty, with pay.

A resolution was proposed by William F. Quinn calling upon the members to give up their seats in the municipal grand stand to wounded soldiers. President Moran spoke of the charges that many tickets had been obtained by Aldermen for their constituents. Alderman William C. Robeson moved that the resolution be referred to a special committee.

A final general order to the troops instructing them in the details of the parade was sent to all commanding officers yesterday by General O'Ryan. The infantry regiments will be divided into units of half battalions, and these will march in close formation, with four squads to the line. Every infantry regiment thus will be broken into six marching units, with twenty-five yards intervening between the units, and the same space will be kept between other units throughout the parade.

All the soldiers will wear helmets, overcoats, rolled puttees, with gas masks and full canteens slung at their belts. Bayonets will be fixed, and guides are to be thrown out at the right of the marching columns to keep the lines straight and to order the bayonets at even level.

"The military discipline and spirit which has brought this division its continued succes and the respect of the world will be on exhibition in this parade," said General O'Ryan in the order. "There will be no chewing gum, no conversation in the ranks, no recognition of relatives, friends, or acquaintances while marching at attention. No flowers, ribbons, or unauthorized badges or decorations of any kind will be worn."

These rules will not be effective while the troops are at rest. It is commanded that a period of five minutes shall be allowed for rest at each hour and half hour. The entire procession will halt and the men will be at ease. It is estimated that the units will require about four hours to pass a point, although they will have no artillery, trains, or heavy equipage of any kind. General O'Ryan will review the division at 110th Street and Fifth Avenue, and the official reviewing party will be in front of the Metropolitan Museum.

Final assignment of troops to the armories when they come to this city for the parade has been made by Captain E. H. Kent, Adjutant of the 107th Infantry. They are:

At the 22d Regiment Armory, Fort Washington Avenue and 168th Street—102d Engineers, 54th Infantry brigade headquarters, 102d Sanitary Train, Mobile Ordnance Repair Shop, and the Engineer Trains.

At Squadron A Armory, Madison Avenue and Ninety-fourth Street—105th Machine Gun Battalion.

At 8th Coast Defense Command Armory, Jerome Avenue and Kingsbridge Road, the Bronx—108th Infantry and 102d Ammunition Train.

9th Coast Defense Command Armory, 125 West Fourteenth Street—104th Field Artillery.

7th Regiment Armory, Park Avenue and Sixty-sixth Street—1st Battalion of the 107th Infantry.

47th Regiment Armory, 355 Marcy Avenue, Brooklyn—106th Field Artillery.

1st Cavalry Armory, 1,579 Bedford Avenue, Brooklyn—104th and 106th Machine Gun Battalions.

2d Field Artillery Armory, Franklin Avenue and 166th Street, the Bronx—52d Artillery Brigade Headquarters.

The employes of the William H. Todd Shipbuilding Corporation continued their volunteer work yesterday on the grandstand in Prospect Park West, Brooklyn, for the use of the relatives of the Brooklyn soldiers in the 27th Division, who will parade there on March 24.

General O'Ryan gave out a letter received yesterday from Major Gen. James D. McLachlan, attached to the British Embassy at Washington. General McLachlan praised the valor of the 27th, and continued:

"This war has demonstrated the great value of the National Guard Divisions of the United States, and which corresponds to the Territorial Division in England. In cases where large armies have to be raised on very short notice both the National Guard Divisions in this country and the Territorial Divisions in England have given their respective War Departments the foundation upon which [illegible] build. Both the National Guard Divisions and the Territorial Divisions showed in the field their splendid fighting qualities. As a particular instance of this the 27th Division, United States Army, and the British 51st Division may be noted. The 27th Division is so well known in the United States that every one knows their famous record; the 51st British Division, which I have mentioned above, was the Highland Territorial Division before the war and has achieved great fame in the war."

In addition to the Australians who will march in the parade, the Red Cross Workers who served with the 27th under command of Captain Stephen N. Bobo will have their place in the line.

ARMY CUT 1,402,351 SINCE THE ARMISTICE

2,268,537 Still in Service—470,736 of General Pershing's Force Sent Home.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—The strength of the American Army on March 15 was 2,268,537, it was announced today, a decrease of 1,402,351 since the signing of the armistice.

A War Department statement reported 1,508,133 officers and men, exclusive of 24,000 marines, in Europe—France, Germany, and Russia. In the United States there were 640,013 and at sea 64,203. The force in Siberia numbered 8,970, with 47,218 in the insular possessions.

A total of 470,736 officers and men of the American Expeditionary Force had sailed for home up to March 13. That number represented 24 per cent. of the strength of General Pershing's forces on Nov. 11 and left 1,478,580 in France.

Of the total returned home or on the way 176,516 were casuals, including sick and wounded. Of 687,074 infantry in France in November, only 89,494 had been returned, while the field artillery figures showed 73,058 sent home out of 213,846.

Will Spend $6,500,000 on Vocational Training for Young Veterans.

MELBOURNE, March 18.—The Australian Cabinet has approved a plan for the expenditure of $6,500,000 in the extension of vocational training to returning soldiers who were under 20 years of age at the time of enlistment. An earlier scheme for vocational training applied only to those who had no trade before the war.

It is estimated that the cost of training and sustenance will be about $750 a man. It is believed that only about half of the 17,000 Australians eligible will take advantage of the plan, which is to extend over three years.

SOLDIERS' LIFE INSURANCE.

Glass Approves Plan for Conversion of Wartime Policies.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Secretary Glass today approved regulations governing the conversion to standard forms of life insurance policies of all wartime term insurance taken out by soldiers and sailors. After conversion this insurance will be known as Government life insurance.

The forms of policies which may be had in exchange for the wartime term insurance are: Ordinary life, twenty payment life, thirty payment life, twenty-year endowment, thirty-year endowment, and endowment payable at age of 62.

The premium rates for these converted policies are lower than those charged by private insurance companies. The policies provide for cash and loan values, paid up and extended insurance, and a monthly income for life in the event that the policy holder becomes totally and permanently disabled. All of these policies are incontestable from date of issue and are free from restrictions as to residence, travel, or occupation. The holders will be eligible to share in and receive dividends from gains and savings, and the proceeds of the policies are exempt from all taxation. Premiums will be payable monthly, but may be paid annually, semi-annually, or quarterly.

Secretary Glass expressed the opinion that "the unusual values and liberal provisions of the new forms of Government life insurance policies would encourage all holders of wartime term insurance to convert as rapidly as their financial circumstances will permit, and in any event to continue without fail the largest possible proportion of their present insurance."

IN America as in England, Aquascutum apparel is the accepted fashion of smart women.

Smartness has always been the chief characteristic of London-made out-door apparel—a smartness which is unflagging from the selection of the fabrics to the last stitch of the skilled tailoring.

With their easy, breezy style and swinging lines, Aquascutums are recognized everywhere as real English thoroughbreds. Aquascutums are warm without weight—smart in fair weather—indispensable on showery days. The colors range from deep wood-browns to soft grey-greens with dashes and flashes of bright colors, cleverly overlaid, until they are rich and harmonious in effect.

Exceeding the Limit

The New York Times regrets the disappointment to advertisers who do not find their announcements in The Times as ordered. The demand for space is so great in these days of the making of world history that it is frequently impossible to include all the advertising offered for a given day, as The Times is limited to twenty-four pages on weekdays.

Today 24 columns of advertisements are omitted and 110 columns printed.

There is reasonable assurance that all advertising accepted will be published on Saturday, Sunday or Monday, but it is difficult to give promise of publication on other days of the week.

SWANN TO LOOK INTO ANTI-RED MILLION

Invites Clyde P. Steen to Call and Tell About Program to Collect Fund to Kill Bolshevism.

WANTS DETAILS OF PLAN

Merely Seeks, He Says, to Let Mr. Steen Demonstrate That the Scheme Is Worthy Public Support.

District Attorney Swann announced last night that he would begin today an investigation of the organization formed under the auspices of the National Association of City Editors to fight Bolshevism in this country to finance which the organization sought a fund of $1,000,000. Mr. Swann said he had directed that an invitation be sent to Clyde P. Steen, the President of the National Association of City Editors, to call at his office today and talk over with him the $1,000,000 campaign and other matters connected with the scheme to eradicate Bolshevism.

"Now, make it very plain," said the District Attorney, "that I am not impugning the motives of Mr. Steen or of any one else connected with this anti-Bolshevist organization. I am actuated simply by a sense of duty to the public. If these men are soliciting a fund of $1,000,000 I want to know all about it, and I shall seek to ascertain how the money is being collected, who will have the custody of it, and how and by whom it will be expended. The people who are asked to contribute to this rather large sum are entitled to know all about the organization that they are asked to support and if the proposal is laudable Mr. Steen should have no difficulty in convincing me of that fact."

The All American Association, or the "Three A's," as its sponsors call it, was to be incorporated at Albany yesterday, according to a statement made by Mr. Steen on Monday. Yesterday afternoon he said it would be incorporated before the end of the week. This is the organization which is to direct the anti-Bolsheviki campaign, and which Mr. Steen says is the successor of the All-American Anti-Bolsheviki Campaign Association, which was the original association organized under the auspices of the National City Editors' Association "to kill Bolshevism and keep it killed." Among the men who are named as prospective incorporators are John Wesley Hill, Newton W. Gilbert, Grant Whistlar, and Mr. Steen.

The men who have been asked to serve on the Advisory Committee of the new All-American Association include forty-seven Governors of States, more than a score United States Senators, prominent churchmen including Cardinal Gibbons, Charles E. Hughes, Otto H. Kahn, and more than 100 others of equal prominence. All of these men, it was said at the headquarters of the association at the Waldorf-Astoria, were members of a similar committee which advised the parent anti-Bolshevik organization. Mr. Kahn said yesterday that the telegram asking him to serve on the original committee was signed by Senator Harding of Ohio, and named many prominent persons as members of the committee. He therefore consented to allow the use of his name. Other prominent men, including Senator Wolcott of Delaware, are known to have allowed the use of their names under the same circumstances as did Mr. Kahn.

Assemblyman McDonald Misquoted.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 18.—By inadvertence improper construction was placed on a statement by Assemblyman Thomas J. McDonald of the Bronx, appearing in THE NEW YORK TIMES, in connection with a story on his resolution, introduced in the Assembly, calling upon Mayor Hylan's committee to make proper provision for veterans of the civil war to see the parade of the 27th Division in New York on March 25. Mr. McDonald was improperly quoted as saying that the resolution was primarily to forestall the "grabbing" tactics of the Aldermen in relation to obtaining seats in the grand stand.

saying that Dr. Wilkins had a stepdaughter who lived there. He gave her name as Mrs. R. D. Shepherd, who, he said, was a daughter of Wilkins's second wife, Mrs. Susanna Kirkland Wilkins, now dead. She was known on the stage as Odette Tyler, he said.

The District Attorney scouted the idea that Dr. Wilkins may have committed suicide.

"I doubt it," he said.

A Coroner's inquiry into the circumstances surrounding the death of Mrs. Wilkins was begun yesterday at Lynbrook by Justice Neu. The first witness was Max Mayer, a Manhattan glove manufacturer, who has a Summer home at Long Beach a few doors from the Wilkins house. He told of Dr. Wilkins coming to his home the night of the murder.

"We were upstairs," Mr. Mayer testified, "when I heard a knock at our front door. I opened the door and found Dr. Wilkins standing there. His derby hat was knocked in on the left side and in a broken condition. His overcoat was torn on the left side. A split ran from the upper pocket downward. He spoke quickly and with apparent agitation. He said, 'Mr. Mayer, there have been burglars in my house. Mrs. Wilkins is lying in a pool of blood. They knocked me down and took my watch and chain and my pocketbook. Get help.'"

Mr. Mayer said that as he had no telephone in his home he went to the house of Mrs. Catharine Schubert near by and repeated Wilkins's story to a medical officer of the U. S. Army Hospital in the Hotel Nassau who was at the Schuberts, who telephoned to the police and to the hospital. Both started for the scene of the murder.

"I heard Mrs. Wilkins moaning," he went on. "We didn't go far, as the patrol wagon was backing in. Dr. Wilkins was there. He was talking, but I did not hear what he said."

Soon after he returned to his own house Mr. Mayer said he saw Dr. Wilkins walking by on the opposite side of the street. Mr. Mayer's sister called to the doctor and he came across the street. Wilkins, Mayer testified, said that he wanted to go to the hospital. The witness then sent for a taxicab to take Dr. Wilkins to the Hotel Nassau.

F. K. W. Duisberg, a brother-in-law of Mr. Mayer, testified that he had heard what he described as peculiar sounds in the neighborhood a short time prior to the appearance of Dr. Wilkins at the Mayer home. He was in the cellar when he first heard the sounds and said he raised the cellar window to try to discover from whence they came.

"It sounded like the cry of a cat or dog," he said.

Mrs. Catharine Schubert of 141 Beach Street testified concerning the visit of Mayer to her home and identified the medical officer as Lieutenant James Mangano.

Saw Lights in Vacant House.

Miss Clara Duisberg, a daughter of F. K. W. Duisberg, testified that on the night of the murder she was in her bedroom at 9:23 o'clock when she saw a flashlight in an upper room of an unoccupied house, owned by Mayer, her uncle, which is diagonally across the street from the Wilkins home. As she and a maid were watching the manoeuvring of the light they heard a knock on the front door. The person who knocked, she said, was Dr. Wilkins.

Miss Duisberg was still on the witness stand when Justice Neu adjourned the hearing indefinitely, pending the action of the Grand Jury.

Louis G. Friess, attorney for the missing physician, issued a statement yesterday in which he asserted that the proceedings against his client had been "irregular and peculiar." His statement, in part, was as follows:

"The proceeding in this case has been irregular and peculiar. Dr. Wilkins called me into the house four days after the crime was committed, and after he had repeated his story many times to officials and had given them full access to his home I informed him of his rights, but he insisted upon repeating his story whenever questioned, saying he had nothing to hide.

"At the autopsy he was questioned, which proceeding was irregular and, to say the least, bad form, but the doctor answered all questions put to him. On Friday of last week I was requested to have the doctor at the Coroner's inquest the following morning in Mineola, presumably as a witness. I agreed to have him there without subpoena.

Last Will Produced.

"The next morning the inquest was adjourned, and the District Attorney requested an interview with Dr. Wilkins, which was granted willingly. Thereafter I was questioned by the District Attorney, but I was unable to furnish him with any further information. From the line of questioning, however, I learned that the theory of the District Attorney was that another will was being withheld. It was for this reason that I decided that the unwitnessed paper in my possession should be brought to the attention of the authorities, and I had an interview with the District Attorney at Port Washington."

Mr. Friess pointed out that the new paper or will, as he expressed it, which he turned over on Sunday to the District Attorney, was legally worthless. By the terms of this reputed will, which was unwitnessed, Dr. Wilkins received only a small part of his wife's property. Commenting on this, Mr. Friess said:

"If the District Attorney believes there is sufficient motive to commit this crime for the possession of a few thousand dollars, when during the lifetime of his wife he had full possession and enjoyment of her entire property, that is his affair."

The attorney declined to make any further statements in regard to his client.

For Speed in Filing and Finding

LETTER cabinets which are merely large-scale rubbish drawers and fire-feeders are out of place in modern business—BUT—they are not so uncommon as you might suppose.

Stop a moment and think—can you call for any paper and have it brought to you in three minutes?—are your files of old letters food for flames or are they safe behind steel?

Van Dorn Steel 4-Drawer Letter Files are not only cleanly, fire-resisting and handsome, but their cost is surprisingly low compared with their service. Let us show you the improvements in modern filing practice both in systems and equipment. Just phone for representative or visit our exhibit.

Welch's Grapelade and Chicken

THERE'S no chick sweeter than tender young roast chicken, unless it is chicken en casserole cooked in its own delicious juice, or fricasseed chicken with fluffy baking-powder biscuit swimming in thick gravy. But if you want your palate to purr with contentment, serve Grapelade, "that pure grape spread," with your bird.

Grapelade is all the richness and juice of whole grapes, minus seeds and skins and grit-like acid crystals, cooked with pure sugar till it has just the right consistency.

"Good" only partially describes Grapelade. You will be glad when you have bought your first jar of this wholesome, nutritious food of your grocer. 15-oz. Glass Jar, 35c.; 25-oz. Enamel-lined Tin, 50c.

CLEVELAND'S POLICY EXTOLLED BY WOOD

Says Former President Stood For Pure Americanism and Monroe Doctrine.

HOLD MEMORIAL SERVICES

General Declares Cleveland Recognized Need for Pitiless Publicity on Public Questions.

The memory of Grover Cleveland, twice President of the United States, was honored by appropriate ceremonies yesterday on the eighty-second anniversary of his birth. A noonday memorial service was held at St. Paul's Chapel, and in the afternoon memorial exercises were held under the auspices of the Grover Cleveland Association at the New Amsterdam Theatre. The speakers at the exercises were General Leonard Wood, commander of the Central Department of the United States Army, who was appointed by Cleveland an army Surgeon in 1886; Judson Harmon, former United States Attorney General, and Chief Magistrate William McAdoo, who was Assistant Secretary of the Navy under President Cleveland. The speakers were given a luncheon at the Hotel Astor before the exercises, which were presided over by George F. Parker, who was Mr. Cleveland's secretary.

In his address Chief Magistrate McAdoo paid a tribute to Mr. Cleveland's family life, and his mention of Mrs. Grover Cleveland Preston, who was seated in a box with her daughters, evoked applause from the audience. Among those on the stage were General George A. Wingate, Charles B. Alexander, Jacob H. Schiff, General Thomas H. Barry of the Department of the East, and Frederic Courtland Penfield, former United States Ambassador to Austria-Hungary.

"In the opinion of Grover Cleveland, there was no room in America for those who were part American and part something else," said General Wood. "Like Roosevelt, he was intolerant of shams, detested snobs, and hated insincerity.

"With him language was intended to convey ideas and not to confuse the people. He was not an adept at verbal messages. He believed in the Monroe Doctrine absolutely, and in the last words of his inaugural address he said the genius of our institutions forbade any departure from the foreign policy commended by our history, traditions, and prosperity. He rejected the policy of our snaring in foreign broils and ambitions upon other continents, and repelled their intrusion here. He believed in friendship with all nations, entangling alliances with none. He believed in national spirit, and was not a believer in an uncertain weak internationalism of a moment.

Wanted Pitiless Publicity.

"Grover Cleveland met issues as they arose, never shrinking from them. He realized that in a democracy there must be a free press, honest criticism, and pitiless publicity; that people must have the facts if they are to act intelligently. Like Lincoln, he had absolute confidence in the good sense and judgment of the people once they understood the issues before them. He realized that without public opinion little could be accomplished.

"He believed in a square deal for labor, in establishing the fullest and best possible understanding and co-operation between labor and capital. He believed in voluntary arbitration of their differences, and to that end he proposed, in his message of April, 1886, that steps be taken looking to the establishment of a Federal settlement of differences between employers and employed. He was also keenly interested in protecting not only the country, but labor, against the inroads of an undesirable immigration."

Mr. Harmon said:

"Cleveland's second term brought out clearly his high qualities. He had left the finances in a sound condition, but had at once to take unusual measures to save the country's credit. He had to force the repeal of the law for the purchase and unlimited coinage of silver, which was debasing the currency. He had to send the army to put down riotous resistance to the carriage of the mails and commerce and defiance of the Federal courts. And he did it against the violent protests of the Governor of Illinois and others who denied the right of the United States to enforce its own authority. He made the strongest country in the world respect our traditional policy in Venezuela. All this he did unmoved by abuse, misrepresentation of his motives and forecasts of disaster. We do not often require warlike qualities in our Presidents. We pray that the nations may so unite for peace that henceforth we shall require those qualities less than ever. But we do sorely need, every year and every day, diligent, fearless, intelligent, and unselfish defense of the true welfare of the people, by rulers who do not adopt policies because they may bring transient popularity but because they are right. Mr. Cleveland was one of the finest examples of this that our Presidents have afforded."

ISAAC M. WISE FUND GROWS.

Workers to Report on Centenary Campaign Today.

Reports of more than 100 workers of the Isaac M. Wise Centenary Fund Campaign will be heard at 5 o'clock this afternoon at the Hotel Biltmore. It will be the first meeting of the teams engaged in obtaining New York City's quota of $100,000 toward the national fund of $300,000, which is sought for the support of the union of American Hebrew Congregations and the Hebrew Union College of Cincinnati, both founded by the late Isaac M. Wise.

Addresses will be made by Mrs. William D. Sporborg and Daniel P. Hays. Mrs. Abram I. Elkus, wife of the United States Ambassador to Turkey, will be the hostess. Mrs. Phillip J. Goodhart will be temporary Chairman and Moses H. Moses, acting President of Temple Emanu-El, permanent Chairman. The indications yesterday were that a number of the congregations had obtained 50 per cent. of their quota, while one congregation, it was said, has obtained 75 per cent.

Daniel P. Hays, Chairman of the New York Campaign Committee, made public yesterday the following letter received from Jacob H. Schiff:

> March 17, 1919.
> My Dear Mr. Hays: It is a great gratification to me to know that the actual campaign, begun at the Temple Emanu-El meeting last Sunday, resulted so satisfactorily.
> Personally, I cannot see how any of the many adherents to Reform Judaism in this great city, the numbers of whom must be legion, could possibly justify indifference to this present campaign and fail to make a contribution to the fund needed for the proper conduct of the American Union College, in whose behalf the present effort is being made.
> No one will dispute that we constantly need thoroughly educated Jewish rabbis, as well as a continuous extension of modern synagogue services and Sunday schools, if Judaism is to remain a vital force in our own and the life of our posterity; but unless the union of Hebrew congregations and Union College and its affiliated institutions be properly supported, it can only be a question of time when the interest in our ancient faith by our children and their descendants will fade away and assimilation will follow.
> Isaac M. Wise, of sainted memory, the centenary of whose birth we are celebrating this year, has with his great vision foreseen this, and in founding Union College he erected an institution which, in its graduated rabbis, sends annually a goodly number of Jewish leaders into the land, through whose teachings Judaism in America must be kept alive.
> Let us honor the memory of the great leader in Israel by giving unstinted toward the support of the great college he founded.
> JACOB H. SCHIFF.
> DANIEL P. HAYS, Esq., New York,
> Chairman.
> Isaac M. Wise, Centenary, Times Building, > second floor, New York City.

Mr. Schiff is Treasurer of the Campaign Committee, and checks may be sent to him in care of the committee on the second floor of The Times Building, Times Square, New York.

Relief Drive Ends Tomorrow.

The closing rally of the campaign of the Brooklyn Jewish War Relief Committee will take place tomorrow night at the Unity Club when the Sectional Chairmen, district captains, and workers will gather to make their final returns. At a rally in Flatbush $4,000 was raised last night. A meeting will be held this evening also.

Can your organization STAND a business increase of 200%?

WE are starting out to fill the depleted stocks, the empty shelves, of the country. We curtailed our private buying over eight billion dollars during 1918. We will ADD this value of manufactures to the normal output for the next twelve months.

Europe needs over seven billions a year of our goods for at least two years. South America needs three billions a year. As soon as the amount and terms of the enemy indemnities is settled European buying from us will begin in an enormous volume.

Every dollar brought into this country by foreign trade increases the wealth and buying power of our people. The net profit (the favorable trade balance) on our foreign trade, increases by FOUR TIMES its volume, the ability of the home public to buy YOUR goods. Every new dollar passes from hand to hand in wages, in the purchase of goods, in wages again, and is saved up and reinvested four times a year on the average.

Our favorable trade balance (profit from foreign trade) should be six billions for the next twelve months. This means an INCREASED buying capacity by workers here of twenty-four billions, an amount equal to our TOTAL manufactured products for 1913.

Foreign trade, the replenishment of normal Peace-time stocks, and the increase of domestic buying power, due to both of these, together with our normal growth, will increase the volume of our manufactures for the next twelve months to OVER 200% above our outputs for 1913.

The flood has begun. Now is your chance to begin to wipe out YOUR part of our tax breeding $17,000,000,000 war debt, which will exceed $23,000,000,000 after the next loan. Don't fear to stock up and prepare for orders, expecting labor and commodity prices to drop. They WON'T drop ANY MORE, except in rare instances, for many, many months. Prices will INCREASE after the next Government Loan in April. We shall pretty surely have AT LEAST two billions MORE inflation then, in paper currency and bank credits. Inflation lowers the buying power of money, increases the money cost of goods and labor. NOW is the time to buy. Prices will not be dangerously higher, but PERCEPTIBLY higher, although margins of profit will inevitably be less.

But we don't care about prices so long as we have the necessary trade volume and FULL EMPLOYMENT — and that we SHALL have beyond question.

When you see a good looking husky soldier GRAB him and blend him into your organization before a competitor gets him. Good men will be hard to get.

Plan for foreign trade. Get a list of export commission houses and brokers and see what they offer. Combine with some of your competitors to send salesmen to Europe and South America.

An increase of output for foreign shipment reduces your overhead for domestic production, and every new dollar you bring in is that much more National wealth.

And put Economy and Efficiency into your own business with every ounce of driving power you possess. You have the THREE GREATEST YEARS in your business history before you, but only the most intensive Economy and Efficiency will enable you to profit by them, or EVEN TO SURVIVE the terrific business pace.

EFFICIENCY means MOTOR TRUCKS. ECONOMY means Trucks priced right, built right—to RUN right.

Fulton Trucks are the most economical in first cost. They are priced at $1,850, and that is $475 LOWER than the AVERAGE of the Fulton carrying capacity class, and $1,000 LOWER than ANY truck of nearly equal performance value.

Fulton Trucks COST less because they are simple—because EFFICIENCY and ECONOMY are built right into them.

Save $420 a Year on GAS

Fulton Trucks run from 14 to 17 miles on one gallon of gas. Seventeen is not unusual. Most trucks run six miles on one gallon. Some makers are VERY proud of getting ten miles to the gallon. A Fulton Truck will save you $420 a year over the AVERAGE truck used for 50 miles a day. HOW much do YOUR trucks use NOW? We would like to send you the results of an official test made by the Standard Oil Company which CONSTANTLY re-orders Fulton Trucks because they PAY.

Saving on Oil and TIRES

Fulton Trucks average over 250 miles to a gallon of oil. The average truck gets less than 110 miles to the gallon. Fulton Trucks get 7,000 to 10,000 miles on one set of tires. The AVERAGE truck of the same carrying capacity gets 15% LESS than the Fulton MINIMUM and 20% less than the Fulton average tire mileage.

Fulton Trucks cost 40% LESS in the essentials of operating cost than ANY other make of equal carrying capacity that we know of, and 60% less than SOME that we know of.

If your motor trucks cover, on the average, 50 miles a day, you can have 20 miles of delivery a day made FREE by using Fulton Trucks.

If you use horse trucks you may get 30 miles of deliveries FREE by using Fulton Trucks, and, Brother, we want to mail you RECORDS of this in SERVICE USE. We want to show you that you PAY TWICE the FIRST YEAR for MOST trucks but only ONCE—and THAT at LEAST $475 less—for Fulton Trucks.

A DANGEROUS Waste

Is your fleet 3-ton or 3½-ton trucks? If they are, Brother, LOOK OUT. Service records SHOW beyond any question of doubt that when you buy a 3 or 3½-ton truck at $4,000 or $4,500, you get $4,000 worth ONLY ONCE IN A WHILE. Service records SHOW that 80% of ALL cartage problems are BETTER taken care of by a 1½-ton truck than any other type.

TWO Fulton 1½-ton trucks costing $1,850 each, or $3,700 for the two, will carry 4 tons 50 to 150 miles a day at a FIRST COST of $500 to $1,000 LOWER than a 3 or a 3½-ton truck and at an OPERATING cost far lower.

You can't count on the full load, every minute, all day use, of your 3-ton truck. Deliveries DON'T RUN that way. Your 3-ton truck will be operating at capacity only 20% of the actual 3,000 working hours of the year. It will often be carrying 1½ tons and 2 tons. At other times the 3-ton truck will have more goods to move than it can carry in its maximum number of trips for the day.

Two Places at Once

A 3 or 3½-ton truck CAN'T be in two places at once, but TWO Fulton 1½-ton trucks CAN.

When a truck is not operating it is not COSTING, except for interest and, overhead. Two Fulton trucks, one of them idle half the time, will cost you FAR less for deliveries than ONE 3 or 3½-ton truck operating with PART loads ALL the time—and that's what your big trucks DO NOW.

TWO FULTON 1½-ton trucks will deliver 12,000 ton miles MORE service—more goods—in a year than ONE 3 or 3½-ton truck. The TWO Fultons will cost $500 or $1,000 LESS than your one big truck to buy—will cost you far less to operate and will deliver FAR MORE GOODS in the year.

Put ONE Fulton in service among your big trucks and SEE the saving for yourself. And, Brother, you CAN'T AFFORD NOT to do this NOW.

More Fulton Advantages

Fulton trucks last, LAST. Their freedom from trouble and need of repairs is proverbial throughout the Nation. But if a peevish trolley car sneaks up from behind and wraps your truck around an elevated pillar, THAT truck needs a doctor. REMEMBER Fulton Trucks are built right here in the Port of New York. The FACTORY is here, fifteen great buildings. It is an INESTIMABLE advantage to have the FACTORY where the truck OPERATES.

You have the comfort of knowing that the Fulton Motor Truck Company is the LARGEST manufacturer of exclusively 1½-ton trucks IN THE WORLD. And that it grew to this size through the sheer PERFORMANCE, endurance, strength, overload ability, constant and SUPERIOR mileage — MORE tons of goods delivered per year, GREAT economies of operation over ANY other make of equal or greater carrying capacity—not only great LOWER first cost, but lower FINAL cost and MORE GOODS MOVED.

We want to see you and SHOW you SAVING. We want to PROVE to you that you need to put in ONE Fulton Truck and WATCH THE COSTS COME DOWN. We won't worry about the rest. You will just plain TAKE MORE TRUCKS AWAY from us, just as the greatest industrial enterprises all over the nation are doing every day.

Won't you write us to SHOW you?

Cut out this coupon and start toward a $10,000 saving by sending it to us.

Artillery Officer Gets War Cross for Heroism in Action Near Very.

OTHER NEW YORKERS IN LIST

Sergt. Norwat of Brooklyn Is Mentioned for Gallantry in His Last Battle.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—The Commander in Chief, in the name of the President, has awarded the Distinguished Service Cross to the following-named officers and soldiers for the acts of extraordinary heroism described after their names:

Capt. Marcel Lorans (French,) attached to 42d Division. For extraordinary heroism in action during the battle of the Ourcq, July 23 to Aug. 2, 1918. Capt. Lorans remained constantly in the front line, attaching himself to one battalion after another as they in turn came into the fight, and by his energy and gallantry under fire setting a splendid example to the officers and soldiers of the regiment. Home address, Mme. Lorans, 9 Rue de Langres, Neuf Chateau, Vosges.

First Lieut. Lansing McVickar, 1st Battalion Headquarters, 7th Field Artillery. For extraordinary heroism in action near Very on Oct. 4, 1918. He volunteered and took forward a gun to the aid of the infantry under most hazardous circumstances. Despite the loss of two horses and the wounding of several of his men, he continued until he encountered an enemy barrage, from which it was necessary to take cover. He exposed himself to the barrages on five different occasions to bring in wounded men. Next of kin, L. H. McVickar, Knickerbocker Club, New York, N. Y.

Sergt. Arthur Norwat, deceased, Co. M, 308th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Revillon, France, Sept. 14 and 15, 1918. On Sept. 14 he advanced ahead of his company, and with an automatic rifle single-handed silenced an enemy machine gun nest, capturing the gunner. On the following day, after having assumed command because of the fact that all officers had become casualties, he assembled thirteen men and led them in a charge against superior forces of the enemy, recapturing a trench which shortly before had been taken by the enemy. For the following act of extraordinary heroism in action near Moulin de L'Homme Mort, France, Oct. 7, 1918, Sergt. Norwat is awarded a bar, to be worn with the Distinguished Service Cross: When enemy machine gun fire had checked his attempt to reach companies which had been surrounded by the enemy, Sergt. Norwat sprang upon the parapet, in full view of the enemy and opened fire with an automatic rifle. He continued with this heroic work until he fell mortally wounded. Next of kin, Alfred Norwat, father, 417 South Fourth Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Corporal Julius A. Piazzani, Co. F, 310th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Bois de Loges on Oct. 19, 1918. When machine gun fire had held up the advance of his company and all had intrenched themselves in places of safety Corporal Piazzani noticed a wounded man about 250 yards in front of the line. Voluntarily and without hesitation he went to the side of the wounded man and rendered first aid. Upon his return he advised the stretcher bearers, enabling them to safely bring this man in, thereby saving his life. Next of kin, Mrs. Lavina Piazzani, 518 John Street, West Hoboken, N. J.

Private (First Class) Robert Fazler, Co. L, 312th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action in Grand Pre on Oct. 22, 1918. After delivering a message to his battalion headquarters, passing through the main street of Grand Pre, which was being enfiladed by a terrific enemy fire, Private Fazler went to the rescue of a comrade who had fallen under the direct fire and observation of the enemy, notwithstanding the warning that to go to the man's aid would mean certain death to him. He gave the wounded man first aid treatment and successfully carried him to a place of safety. Home address, Mrs. Elsie Snable, sister, 36½ Bloomfield Avenue, Newark, N. J.

Private (First Class) Joseph T. Angelo, Headquarters Co., 1st Brigade, Tank Corps; United States Army. For extraordinary heroism in action near Cheppy, France, Sept. 26, 1918. Within forty meters of the German machine guns Private Angelo carried his wounded commanding officer into a shell hole and remained with him under continuous shell fire for over an hour, except when he twice carried orders to passing tanks. Next of kin, Tony Angelo, father, Camden Street, Camden, N. J.

Private George K. Hagemeyer, Co. M, 107th Infantry. For extraordinary heroism in action near Bony, France, Sept. 29, 1918. During a period that his company was held up by hazardous enemy fire, Private Hagemeyer acted as stretcher bearer, and, even though wounded and ordered to the rear, he continued in the work of removing the wounded. He remained at his task through the violent fire until he was wounded five times and forced to retire from loss of blood. Home address, Mrs. Anna H. Hagemeyer, mother, 209 West 128th Street, New York, N. Y.

SAIL WITH 30,000 TROOPS.

War Department Announces Largest Homecoming Movement Yet.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Departure from France of approximately 30,000 officers and men of the American Expeditionary Forces—the largest single homeward movement of troops since the cessation of hostilities—was announced today by the War Department. The returning soldiers are aboard two cruisers, the Montana and Pueblo, and fourteen transports. Among the latter is the George Washington, on which President Wilson returned to France.

Troops making up the movement include units of the 37th (Ohio National Guard) and 13th (Tennessee, North and South Carolina National Guard) Divisions, the 72d Coast Artillery Regiment, and a large number of casuals. The transports and cruisers are due to arrive at American ports between March 24 and April 2.

447 MORE OVERSEAS ARMY CASUALTIES ANNOUNCED

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Four army casualty lists, containing 447 names, were given out at the War Department today, bringing the total for the army up to 272,531, including 4,504 prisoners released and returned. No Marine Corps list was issued today, but the total previously reported for that arm was 5,855. The total for the army and marines is now 278,386.

Army lists issued today contained the names of 6 killed in action, 7 died of wounds, 23 died of accident, 109 died of disease, 11 severely wounded, 45 wounded to a degree undetermined, and 246 severely wounded.

Why do Some People Always Wake up Tired

LOTS of folks sleep all night. But they don't rest. They sleep too "light." Or they dream all night and get up in the morning almost as tired as when they went to bed.

Nobody can build up vitality this way.

Many don't get the right kind of sleep because of their beds. You can't get real sound sleep unless your bed invites every nerve and muscle to relax.

Most beds have a loose joint that rattles. Or a spring that creaks. Even the least bit of noise will keep the nerves on edge.

There isn't anybody who wouldn't sleep better if he'd get rid of his old wooden or loose-jointed rattling metal bed and get a Simmons Metal Bed and Slumber King Spring.

THE Simmons Metal Bed is noiseless. It locks firm at the corners. The corner locks are made of pressed steel—have much longer bearing surfaces than the average—fit true and snug—not a creak, rattle, or feeling of unsteadiness.

It is perfectly rigid—moves like one solid piece.

The Simmons Pressed Steel Corner Lock is protected by basic patents. It is the most fundamental invention of modern bed manufacturing—exclusive with Simmons, not to be duplicated or imitated.

And this patented corner lock has made possible the Three-piece Bed—the new Simmons idea—the spring forming a single unit with the side rails.

THE Slumber King Spring really does what you have always wanted a spring to do.

It is a new and advanced idea. It is a system of elastic steel strips with spirals of high test spring wire—so combined that the spring action is equal in all directions.

The Slumber King Spring yields to the weight of the body, but supports it. It fits square on the bed. It does not sag or hump—does not wear soft or slack. It is always a firm, elastic foundation for the mattress. It invites sound, health-giving sleep.

The Slumber King Spring is finished in oxidized silver. It is rust proof. It has no loose ends or rough corners—cannot wear or tear the ticking.

YOU probably are thinking a lot about sleep these trying days.

The Simmons Metal Bed and Slumber King Spring will give you better, sounder sleep than you have ever known.

Many folks can't sleep even in the best bed if they are disturbed by the restlessness of another sleeper.

The Simmons Company makes a specialty of Twin Beds—where one sleeper doesn't disturb the other or draw on the vitality—and you don't "catch" sore throats, coughs or colds.

All the leading merchants have Simmons Beds and Slumber King Springs.

Exquisite designs in brass, or enamel in colors and delicate "wood effects"—prices no higher than for ordinary beds.

If you care to write us, we'll tell you where to get Simmons Beds in this section.

MISERY IN SIBERIA TOLD BY ACKERMAN

Correspondent Who Went to Far East for The Times Speaks at Columbia.

THE RESULT OF BOLSHEVISM

Vladivostok Packed with Refugees—Great Stores of Supplies Lying Out in Weather.

Describing the misery and ruin in Siberia at present in an address in St. Paul's Chapel, Columbia University, yesterday afternoon, Carl W. Ackerman, who was correspondent of THE NEW YORK TIMES in the Far East, said that Siberia was a great human volcano in which the diverse elements of humanity, anarchy, Bolshevism, poverty, wealth were seething in inexpressible confusion, only awaiting the predominance of one to burst forth in a terrific explosion.

"Wherever I went in Siberia, to Omsk, to Tomsk, to Samara, to Tobolsk," Mr. Ackerman said, "I saw the colors, black and white and red. The black was the thousands of people, refugees from all parts of Russia, crowded together in poverty and hunger in cities too small to furnish them even shelters to sleep under. And all around the cities, white was the predominant color of the snow-covered plains. But underneath the dark people, starving in the cities, and out in the plains, was the smoldering red terror of Bolshevism only awaiting a chance to overwhelm all."

Although the misery at Vladivostok was not as great as in the towns in Western Sibera, owing to its occupancy by allied troops, Mr. Ackerman said, nevertheless the confusion was even greater. "Vladivostok was packed and overcrowded with Chinese, Russian, and even Polish refugees," Mr. Ackerman said. Large numbers lived in dilapidated, unheated box cars."

Mr. Ackerman said Vladivostok was a hotbed of German intrigue. All the larger shops were owned by Germans, and until the arrival of American troops the Germans remained in commercial control. Many Russians attributed the shortage of ammunition and supplies, which resulted in the demoralization of the Russian Army on the Eastern front, to the activity of the German colony in Vladivostok in preventing the forwarding of supplies.

Concerning the enormous quantity of supplies shipped to the Czar's Government from America before the revolution, which had piled up in Vladivostok, he said:

"There are thousands of bales of American cotton rotting away in warehouses, and lying in confused piles are machine guns and American machinery of every description which have been ruined by exposure to the weather. There are more than enough steel rails in Vladivostok at present to build another track on the Trans-Siberian Railway all the way from Vladivostok to Petrograd.

"In the market of Omsk I saw refugees, cultured women, from the highest social set in Petrograd, dispute with the humblest peasant women, all clad in the same ragged, dilapidated black clothes. The first revolution resulted in the abolition of rank and turned men into citizens, but the Bolshevist counter-revolution resulted in turning them into animals. Leisure reigns supreme in Omsk and vodka is the only solace for misery and hunger.

"All this misery, all this desolation, is the work of the Bolsheviki. By depriving landowners and even peasants of their property, they have stopped every one from working. There is no security that the farmer will be allowed to live to enjoy what he has raised, and he very naturally refuses to work under those conditions. The few persons that have capital do not dare to invest it, as it will surely be seized, and thus, with a complete stagnation of work, poverty and starvation have grown to their present frightful extent."

PALMER TELLS OF ARGONNE.

Pays Tribute to Work of 27th and 77th in Great Offensive.

Frederick Palmer, war correspondent, who as Lieutenant Colonel on the staff of General Pershing was detailed to travel the fighting front in France, described the battle of the Meuse-Argonne last night in Carnegie Hall, terming it America's greatest fight. He praised the valor of the 27th Division and told of the heroic tenacity of the 77th Division, advancing almost inch by inch through the wooded tangles of the Argonne.

"And so the 27th Division and the 'old Hickory' or 30th Division went over those old battlefields of the Somme," he said, after telling of the preliminaries that brought the ex-National Guardsmen of New York, Tennessee, and the Carolinas to the fringe of fire, "on over the fields where the Canadians earlier in the war had fought so valiantly. Nothing could stop these men of the 27th, and the way they fought was the way men, real men, fight. Nothing halted them—machine guns, rifle, or artillery fire."

"It has been said that New York City sometimes displayed a lack of civic pride," he said in speaking of the work of the Camp Upton organization, "but after the way the 77th Division fought in this war New York should forever have its civic pride established. It was the first National Army division to France and its record after arrival more than justified the honor of being first ordered overseas."

Elizabeth Jones in Songs.

Elizabeth Jones displayed a contralto voice of considerable volume in Aeolian Hall yesterday afternoon when she sang airs of Handel, modern songs of the Russians and French, and an interesting group by Stojowski, a Polish resident of New York, composed to French texts. There were old English and Irish melodies, and three by Americans—Horsman, Gladis Greene, and Brockway. The singer's manager announced that she "has adopted the suggestion of friends to change her name." Of Welsh parentage, she will hereafter be known as Evelyn Gwyn.

New Ruling on Army Bonus.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Regulations governing the payment of $60 bonus to honorably discharged soldiers were amended by the War Department today to permit the acceptance by disbursing officials of a "true copy" of discharge certificates. Heretofore the original certificates were required, but it was found that many soldiers refused to part with the papers, preferring to lose the bonus rather than risk the loss of official evidence of their honorable release from the army. All copies submitted under the amendment authorized today must be certified by the army recruiting officer nearest the soldier's residence.

Accept Odell Report, End His Job.

ALBANY, March 18.—Ice in storage along the Hudson River on Jan. 1 this year amounted to 607,457 tons, it was stated in the report of Benjamin B. Odell, State Ice Controller, in his report submitted to the Legislature today. The report said that the total harvest in 1918 was 2,537,482 tons, the greatest since 1912.

Immediately after receipt of the report, the Senate passed the Sage bill to abolish the office of Ice Controller.

"PATIENCE" SHINES ANEW.

Gilbert and Sullivan's Delightful Opera Well Sung at the Park.

"Patience," esteemed by many the masterpiece of W. S. Gilbert, and the "all-but" (to borrow from this libretto) of Sir Arthur Sullivan, a work not seen in New York for eight years, was revived last night at the Park Theatre by the Society of American Singers. The esthetic cult of Oscar Wilde, which brought this opera into being to its own undoing, has long since passed away, but this amazingly clever satire proved again last night that it is not dependent upon a passing fancy for its place in the public estimation.

"Patience," as Gilbert's biographer remarks, is an almost flawless libretto. To hear the opera again revives the first wonder which greeted this scintillating satire. It is only necessary to recall that it is for this work that Gilbert wrote such famous lines as:

"I am not fond of uttering platitudes, in stained glass attitudes," "An attachment a la Plato for a bashful young potato, or a not too French French bean"; "There is a cobwebby gray velvet with a bloom like cold gravy," and "Oh be early English ere it is too late."

There is that justly celebrated string of couplets including:

"Francesca da Rimini, miminy, piminy,
Je ne sais quoi young man."

And:

"A greenery-yallery, Grosvenor Gallery, Foot-in-the-grave young man."

These will recall to the world of middle years this delightful opera, for Gilbert's lines swept the world. It is enough to say that Sullivan was never more pat with his musical comment than in this work. "Willow, Willow, Waly," the "Magnet and the Churn," the music for the "Young Man" above, are in his very finest vein.

But "Patience," while it is one of the finest of the whole Gilbert and Sullivan cycle, is also perhaps the most difficult for a company of singers, and this the Park Theatre company found out last night. William Danforth showed his high capabilities as a comedian in carrying off the part of Bunthorne with credit. Winifrid Marshall, a newcomer, was the pretty milkmaid, who sang and acted well, but was nervous and tripped once or twice on her high notes.

Kate Condon was a truly comic Lady Jane, accompanying herself on a huge bass viol. Miss Cora Tracy, Gladys Caldwell, a pastmaster of beautiful Gilbertian diction; Miss Brooks Browne, a newcomer among the principals, who looked well and sang sweetly—were the leaders of the "rapturous maidens." The "soldiers of our Queen" were led by Herbert Waterous as the Colonel, John Phillips as the Major, and Harold Blake as the Duke. Bertram Peacock was Grosvenor, Bunthorne's rival, to whom falls a number of the best-known lyrics.

MINISTER ATTACKS STAGE.

Wilton Lackaye Defends It in Debate Before Catholic Actors' Guild.

The stage as it is at present constituted was attacked yesterday by the Rev. John Talbot Smith and defended by Wilton Lackaye in a debate before the Catholic Actors' Guild at a meeting in the Hotel Astor. The Rev. Mr. Smith declared that the modern stage had "lost its soul" and was doomed to fall. He attacked particularly the so-called vice plays.

Mr. Lackaye also assailed the vice plays, but laid them to the audiences rather than to the stage. The stage, he declared, does not determine, but merely reflects, the entertainment desires of the public. Brandon Tynan, President of the guild, presided at the meeting.

Next Week's Metropolitan Operas.

The Metropolitan opera season's final month will be ushered in on Monday next by a repetition of "Oberon," with Rose Ponselle and a cast that has made this world-famous music to English words one of the interesting productions of the year. A Wednesday matinée ("Faust") will present Farrar, Martinelli, Rothier; and for the first time Reinald Werrenrath as Valentin. That evening is "Rigoletto," with Barrientos, Braslau, Hackett, and De Luca. Louise Homer, returning on Thursday, will sing again in "Marta" with Caruso, Barrientos, and Didur. There will be a Friday "Carmen," with Farrar, Sundelius, Martinelli, and Whitehill, and a Saturday matinée "Boheme," Munzo. Romaine, Lazaro, and Scotti, the last named just back from Palm Beach. Matzenauer, Didur, and others will appear March 29 in a popular Saturday night performance of "Boris Godunoff." Mischa Elman will play at next Sunday's concert, and the singers will be Helena Marsh and Charles Hackett.

Jan Chiapusso, Pianist, Plays.

Jan Chiapusso was pianist of the day in Aeolian Hall last evening—"a hundred days, a hundred pianists"—and the strong man from Java, with his inheritance of Holland solidity and calm, bore some marks of distinction among this week's seven or eight in New York. He found congenial introduction in the Bach-Busono toccata, adagio, and fugue in C major, which fitted his straightforward style better than the later Beethoven sonata, Op. 101. There were some Chopin and Debussy, recalling that he had played in Paris when Pugno and Bauer were judges for a prize, and in conclusion the usual display pieces by Balakirev, Liszt, and Strauss-Tausig.

PERSHING REVIEWS THIRD DIVISION

Impressive Military Function on the Rhine—General Presents Numerous Decorations.

COBLENZ, March 17, (Associated Press.)—The men of the 3d Division of the American Army, who fought the Germans on the Marne in the last great German drive, were inspected, reviewed, and presented with decorations by General John J. Pershing this afternoon. The review was held in the great aviation field near Andernach, on the west bank of the Rhine.

Heroes of the fighting at Château-Thierry in July, when the enemy desperately endeavored to break through the allied lines and sweep on to Paris, came, in many instances, ten or fifteen miles for the review and bivouacked along the highway leading to the parade grounds. The reviewing stand was in the centre of the field, the entire division sweeping by on both sides of the Commander in Chief when the bugle sounded "Forward."

In addition to two Congressional Medals of Honor and other American decorations awarded to the 3d Division, a number of French and British medals were presented by General Pershing to men of the 42d Division, who fought with the British in Northern France with the 27th Division. The Medals of Honor were given to Lieutenant George Hays of Okarche, Okla., and Corporal Barklay of Missouri. Brig. Gen. H. G. Bishop received the Distinguished Medal and the Distinguished Service Cross. Colonel William McCleave, Chief of Staff for General Robert L. Howze, also received the Distinguished Service Medal. Eighty-eight Distinguished Service Crosses were given to officers and men of the 3d Division.

At the battle of the Marne General Dickman commanded the 3d Division, and he occupied a place by General Pershing's side today as the troops marched past the reviewing stand. The 12th Aero Squadron took photographs of the troops during the inspection, returned to Coblenz, a distance of more than seven miles, developed the plates, returned and dropped twenty photographs for Generals Pershing, Dickman, and Howze—all in fifty minutes.

PERSHING ON WOMEN'S AID.

Helped Win War, General Said, on Visit to Hospitals.

COBLENZ, March 17, (Associated Press.)—Praise for the part taken by American women in the war was expressed this morning by General John J. Pershing while inspecting five Third Army evacuation hospitals here.

"Without doubt America could not have carried out her part in the conflict as she did if it had not been for the willingness and courage of the nurses and others who came to care for the sick and wounded in France and the loyal support of patriotic women at home," he said. "Despite the fact that America was in the war only a comparatively short time, her medical and hospital service was not excelled by that of any other warring nation."

ROYALTY TO VISIT PERSHING

King and Queen of Belgium Plan Three Busy Days at Chaumont.

CHAUMONT, March 18, (Associated Press.)—King Albert and Queen Elizabeth of Belgium will arrive here tomorrow for a three-day visit to General Pershing. They are expected to make the trip from Brussels by airplane if weather conditions permit.

The King and Queen will go direct to General Pershing's château, a few miles from Chaumont, and will inspect a guard of honor composed of picked troops from the American forces stationed near Chaumont. They will have dinner with General Pershing and will spend the night at the château.

Ernest Gale Hit by Truck; Dies.

YONKERS, N. Y., March 18.—Ernest L. Gale, General Superintendent of the Otis elevator factory in this city, who was struck by an auto truck this afternoon, died tonight in St. John's Riverside Hospital from a fractured skull. Mr. Gale was 57 years of age and lived at 754 Palisades Avenue. The truck was operated by Philip Hersh of 564 South Broadway, who has been arrested on the charge of reckless driving.

INCH JURY DISAGREES.

Second Time No Verdict Is Returned on Extortion Charge.

After deliberating ten hours, the jury which tried Mrs. Betty Inch on a charge of attempting to extort $215 from Eugene P. Herrman of 675 Riverside Drive reported to Clerk William Penney, in the absence of Justice Vernon M. Davis, in the Criminal Branch of the Supreme Court last night, that it was unable to agree on a verdict. This is the second time that a jury has been unable to agree on the guilt or innocence of Mrs. Inch.

It was learned that the jury stood six for conviction and six for acquittal from the first ballot. At the former trial the jury stood eleven to one for conviction. After the jury had announced its inability to reach a decision, Clerk Penney, in accordance with instructions from Justice Davis, formally discharged the twelve men.

Mrs. Inch went back to the Tombs for the night. Arrangements have been made for her release on bail today. Eugene F. McGee of counsel for Mrs. Inch announced that his client would demand a new trial and vindication at the hands of a jury. Assistant District Attorney Alfred E. Talley, who prosecuted the case, said that he had no comment to make.

Grape-Nuts
A Specialized Cereal Food
Builder of Body & Brain
This well planned combination of the best parts of wheat & barley has a delightfully sweet & nut-like flavor.
But the chief reason why you should use Grape-Nuts is for its "building" worth—its real value as a constructor of body tissues for young & old.
Easy to digest, requires no sugar & there's no waste.

THE LEAGUE AND THE TREATY.

The immediate order of business before the Peace Conference at Paris is the completion of work already advanced to the final stage. The draft of the preliminary treaty with Germany is to be prepared for signature, the League of Nations Constitution is to be annexed to it; the treaty, or protocol of peace, will then be ready for the signatures of the representatives of Germany. There is no apparent reason, certainly no reason visible at this distance from Paris, why these formalities should consume ten days. Dispatches received less than a week ago gave rise to the hope that the treaty might be signed by the 20th; the date now mentioned is the 29th. We may be sure that the members of the Conference share the desire of the peoples of all civilized nations for the earliest possible conclusion of peace. Their own observation of conditions that prevail in many, if not all, of the nations recently engaged in the war must have impressed upon them a due sense of the need of immediate peace.

There is agreement as to the structural principles of the League of Nations. It has been agreed that it shall be a part of the Peace Treaty. Necessarily, there will be changes in the language of the League draft; these changes will be made in the final revision. The foundation principles of the League will not be changed, as they have already been accepted. The changes of phrase can be made between the signing of the preliminary treaty and the drawing up of the definitive Treaty of Peace. The preliminary treaty, or protocol, like the armistice, will not require the assent of the home Governments of its negotiators.

At the present moment we in this country are hearing much from the opponents of the League of Nations. Their speech outruns their thought, and they are making some pretty serious mistakes—notably in openly angling for the support of the traditional enemies of England. The necessary consequences of that branch of their tactics, if they are so unwise as to persist in it, would be to disturb the very friendly relations now existing between this country and Great Britain. We doubt whether they will wish to go so far as that. They are reckoning altogether without the people, and there is not the slightest reason to doubt that the great mass of the people desire the organization of the League of Nations. They will insist upon its acceptance with the treaty by the Senate.

Opponents of the League have quite lost sight of the fact that one of our great objects in going to war was to make it impossible that there should be another such war. There is no way to make that end secure save by the League of Nations. They point out no other way. The choice they offer is between well-assured peace and the certainty of future war. The people have already made their choice.

A LESSON LEARNED.

The expected has happened. Sinn Fein agitators say that they are going to follow the policy of the militant suffragettes. Who could have doubted it? The chief objection to the militant suffragette movement from the beginning has been, not that a few wild women should have smashed shop windows and tried to break up a Derby race, but that the lesson they were teaching to the lawless elements of their nation and the world was bound to be taken up. It was a foregone conclusion from the very time that the first militant hurled a brick through a grocery window that in course of time the I. W. W. and every other anarchistic organization would do the same thing. The suffragettes showed them the way.

Mrs. PANKHURST did her best after the war began to calm down her followers and restore decency to their campaign. It was more than she could do. The lesson of lawlessness had been taught. If a militant suffragette could heave half a brick through a window, why shouldn't an anarchist do it—or a Socialist, or, for that matter, a Republican or a Democrat, a Liberal or a Conservative?

The inevitable answer has come. The only wonder is that it did not come long before. The Sinn Feiners see no reason why they should not adopt Mrs. PANKHURST's tactics. Mr. HAYWOOD's proselytes see no reason either. What is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander. Is there any reason why Jill should throw stones through the window of a bakery and Jack should not throw stones through the window of a factory?

The suffragettes have opened a larger window than they can close. It is all very well for their better friends, such as the National Association for Woman Suffrage, to dissociate themselves from these radicals and disavow, as well they may, any connection with that kind of incendiarism. Nevertheless, the fact remains that the militants have shown the way to anarchy and riot, have opened a road which no rioter can miss, and that on their shoulders rests some of the blame for whatever of violence may be manifested in the future by any crew which cares to take a lesson from their extravagance.

GOVERNMENT RAILWAY CONTROL.

Sir ERIC GEDDES's account of the railway situation in England brings out a feature of Government operation of prophetic interest to ourselves. The financial experience of both countries is so similar that only passing mention need be made of the fact that "railways which cost the coun-" try [England] $100,000,000 a year "were earning practically no in-" come." As England has less than one-tenth of our railway mileage, the deficit is small on our standards, but sufficient to lend weight to our own experience. Whoever longer doubts that Government operation is expensive in money and unsatisfactory in service prefers theory to facts, and must be left under his delusion. Also it is a detail that the British deficit, like our own, is due to the necessity of increasing wages faster than rates. The result is thus expressed by Sir ERIC: "The Government must in "some form or other have a say in "the conditions under which labor "works and with regard to the dis-"cipline to be expected in trade "unions." That is to say, the cost of Government operation becomes so unendurable that sooner or later it brings Government and labor face to face.

Contention between labor and capital is bad enough. Collision between Government and labor is worse, for there remains no disinterested party to decide differences of opinion regarding both matters of money and matters of policy. Thus both in England and the United States the Government confronts the unions on a question of what is called nationalization in England and Government operation here. Those questions are not suitable for decision by a strike. If there should be a strike on such demands, the Government ought to have a free hand to act in the public interest, and not as a party responsible for causing the conditions against which the workers contend.

In England and the United States the taking over of the railways by the Government has disturbed that confidence which is desirable in all cases when the Government is one of the parties. On the part of capital there has resulted distrust of Government's ability to improve upon private operation in equality of conditions. On the part of labor there has resulted distrust of Government akin to distrust of capital. A day or two ago the cable brought to THE TIMES an interview with a labor Commoner, an official of the General Workers' Trade Union, fresh from an audience with the King. Commoner TOOTHILL said to our correspondent: "The "workers are so suspicious they think "that whenever one of their class "gets talking with a man in a "starched shirt and good clothes he "gets nobbled." Testifying before our Senate committee, Mr. GARRETSON, President of the Order of Railroad Conductors, said: "Suspicion is en-"tertained by labor of things it does "not understand." When labor becomes suspicious of Government the ground is laid for misunderstandings, and in this railway matter it is not confined to the business of the railways. It takes the form of "social unrest," and action by labor going far outside of railway business. It is bad enough to have an economic question taken into politics, with a large fraction of the electorate voting on suspicion and interest rather than on the public good. It is worse when the result of making the railway question political is to attack the foundations of the Government.

Those who doubt that this is the result are blind to the signs of the times. The Labor Party is England's second largest, practically the Opposition. Its program is frankly Socialist in the manner of the new socialism, of which MARX never dreamed. In this respect England is more advanced than the United States, but we get our warnings day by day. Here as in England the nationalization of the railways is the entering wedge. In essence that movement is not one of labor against capital, but of labor against Government, using Government as a tool until it is abandoned. When labor attacks Government it may be expected that Government will find its defenders. In England they have taken the form of a National Unity movement to prevent reconstruction taking the form of revolution. If our labor takes the British path it may find it leading to the same result—union against it of many who have no such wish, but would prefer to see labor co-operating with its friends, picking them out for itself, and deserving their confidence by showing the same loyalty to our institutions in peace that it showed in war so abundantly. American labor has not been Socialist, and there is little warmth between Mr. GOMPERS and the British labor movement. Our Federation is cordially defiant of socialism of the German sort, and should be like-minded toward any native variety.

TENDERNESS TO THE I. W. W.

Twelve of the I. W. W. members brought here from the West by the Government to be deported have been released by Commissioner General of Immigration CAMINETTI on their own recognizance. He says that the case against them is not as clear as it might be; that their release is to be regarded as a parole; and that they will be arrested and deported in the future should their conduct justify such action. No doubt his decision was inspired by the best intentions. He was not fully persuaded of the guilt of these men, so they get the benefit of the doubt. The twelve were members of the I. W. W., a society which advocates and practices sabotage and violence. Their defense was that they do not believe in those of its doctrines that are illegal. They swore again and again that they had not advocated the destruction of property. Some of them, it is said, could not read. A man does not have to read to learn the amiable tenets of the I. W. W. He can hear them by word of mouth. If he does not believe in the I. W. W.'s gospel of disorder and destruction, why is he a member of it?

After their return from Ellis Island they were honored by a reception at I. W. W. headquarters. Apparently their release was accepted as a triumph of the Red "cause." Their counsel will try to induce the Government to pay their fare to their homes, if they choose to go there. Whether they return to the West or adorn this city with their presence, they remain I. W. W.s in good and regular standing. Though they repudiate some of its dogmas, their orthodoxy remains unimpaired.

It is hard to understand why a man belongs to an association some of whose main principles he rejects. If a man belongs to an anarchist organization, it is safe to assume that he is an anarchist, unless he is a spy. If an alien member of the I. W. W. is not subject to deportation because he swears or affirms that he does not believe the most vicious and revolutionary of its principles, why should not all of these foreign Reds escape deportation unless they are caught in the act?

In the case of its own citizens, the Government's caution not to injure any of their privileges and rights is natural and proper. In the case of men who are not citizens, who belong to a society that seeks the overthrow of the Government, considerably less forbearance might be expected. Much sedition is heard and tolerated in the name of free speech. Aliens who belong to a society of revolutionists are not entitled to any tenderness from the Government. The courts will have to decide a number of questions in regard to the I. W. W. Meanwhile, it is to be hoped that the undeported twelve will so conduct themselves as to justify Mr. CAMINETTI's indulgence. The path of safety, however, does not lie in mistaken gentleness. When there is doubt, not the alien I. W. W. but the country should have the benefit of the doubt.

BEER IN COURT.

As was expected, the prattle and bluster about "No Beer, No Work," have mostly died away. The labor unions know that the only sensible way of fighting prohibition is by intelligent, orderly, and legal methods. The brewers are advised by Mr. ROOT and Mr. GUTHRIE, illustrious lawyers, that they should test their legal rights by making and putting on sale malt liquors with a content of not more than 2.75 per cent. of alcohol by weight or 3.3 per cent. by volume. In a nutshell, how much alcohol must a beverage contain to be regarded as "intoxicating," under certain acts of Congress and Proclamations of the President? Neither Congress nor the President defines or furnishes a test. It is the Commissioner of Internal Revenue who has taken upon himself, without any authority from Congress, to lay down the law that, "within the intent of the act of Nov. "21, 1918, a beverage containing "one-half of one per cent. of alco-"hol by volume will be regarded as "intoxicating." It is no new thing for administrative officers to add to a law in interpreting it. No inconsiderable and the most vexatious part of Federal statutes is superposed by the regulations of official mandarins.

If and since nothing in the act of Aug. 10, 1917, or of Nov. 21, 1918, gives the Commissioner of Internal Revenue or any other executive officer authority to decide when malt liquors are intoxicating or to fix the amount of alcohol which shall distinguish the non-intoxicating from the intoxicating, the question must be carried into the courts. The brewers will make what they regard as unforbidden beer. The Commissioner of Internal Revenue, insisting that it is forbidden and intoxicating, will interpose. Brewers will bring a suit in equity enjoining him or his agents from such interference. Finally the Supreme Court will give an opinion; and Wets and Drys will know at last what beer is Wet and what beer is Dry.

Since one beer is unlike others in headiness and bite or want of them, since there are weak heads that bow easily to Gambrinus and others that are impregnable to his most repeated and prolonged assaults, the mean, the standard, will be hard to find. If any light can be thrown on this obscure subject by means of demonstrations or imbibitions by selected squads under scientific observation, the Government will not lack volunteers ready to sacrifice themselves, if necessary, to this great knowledge. Indeed, commissions for studying the intoxicating and non-intoxicating potentialities of beer will doubtless be formed by private initiative at once. But surely, in the interest of certainty, the Federal Government and all State and local governments will hasten to appoint commissions to take this great question by the throat and settle it in their own.

LEADERS IN BERLIN.

There are plenty of points of resemblance between the disorders in Germany and those which attended the collapse of Russia. There are also points of resemblance with the Paris Commune and its precursor of 1848—sufficient to remind the observer that analogies cannot be used to prove very much. But the dispatches of the last few days suggest new elements in the German civil strife. One correspondent reports that a certain Colonel REINHARDT is now the strongest man in Germany, because he kept his own regiment unspotted from revolutionary infection and gathered round it a considerable army which is loyal to him alone. There are others like him in a smaller way, says this correspondent, so that the trustworthy troops in Germany are at present not so much the soldiers of HINDENBURG or LUDENDORFF as of some particular Colonel or Brigadier. So long as he sees that they are fed and paid, as any good commander should when he can, they will follow him against anybody.

There is always the possibility that all these officers are to some extent united by class interest and loyalty to the Crown, that a serious monarchist reaction headed by the great men of the old empire could count on rallying all their armies behind its banners. On the other hand, a quite different development seems equally possible from the evidence which has so far reached us. When there are in a country several armies each loyal to its own commander above any one else, there is present the possibility of a peculiarly destructive type of civil war—the sort of thing that at recurrent intervals racked the Roman Empire and did much to weaken it before the barbarians; the sort of thing which we have seen exemplified so clearly in Mexico since 1910. For a time last year it seemed as if Russia, too, might split up into the territories controlled by a few armies and their Generals, but the antithesis in Russia today is of a different sort because most of the soldiers would not stand by the Generals.

The troops which put down the latest proletarian rising in Berlin were boys from the country, who apparently had never served in the war, or at least never reached the front—well-trained troops, uncontaminated by the allurements of the capital, and doubtless disliking the townsmen with the farmer's proverbial dislike of the city dweller. It appears that many of these come from the Junker estates and are officered by the lords of the manor—a sort of revival of feudalism. The future of Germany may quite possibly turn on the question of how far these Junker officers can be combined under their old leaders and how far the stronger among them will elect to act for themselves. At any rate, the bitterness of feeling seems to be growing after each outbreak of fighting.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Good Folk Gone Far Astray. In a little city not far to the north of New York, a little city which objects so vehemently to advertising other than laudatory that its name shall be omitted, a considerable portion of the population—almost the only portion as yet articulate—is demonstrating with pathetic clearness the possession of utterly wrong ideas in regard to war memorials. This these misguided people are doing in a way that is important only because it illustrates what is going on in towns all over the country wherever there exists an entirely commendable desire fittingly to show appreciation of our soldiers, unaccompanied with any knowledge of how that pious end should be accomplished.

The result of their unenlightened state is that they are having excited disputes among themselves over which of various things needed by the city or wanted by this or that group of its citizens they can get through exploiting the patriotic sentiments of themselves and their neighbors. "Our hospital needs enlarging," says one faction—and quite truly, too. "Let us put up a new unit and call it in memory of the Great War." Another urges the acquisition of a really fine site for a public park—also a worthy ambition. "What could be a better memorial than that?" is asked. A third suggestion, favored by many, is a new City Hall, and a fourth is the erection of a "community house"—which would be a convenient home for several civic associations now without a local habitation and disinclined to spend their own money to get one. This is only the beginning of the list that could be gathered from the local papers of the little town.

A Memorial Must Be a Memorial. Characteristic of every such proposal as those that are stirring the little city is a fatal fault that it is based on the delusion that anything to which the name of war memorial can be ascribed will be one. Of course this is not carried to its logical conclusions, even by those who hold it most sincerely. They do not advise the purchase of a new motor fire engine, or the repavement of Main Street, or the payment of the Mayor's or City Clerk's salary, as a war memorial, but to do any of these things would be just as sensible as it would be similarly to designate any of the schemes that are so naively advocated.

None of the schemes is intrinsically bad, in the sense that its execution would be detrimental to anybody. But the plea that such "memorials" as these would be "useful" is the perfectly adequate reason for rejecting them all, as the one purpose of a memorial is to be a memorial, and the effort to make it serve two purposes will always be a failure and an absurdity.

A private person, of course, can erect a hospital or a library, or give the land for a public park, and as long as it lasts and bears his name it will be a memorial to his generosity; but, just as he could not attain the same end through something designed for his own personal use and benefit, so a city cannot provide for its own municipal needs or necessities and at the same time pay honor to something entirely different.

He Should Revise His Plans. If a French aviator should succeed in flying from Dakar, in Senegal, to Pernambuco, in Brazil, it undoubtedly would be a crossing of the Atlantic by airplane, and should he do it before anybody else accomplishes the feat the "blue ribbon of the air" which haunts the dreams of ambitious airmen in many lands just now would be awarded to him. But, while being as far as possible from wishing anything except good luck and a safe passage to the Lieutenant FONTAN who is reported to have undertaken to make the predestined journey over the course where the Atlantic is narrowest, it is a fact that one cannot help hoping that he will change his mind before he makes his real start over the sea, and that he and all the other brave adventurers undertaking this noble quest will choose a route that has other merits than that of comparative brevity.

For the truth is that a crossing from Dakar to Pernambuco would be a crossing from Dakar to Pernambuco and nothing more—so far as the practical purposes of aerial navigation are concerned. If that be all the airplane can do, the Atlantic might as well be left to the steamships, for the number of people who want, or ever will want, to fly between the two towns mentioned can almost be expressed by a capital O.

The aviator who really conquers the ocean between Europe and America will fly in northern and far higher latitudes. And the slightly longer traverse from Newfoundland to Ireland might easily prove the safer as well as the more "sporting." It is a lonely stretch of water that lies east and west of St. Paul Rocks, and no task more difficult for the aviator than the finding of them will ever confront one of his gallant tribe.

His Condition Seems Improbable. Dr. VON KUEHLMANN, whose only known claim to prophetic powers rests on his having once been an inefficient Foreign Minister of the departed and unlamented German Empire, is quoted as saying that "under favorable circumstances the Germans will be in Paris by 1925." The forecast, thanks to the wise qualification that accompanies it, is entirely safe.

If circumstances had been favorable the Germans would have been in Paris early in the Fall of 1914, and only unfavorable circumstances prevented them from reaching the same destination in each year that has passed since then. The particularly unfavorable circumstances that prevented the attainment of this dearest of German ambitions in the Spring or Summer of 1918 are now known to most adults as well as to "every schoolboy," and they are circumstances that promise to persist. Should they change—that is, if the civilized world develops a liking for German domination in place of its present detestation of it—then Paris will be lost in 1925, if not sooner. It all depends, and Dr. VON KUEHLMANN has much the same right to his opinion as other folk have to theirs.

TO THOSE WHO STAYED AT HOME.

You stayed at home? Ah, is it anywhere
Written or said you did not do your share?

The silver chevrons!—cast them not aside
But wear them, wear those honor-stripes with pride.

You stayed at home, but if you only knew
How we, across the seas, relied on you!

Were we unmindful that, with hearts of flame,
You reinforced us, though you never came?

Had it been ours in vain attempt to bleed,
You would have come, to help us in our need.

You did come over, for your hearts were there,
And thus, more than you know, you did your share.

Whose merit, if by Fate's decree we went?
Whose fault, if you by Fortune were not sent?

Chance smiled on us, and so, in battle's din,
We took the part you would have gloried in.

They say we fought full well—we fought and won.
Is that not just the thing you would have done?

If we went bravely through the nether hell,
You, who are like us, would have done as well.

Then share with us the glory, for we found,
You helping us, enough to go around.

AMERICAN CONVERSATIONS MR. GIBBS HEARS

Indicate to Him That Ideas Are Being Born Which "Will Alter [illegible]tory of a Great People and Influence the World's Fate."

By PHILIP GIBBS.

Copyright, 1919, by The New York Times Company.

I have heard some extremely interesting conversation since I have been in the United States, where I have not been so silent myself as a quiet Englishman should be when he goes out visiting. But I am a good listener when I get a chance, and I have been listening, with ears "at the alert," (as we used to wear our gas masks in the danger zone,) and to the words of American men and women in private houses, hotel dining rooms, New York clubs, and public assemblies. It has been well worth while because out of all this buzz of conversation in America ideas are being formed which will alter the history of a great people and influence the fate of the world.

That seems a big thing to say of conversations which last only a little while between men and women drifting about a drawing room in New York, with a glance at the prettiest girl, a smile at the jester of the day, and a claim to an empty chair in one group or another. But it was conversation of this kind which was heard in the salons of Paris before the great Revolution, according to the memoirs of that time; and the words of people like this, discussing big ideas in a light way, between one amusing anecdote and another, expressing opinions about the new trend of thought among the peoples of the world, (as revealed by passionate utterance or startling acts) are always heard by listening ears before one of the great crises of the human drama.

Several times during the past week or two I have noticed how people assembled only for amusement have suddenly hushed each other into silence to listen to some man talking earnestly to one or two friends about him. A phrase or two of his conversation has reached beyond his own corner of the room—"We must safeguard American sovereignty." * * * "The spirit of Bolshevism is creeping westward—my own work-people are infected with it." * * *

"The workingman insists on a bigger margin between a living wage and the fun of life. He won't be buncoed any longer, and I don't blame him." * * * "We must give the people a square deal." * * * "America is afraid of the League of Nations because she thinks we shall be dragged in as an arbiter of squalid conflicts in Europe." * * * "Three dollar laborers are coming back with eight dollar notions."

Some woman, several chairs away, leans forward, and in a clear, steady voice, without self-consciousness, asks some straight and penetrating questions. I notice that the American women are thinking hard and thinking straight about the big problems that face the world and that their men listen with respect to their opinions. Some of them are pretty and some of them are rich, as one may guess by the glint of diamonds about them, and by names which belong to the great over-lords of wealth out here, but they speak simply and without affectation, and they are extraordinarily frank in facing such ugly things as the menace of industrial revolt, the physical cruelties of war, and the effect of war on the birth rate and health of nations.

An idealism, quite emotional in its motive power, stirs these companies of American people, although often they discuss it in a curiously hard and practical way, as if they were afraid of sentiment without business principles. I was struck with this point of view at a dinner party a few nights ago. It was a small company at table, made up of big business men with their wives, and conversation ranged from the possibility of a League of Nations as a cure for approaching anarchy to the absolute necessity of Anglo-American friendship. Each man gave his opinion on these subjects based upon actual personal knowledge of labor conditions in England and America, and upon the differences in thought and temper still existing between English and American people.

"This war will lead to greater tragedy if the peoples of our two countries do not get closer together and wipe out forever the petty differences that tend to keep us apart and suspicious." So said one man.

"We are all agreed about that," said another, "but what is the use of saying so at this table? What is the use of saying so in newspaper articles read by people who are of our way of thinking? We must get to work to reach the people who are still hanging on to old traditions of jealousy and ignorance among the American and English peoples. We must get some kind of antitoxin to the poison which is still doping public opinion. We must put the poisoners out of the way. How are you going to do that? It's not easy."

The host of the dinner party rose from his chair.

"Let us find out the way, now, at this table," he said. "Every big movement starts in some room like this, among a few people of good-will and conviction. There are enough of us here to begin the work and get a move on."

The ladies rose from the table while the men went into committee, as it were, over the coffee cups. But the committee meeting ebbed over into the drawing room among the ladies, and the debaters joined forces there later in the evening.

Such things are happening in many houses outside New York and in many apartments within the city. Such conversations may be heard in company which does not wear long faces or exclude moments of extreme mirth, as in a beautiful house last night where gusts of laughter rose when an American Peter Pan nearly wrecked a decorous and elegant assembly by the childlike nature of his pranks, combined with a wit which makes him famous. During the course of the evening he produced from the pocket of his tailcoat a toy known as "glass smasher," which, when dropped, (and he dropped them frequently,) had the effect of an air raid on the Crystal Palace. He also gave some side-shaking imitations of German opera singers, and enlisted several beautiful ladies for charades depicting well-known plays in New York. There were great people there, but they became even as little children in their laughter—and it was good.

But between the charades and the mirth there were serious moments when there came into that drawing room the remembrance of the world's agony, and of a new shaping of the world's frontiers, and of problems which call to America to shoulder new and vast responsibilities, from which she hesitates because they be as yet in the great Unknown. It was Peter Pan himself—he is a poet in spectacles, with serious, wistful eyes when he drops his glass smashers—who took me into a corner and said:

"If the League of Nations is wrecked the world will have lost its chance and there will be the devil to pay."

It was between the charades that an American officer just back from France said to me:

"As far as our officers and men are concerned, there is no great enthusiasm for a League of Nations. They don't want to fight another war in Europe because some country like Bulgaria plays the giddy goat or because some combination of powers drags us in by a majority of votes to some new conflict which is no concern of ours. How are we going to get over that difficulty?"

I had one conversation the other day which cheered me a good deal, because it showed that one difficulty has been exaggerated, and that is the suggestion that the American soldiers coming back from France have no great liking for their English comrades in arms, a statement which I personally found it hard to believe because of what I had seen when the American divisions were on the British front.

The conversation I had took place in the Union League Club after a historic little ceremony when the 367th Regiment returned the colors, after guarding them gallantly in the field, to the safe custody of the club which had presented them. This scene took place in Fifth Avenue a few mornings ago, when snow was falling as the colored troops marched up with their band. Ex-Governor Hughes addressed them from the balcony of the club, speaking fine, stirring words, in which he reminded those men of the colored race that America had shed her blood to give them liberty as now they had shed their blood for the liberty of the world.

Afterward these officers were guests at luncheon in the Union League Club, and with them were officers of the 27th American Division, who fought with British troops in France and helped to break the Hindenburg line in a decisive battle, which broke also the German spirit. It was these officers who spoke to me in a frank and friendly way, and they assured me that all of them and all the men they commanded had been on terms of real and splendid comradeship with the British troops and that they kept a good remembrance of Tommy Atkins, for whose courage and patience in war they had a deep and lasting admiration. That is an asset in favor of Anglo-American friendship, and we have need of it.

In Washington, which I found as beautiful, with its white buildings under a blue sky, as a dream city of the world's capital, I had other conversations which were more disquieting. They were conversations about the state of Ireland and the renaissance of a great strain of emotion among Irish-Americans on behalf of Ireland's liberty and independence. For a time popular sentiment swung away from Ireland because of her attitude in the war and her hostility to England in her hour of need. But now that the war is over and many little nations are pleading for self-government, the position of Ireland is again foremost in the thoughts of those out here who belong to her blood and faith.

The movement for Irish independence is growing, and yesterday in New York I saw the outward and visible sign of its strength. It was St. Patrick's Day, and the City of New York was held up for a parade of Irish-Americans who marched down Fifth Avenue with bands and banners. It was miles long, with long columns of men and women, and all about were hundreds of thousands of people in the crowds wearing the shamrock and the green flag. One banner led on by priests bore the words "We Stand for Free and Independent Ireland," and another, carried by women and girls, said "England: Damn Your Concessions. We Want Our Country."

In the crowds I overheard many conversations which convinced me utterly that there will be no absolute friendship between England and America until Ireland's desires have been granted, and I prayed to God that this may happen, to safeguard the peace of the world, which depends upon American good-will.

The conversations continue among the intellectuals, the leaders of society, the big business men, the women of the drawing rooms; and outside there are other conversations among the masses which I would like to hear, because they will decide the world's destiny. They are conversations, I am told, not without menace and dangerous emotion, happening while the statesmen of the world are busy with this League of Nations.

"We Want Our Country."

To the Editor of The New York Times.

Behind a banner bearing the inscription, "England, Damn Your Concessions; We Want Our Country," marched two men in the uniform of the United States, one bearing the flag of the United States, the other bearing the flag of the Irish revolutionists. If these men claim Ireland as their country, what right have they to parade in the uniform and under the shelter of the flag of this country in a demonstration which is a direct attack on a friendly power?

Insults to an Ally.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Has New York City been taken by the Irish? It must be so. They would never have been allowed to parade in any other American city carrying legends that insulted America's ally, England. I want to suggest that hereafter national demonstrations held on our soil shall be primarily American.

Export Difficulties.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Being deeply interested in the country's commerce, in which the company under my control has participated to as great an extent as has been possible under sundry unfathomable restrictions, I have followed with unflagging interest the manifold suggestions in the public press looking to a betterment of conditions.

Permit me to add mine to these, which, briefly, is as follows:

Let our Shipping and Industrial Boards send a committee to London for the purpose of studying the manner in which Great Britain encourages and protects its trade, and thereby to educate those who are in control in Washington and who are willing to learn, and, learning, to act.

The business of the country has suffered long enough through inefficiency and neglect, and those who are less altruistic than our Secretary of Commerce are becoming increasingly impatient at the handicaps to which our world trade is being subjected.

CLARK REASSURED BY HIS FOLLOWERS

Opposition to Him as Minority Leader Small, Ex-Speaker Is Told in Consultation.

LONGWORTH ANSWERS MANN

Ohioan Deprecates Illinois Leader's "Rather Coarse Personal Abuse" and His "Misstatements."

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Ex-Speaker Champ Clark, who is being opposed for minority leader in the next House by a group of Democratic insurgents, returned today and consulted with followers concerning the fight being made against him, supposedly with the support of Postmaster General Burleson. Information given to Mr. Clark was that the reorganizers had not made any headway and that their strength did not exceed twenty-five members.

Mr. Clark appeared not to be worried and declined to discuss the latest attack made on him by Representative J. H. Mays, in which Mr. Clark was requested to state his views on the League of Nations. Mr. Clark said he had discussed this subject in a number of lectures and frequently on the floor of the House. He had always favored disarmament and believed that this could come only through some such organization as a League of Nations.

It became known today that Representative Claude Kitchin of North Carolina had declined to join the opposition to Mr. Clark. He will be Mr. Clark's manager if the fight assumes large proportions. When informed by those directing the opposition to Mr. Clark that they would defeat him for the place of ranking Democratic member of the Ways and Means Committee if he supported Mr. Clark it is reported that Mr. Kitchin said that he would welcome such a fight.

Indications are that the Democratic reorganizers cannot accomplish the defeat of Mr. Clark unless extraordinary measures are exerted by President Wilson himself.

The greatest interest in years in the reorganization of the House is being shown by both parties, because the political leaders on both sides believe the country will watch the proceedings of the new House with the utmost interest, and careful leadership will be necessary because of the bearing party matters will have upon the next presidential election. The reorganizers are counting upon the influence of President Wilson for this reason, and they are privately saying that at the proper time pressure will be exerted which will bring about reforms in the formation of committee contingents by the Democrats and in the election of minority officers.

Longworth Replies to Mann.

On the Republican side the personal political controversy between Representatives James R. Mann of Illinois and Nicholas Longworth of Ohio was enlivened by a statement issued today by the latter in reply to a sharp attack made upon him by the former last Monday. This is Mr. Longworth's statement:

"I have read with considerable amusement, coupled with some surprise, what purported to be a statement from Mr. Mann replying to some criticisms I made recently about the proceedings of the Republican Committee on Committees, which he dominated. My surprise comes from the circumstances that Mr. Mann, usually accurate in his facts, should have given out a statement so full of inaccuracies. In fact, such of it as is not distorted to rather coarse personal abuse is made up almost entirely of misstatements.

"This splenetic outbreak is inspired, no doubt, for he admits it, by the fact that some of the things I said 'really got under his hide.' His reply has had no such effect on me. It causes me no worry whatever, but only regret that a gentleman who possesses, as Mr. Mann does, some of the qualities of the statesman should descend to the level of personalities, which I have hitherto avoided, and should have shown himself so lacking in good taste and in choice of vocabulary.

"His statement that I wanted to be Speaker, Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, and Floor Leader was made without any knowledge on his part, for I never consulted him on any of these matters. The plain implication that I was a candidate for any of these positions is entirely unfair. I was not a candidate for Speaker, I was not a candidate for Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, and the two votes I received for Floor Leader in the committee were cast over my protest. I did not cast the Ohio vote for myself, as he implies, though he was permitted by unanimous consent to cast the twenty-two votes of Illinois for himself.

"Tribute to Roosevelt."

"Another exhibition of inaccuracy and lack of good taste, not to use a harsher term, is illustrated in his statement that I was placed on the Steering Committee now, as before, as a sort of tribute to Colonel Roosevelt.' Here again he has not got the facts straight. I was not a member of the Steering Committee in the last Congress and never have been until now.

"Mr. Mann's ignorance of this fact is due, I presume, to his absence from the House during the long session, due to his serious illness, which no one regretted personally more than I. The fact remains, however, that it was during that session that the Republican Party, relieved from the incubus of his leadership, made the great part of the record that caused our splendid victory at the polls in November.

"Mr. Mann's desire to pay 'a sort of tribute to Colonel Roosevelt' is a worthy one, if somewhat hard to credit. Certainly he was about the last man of any prominence from whom Colonel Roosevelt during his life sought any tribute. The two men did not breathe the same atmosphere. Their conceptions of public duty were about as far apart as the poles. If, however, he is sincere in his desire to pay such a tribute, I think I can suggest a way. Let him definitely assure the country that he will keep his hands off the organization and legislative control of the new House of Representatives. That is the way to bring about harmony in the party. That is the way to make success in 1920 certain. Such an assurance from Mr. Mann will be greeted with acclaim by the vast majority of Republicans and by patriotic Americans generally throughout the land."

SINN FEIN HAS NEW PLAN.

May Try Suffragette Tactics to Attract Peace Conference Notice.

LONDON, March 17.—The more aggressive section of the Sinn Fein Party in Ireland contemplates a campaign similar to that adopted by the militant suffragettes at the moment it is hoped to have the Peace Conference intervene in behalf of Ireland. This will be for the purpose of focusing public attention on the demands of the party, according to dispatches received by the Press Association.

The authorities, however, are prepared to afford adequate protection to life and property, and the belief is expressed that, with tact and discrimination, it will be able to tide over the threatened trouble.

It is understood the Government does not intend to further postpone consideration of the Home Rule bill, which was suspended by an act which automatically expires six months after the treaty of peace is signed.

PRINCETON CHANGES ENTRANCE CREDITS

Subject to Ratification by Trustees, Greek Will Be No Longer Required.

LITT. B. DEGREE ABOLISHED

Students in Science Must Offer Latin or Modern Languages and Additional Mathematics.

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 18.—Princeton University Faculty has taken action that will result in the abolition of the degree of Bachelor of Letters and in several other radical curriculum changes. This step was the definite result of the recent determined effort on the part of the non-classicists to overthrow the classical régime, which, according to them, has long exerted a narrowing influence upon the university.

According to the new plans, Greek will no longer be required as an entrance requirement, but will be given as an undergraduate course to as many as may desire to elect it. Latin will be retained as a requirement to the candidates for the Bachelor of Arts degree, but hereafter men entering courses leading to the Bachelor of Science degree may offer modern languages and mathematics instead of Latin for entrance credits.

After the meeting President Hibben issued the following statement: "Subject to ratification by the Board of Trustees, hereafter only two Bachelor degrees in liberal studies, Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Science, will be given by Princeton University. This action involves an important rearrangement of the Princeton curriculum, which is now under consideration.

"It is proposed to require the full amount of entrance and freshman Latin of all candidates for the Bachelor of Arts degree. Candidates for the Bachelor of Science degree must offer either Latin or modern languages and additional mathematics.

"This means that Greek will no longer be an absolute requirement for entrance to the A. B. degree, as heretofore, an option between Greek and a modern language being allowed. Courses in beginning Greek, however, will be provided for students who have not offered Greek at entrance and wish to pursue this subject."

The Bachelor of Letters degree has been granted at Princeton since 1905, and has been granted by no other university in America. The action of the Faculty will open Princeton to good men who are not able to meet the former high entrance credits. This tendency has been shown in several definite curriculum reforms since the close of the war.

YALE LETS LATIN GO.

University Makes Radical Change in Entrance Requirements.

NEW HAVEN, March 18.—A meeting of the Yale Corporation held yesterday resulted in the unanimous adoption of a comprehensive plan of university reorganization and immediate increase of salaries of full-time instructors and assistant professors. Significant administrative changes will be followed by important modifications of educational policy.

The reorganization plan is the result of two months' work by a Corporation's Committee which has been in constant conference with members of the Faculty and with members of the Alumni Committee.

The reorganization plan is summarized as follows:

The President hereafter to be assisted by four instead of two general administrative officers.

Professors and instructors of all grades to be elected to positions in Yale University.

The University Council to be reorganized, and that, subject to the corporation, it determine educational policy in all matters where two or more schools or departments are concerned.

The schools of the university to be more closely correlated, and that there be complete interchange of courses and facilities between them.

The spheres of the college, the Sheffield Scientific School, and the graduate school to be more clearly defined.

A Joint Entrance Committee to be established for the two undergraduate schools.

Latin to be transferred from the group of required to elective subjects for admission to the college, and that advanced algebra, solid geometry, and trigonometry be transferred from the list of required to the group of elective subjects for admission to the Sheffield Scientific School, and that provision be made by the college Faculty for granting a college degree without Latin.

The group system of studies to be adopted.

Courses in American history and Government to be required of all undergraduate students who cannot give satisfactory evidence of adequate knowledge of these subjects.

The graduate school to be authorized to offer the degree of M. A. for work in business administration.

Greater attention to be paid by the university to matters connected with student extra curriculum activities, morale, and discipline.

Substantial increase of salaries of full-time instructors and assistant professors will be put into effect at once. In the undergraduate school, instructors, first year, will receive $1,250; second year, $1,500; third year, $1,750; fourth year, $2,000. Assistant professors, first appointment, $2,500; second, $3,000; third, $3,500.

National Control and Higher Wages Are Forecast.

Copyright, 1919, by The New York Times Company.

By Wireless to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 17.—In a forecast of the report of the Coal Commission, which finished the taking of evidence today, The Chronicle's labor correspondent states that the commissioners are likely to recommend some form of national control of mines, an eight-hour day from bank to bank, and an increase of wages, amounting to probably 10 per cent.

WILL WED CAPT. WITHERBEE.

Engagement of Miss Alice Gouverneur Kortright Is Announced.

The engagement is announced of Miss Alice Gouverneur Kortright, the only daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Gouverneur Kortright, (Miss Phipps,) to Captain Silas H. Witherbee, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter C. Witherbee of Ledgetop, Port Henry, N. Y., who spend their Winters at the Belmont, New York.

Captain Witherbee was senior Captain of the Docks at Bordeaux, France, but recently returned to this country, and is now out of the service. He was graduated from Yale in 1911, and is a brother of Miss Louise Gautier Witherbee, who recently returned from war work in France, and Miss Annie G. Witherbee, and is a nephew of the late Frank Spenser Witherbee.

Miss Kortright has made her home with her aunt, Miss Ada Phipps, at 279 Lexington Avenue, since the death of her father some years ago, and is a member of the Junior League.

COL. BISHOP OPERATED UPON

Famous Canadian Aviator Stricken with Appendicitis on Lecture Tour.

ROANOKE, Va., March 18.—Colonel William A. Bishop, famous Canadian aviator, was operated upon for appendicitis here last night. He was stricken as he was preparing to deliver an address. Early today his condition was reported to be satisfactory.

Colonel Bishop is the greatest of all aces. He was the winner of the Victoria Cross and many other decorations for accounting for 72 Hun airmen officially, and he is unofficially credited with having killed single-handed some 125 or 130 of the enemy. Soon after he received his degree as civil engineer at the Royal Military College, the West Point of Canada, he went overseas and soon became a member of the Royal Air Force, in which he won fame. Since his return to this country some months ago he has been lecturing on air fighting.

J. Taylor Ellyson.

RICHMOND, Va., March 18.—J. Taylor Ellyson, Chairman of the Virginia State Democratic Committee for the last twenty-five years, died today at his home here. Mr. Ellyson was born in this city 72 years ago, and was a graduate of the University of Virginia. He was a Confederate veteran, and had served as State Senator, was for three terms Mayor of Richmond, and also for three terms Lieutenant Governor of Virginia, and was a former President of the Baptist Convention of North America.

Farewell Dinner to Admiral Usher.

Rear Admiral Nathaniel R. Usher, who after 48 years of continuous service will retire on April 7, when he will have reached the age limit of 64 years, will be given a farewell dinner at the Waldorf-Astoria on the day of his retirement. The dinner will be attended by 1,500 guests and will include the Admiral's staff and many officials of the navy and governmental circles in Washington. Admiral Usher expects to return to his home in Potsdam, N. Y., after his retirement.

Schwab-Bliss Wedding on April 2.

Owing to the departure for China of Capt. Hermann C. Schwab much earlier than expected, his marriage to Miss Ruth B. Bliss has been changed from Easter week to Wednesday, April 2, and will be a quiet affair with only the families present in Grace Church. The Rev. Dr. C. L. Slattery and the Rev. Dr. Thayer of St. Mark's will officiate. Miss Katharine B. Bliss will be her sister's only attendant. Henry B. Schwab is to be his brother's best man. The reception will be held at the residence of the bride, 6 East Eighty-seventh Street. Captain Schwab and his bride will sail shortly after the wedding for China.

Barasch-Karp Engagement.

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Martha Barasch of 853 Macy Avenue, the Bronx, to Morris Karp of this city.

Miss Vanderbilt at Atlantic City.

Miss Cathleen Vanderbilt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Vanderbilt, is spending part of the Lenten season at Atlantic City. She is accompanied by her maid and governess and is staying at the Breakers.

Miss Amy C. Hutton Betrothed.

The engagement has been announced of Miss Amy Clare Hutton, a daughter of Mrs. John Hutton of 116 East Sixty-third Street and Tyringham, Mass., to Captain Selden Day Burchenal, U. S. A., 51st Aero Squadron, who has just returned from overseas. He is the son of Mrs. Charles H. Burchenal of 2,790 Broadway. Miss Elizabeth Buchenal is his sister. Miss Hutton has been active in canteen and other Red Cross work. The marriage, which will probably take place soon, will be quiet, owing to the death recently of her sister, Mrs. T. F. Plunkett of Pitssfield, Mass.

Jewish Big Sisters Musicale.

A musicale, conference, and tea will be held on Thursday afternoon, March 27, at the home of Mrs. Simon Frankel, 46 West Eighty-sixth Street, under the auspices of the Jewish Big Sisters. Mrs. Sidney Borg and Louis Mann will speak. The Russian Trio will appear, also Alma Clayburgh and Mary Jordan, in songs.

War Camp Community Dance.

Five hundred invitations have been sent to soldiers and sailors by the War Camp Community Service for the vaudeville and dance to be held tonight by the United Club at the New Amsterdam Opera House. There will be community singing and tableaux in connection with the vaudeville program.

WM. H. PLEASANTS DIES IN HOSPITAL

President of Ocean Steamship Company Was Long in the Coastwise Trade.

HE BEGAN CAREER AS CLERK

Manager of Marine Section of U. S. Railroad Administration Until His Health Failed.

William H. Pleasants, President of the Ocean Steamship Company, and one of the best known men in coastwise shipping circles, died yesterday afternoon at 1:25 o'clock at a private hospital, after a short illness. For a great many years Mr. Pleasants had made his home at the Hotel Woodward.

Born in Richmond, Va., fifty-six years ago, April 29, next, Mr. Pleasants began his business career in that city as a clerk with the Richmond & Danville Railway, some years later going to Jacksonville, Fla., where he was general freight agent of the Florida Central & Peninsula Railroad, now the Seaboard Air Line Railroad. In 1890 he became freight and passenger agent of the Ocean Steamship Company in Savannah, and after a period in this post he returned to the Seaboard Air Line, but it was not long before he again joined the Ocean Steamship Company as Vice President and General Manager, at that time taking up his residence in New York City, where he had since resided.

At a meeting of the Directors in Savannah on April 14, 1915, Mr. Pleasants was elected President of the Ocean Steamship Company, the office of Vice President and General Manager, which he had held up to that time, being abolished.

Mr. Pleasants was recognized as one of the leading steamship transportation men in the country, and he had a prominent part in the development of the Ocean Steamship Company. In February of last year the then Secretary of the Treasury W. G. McAdoo sent for Mr. Pleasants and asked him to become manager of the Marine Section of the United States Railroad Administration, which Mr. Pleasants agreed to undertake, although his health was then failing. After a few months, he resigned on account of his continued ill-health.

Surviving Mr. Pleasants are his mother, Mrs. J. P. Pleasants of Richmond, Va., and a brother, Charles M. Pleasants, also of Richmond. The body will be taken to Richmond and the funeral and interment, which will be private, will take place in that city Friday.

JOHNSON SURPRISES VETERAN AT SQUASH

Young Yale Club Player Defeats H. D. Bulkley in National Amateur Tourney.

Tobey Subdues Keeler and Vander Poel Has Easy Time Winning from Davis—Semi-Finals Today.

The national amateur squash tennis tournament, which is being played on the Squash Club courts, reached the penultimate round yesterday and the quartet of players who will meet in the semi-finals today are J. W. Appel, Jr., Harvard Club, versus Stewart H. Johnson, Yale Club, in the lower half of the draw, while W. H. Vander Poel of the Squash Club will play Harold Tobey, the Princeton Club southpaw, in the upper half of the draw.

The surprise of yesterday's competition came when Stewart H. Johnson, the young Yale Club player, who has recently returned from France, defeated H. D. Bulkley, the Columbia Club veteran, in a three-game match at 16—18, 15—5, 15—11. Johnson played a remarkably steady game, and his hard smashes bounded around the court at such a lively clip that Bulkley had a lot of trouble trying to handle them. Johnson did not settle down to his best play in the first, while Bulkley pulled the game out after a spirited rally.

Johnson settled in the second and third games, and his smashes around the court and cross-court brought him many aces.

There was a lively match between Harold Tobey of the Princeton Club and Fred S. Keeler of the Columbia Club. Tobey's left-handed smashes brought him out a winner in the first game, but in the second game, after the Princeton player had the veteran 9—2, Keeler, with a change of pace, threw his opponent out of his stride. Keeler managed to get the ball low off the wall, and for a time this caused Tobey some trouble.

Keeler gradually pulled up until he had the score 9-all. Keeer got a low one off the front wall, which Tobey smashed into the telltale, and Keeler took the lead at 10—9.

Tobey squared the game again at 11—all, and then it went to 12—all before Keeler, with tantilizing shots which carromed around the court, came through with the game at 15—13. In the third game Tobey got his terrific drives working again and his speedy ball was too much for the veteran. Tobey had this third game in hand all the way and won 15—5.

W. H. Vander Poel of the Squash Club again showed flashes of his best form in a match against F. H. Davis of the Harvard Club. Vander Poel set a swift pace, and although he resorted to hard smashing, he had great control and accuracy. Davis put up a stubborn defense for a time, but the Squash Club player kept forcing the issue at all times and reeled off aces with speed and sureness.

J. W. Appel, Jr., of the Harvard Club, who has not been called upon to display his skill in the tournament thus far, went into the semi-finals at the expense of Edward W. Putnam of the Columbia Club. Appel's hard smashes kept his opponent on the jump every minute, and he drove the ball around the court at such a lively clip that Putnam couldn't follow it. Appel is playing a strong, consistent game, and he is regarded now as the most likely candidate for the national title.

The summaries:

National Amateur Squash Tennis Championship.—Third Round—W. H. Vander Poel, Squash Club, defeated F. H. Davis, Harvard Club, 15—6, 15—9; S. H. Johnson, Yale Club, defeated H. D. Bulkley, Columbia Club, 16—18, 15—5, 15—11; J. W. Appel, Jr., Harvard Club, defeated Edward W. Putnam, Columbia Club, 15—8; Harold Tobey, Princeton Club, defeated Fred S. Keeler, Columbia Club, 15—7, 13—15, 15—5.

SELLERS ENTERS TITLE RACE

Will Compete in 1,000-Yard Metropolitan Event at Newark.

Jack R. Sellers of the New York A. C., national 600-yard running champion, and Homer Baker of the Glencoe A. C., the international half-mile title holder, are to clash in another running race at the seventh annual indoor athletic meet of the Central High School, Newark, N. J., to be held at the First Regiment Armory, Newark, Saturday night. These two middle-distance stars will be among the contenders in the race for the 1,000-yard Metropolitan A. A. U. championship title. Mike Devaney of the Millrose A. A., winner of the title last year, will be on hand to defend his laurels. Through the fact that Devaney is a Newark product, the race has attracted more than the usual amount of interest.

A great number of the stars who participated in the recent Millrose A. A. games and senior A. A. U. championship meet are expected to compete in the events arranged for them. Another interesting race is expected in the one-mile intercity relay event, in which teams representing this city, Newark, and Philadelphia will compete. The tryouts to select New York's quartet will be held this afternoon at the 71st Regiment Armory. Other open A. A. U. competitions include the 70-yard hurdle race, 300-yard handicap, and two-mile run, handicap. In the timber-topping race Carl Erdman of Princeton, intercollegiate high and low hurdles champion, will start from scratch. It is expected that Jack Eller will be a starter in this event.

Schoolboy athletes representing all the prominent high and prep schools in the East will compete in a number of events which carry the significance of national title tests. Last year these events were run for the first time under A. A. U. sanction, and were won by the representatives of Mercersburg Academy.

HORSEMEN HOLD DINNER.

Owners and Trainers Guests of Bay State Circuit.

More than one hundred owners and trainers of trotting horses in the eastern part of the country met at Cavanagh's last night as the guests of the Bay State Circuit at the first annual dinner held by the New England organization.

Among the speakers were W. H. Gocher, Secretary of the National Trotting Association; W. H. Kinman of Cleveland, Secretary of the Grand Circuit; Al Saunders, Secretary of the Grand Circuit meeting at Philadelphia and Poughkeepsie, and A. C. Pennock, President of the Lake Erie Circuit.

WHITTEMORE LEADS FIELD.

Has Card of 157 in Pinehurst Golf Tourney.

Special to The New York Times.

PINEHURST, N. C., March 18.—At the end of today's round in the Tin Whistles annual championship tournament at Pinehurst, Parker W. Whittemore of Brookline led the field with a total of 157 for the 36 holes so far played. L. D. Pierce of Ekwanok and H. G. Phillips of Moore County tied for second place at 166.

F. S. Danforth of North Fork and Dr. George T. Gregg of Oakmont, all tied at 170. Dr. Carlos F. MacDonald of Tuxedo, now leads the field by 9 strokes in the net score contest with 189-60-129.

The third and final round will be played tomorrow.

Champion Is Now Seeking Husky Sparring Partners.

Jess Willard, world's heavyweight champion, is confident of retaining his laurels in his bout with Jack Dempsey on July 4. The tall Kansan is convinced of his own invincibility, at least as far as Dempsey is concerned. Ray Archer, secretary to Willard, made this declaration yesterday when he arrived here from Chicago. Archer added that Willard is prepared to wager his own end of the purse and an additional $10,000 that Dempsey will not succeed in gaining the title. Willard's bet, if it is made, will involve $110,000 of the champion's resources.

Archer is visiting the city primarily for the purpose of securing sparring partners for the title-holder and to discuss further with promoter Tex Rickard the details of the bout. Rickard leaves this afternoon for Texas.

According to Archer, Willard will surprise ring followers with his condition on the day of the bout. The champion, it is said, has planned a course of rigorous training which will bring him as near the shape he enjoyed when he won the title as it is possible to be, considering the easy and inactive life Willard has been living.

The champion, Archer said, weighs 268 pounds now, despite reports to the contrary. Willard has been popularly supposed to have weighed nearer to 300 pounds. Willard will take up serious training when it is announced where the bout will be conducted. Archer has no choice in the matter of sparring partners. Several were suggested to him, including Charlie Weinert of Newark, Battling Levinsky, and Bill Brennan, a Chicago heavyweight. Archer plans to negotiate with the leading white heavyweights.

Jack Kearns, manager of Dempsey, also arrived yesteday. Dempsey went immediately to Long Branch, where he will remain until late in the month, when he is under contract to again take to the stage.

OPPOSE LICENSING JUDGES.

Kennel Club Will Vote to Abolish the Rule.

The rule of the American Kennel Club which makes it compulsory for dog show judges to take out a license will probably be repealed within a short time. At the quarterly meeting of the A. K. C. yesterday the rule caused considerable discussion, which ended with the adoption of a resolution requesting a mail vote from the clubs holding A. K. C. membership, as to whether the rule should be continued.

This rule has been in operation for fourteen months. The provisions disqualified some of the leading dog judges of the country, including Vinton P. Breese, Charles G. Hopton, Fred Harries, and Frank F. Dole. These four ring officials before the rule went into effect were looked upon as among the leading judges of the country.

A demonstration of the effect of the rule was furnished at the annual show of the Bull Terrier Club of America, held at Madison Square Garden Feb. 18. The officials of this organization had selected Major Clair Foster of Washington, D. C., attached to an engineer regiment, to distribute the ribbons. When the selection was made known Major Foster was requested to take out a license. This the army man refused to do and the bull terrier officials adopted the alternative of conducting their show independently. This meant that successful dogs had to forego the opportunity of scoring points toward their championships, as the points can only be scored in A. K. C. shows.

President Hollis H. Hunnewell of Boston presided over yesterday's meeting. Others present included J. F. De Mund, Vice President; John F. Collins, Long Island Kennel Club; Howard Willets, Westchester County Kennel Club; W. C. Stewart, Philadelphia Kennel Club; William Rauch, Westminster Kennel Club; R. P. Keasbey, Greenwich Kennel Club; W. Ross Proctor, Sealyham Club, and C. F. Neilson, Fox Terrier Club.

SELECT CREW COACH TODAY

Columbia to Make Final Plans for Rowing Season.

The Committee on Athletics at Columbia is expected to make a definite announcement today with regard to the final plans for the coaching of the 'Varsity and freshman crews. The elimination of Jim Rice by his flat statement that he would not coach the crews under any circumstances cleared the situation. It is unlikely that Eugene J. Giannini will be designated as head coach, but a definite policy will be adopted which will probably call for the use of Giannini in an advisory capacity. The former New York A. C. coach was out of the city yesterday and none of the members of the committee was willing to discuss the situation. It is probable that the coaching of the crew will be turned over to a graduate who was drilled under Rice.

The Columbia crews may get on the Hudson for the first time today. It is certain, however, that active work on the river will be under way tomorrow afternoon.

STAR NATATORS IN MEET.

Intercollegiate Championships to be Decided Saturday.

All the members of the Intercollegiate Swimming League have already announced their entries for the coming championship meet next Saturday night at the City College pool, with the exception of Princeton. Up to last night no communication was received from the Tigers.

The freshmen relay race will be contested by teams from Columbia, Pennsylvania, Yale, and Massachusetts Institute of Technology. In the fifty-yard swim Binney and Archibald of Yale, Rogers of Columbia, and Lukens of Rutgers will compete.

Cosgrove Wins at Billiards.

Joseph Cosgrove defeated M. La Rue last night in the metropolitan three-cushion billiard championship tournament of the A. A. B. A. at Fuller's Academy by the score of 35 to 23, in fifty-six innings. Cosgrove made a high run of 4, while his opponent's best effort was 3.

Wolfert and Wathey Win.

Fred Wolfert defeated William Callan last night in a closely contested contest in the pool tournament at Doyle's Billiard Academy by the score of 100 to 86. Wolfert made a high run of 25. M. J. Wathey, who won his game of snooker pool from R. Johnson by the score of 100 to 78, is now tied for first place in that tournament.

Renz Changes Registration.

Eddie Renz, New York A. C. walker, yesterday applied for a transfer of registration to unattached. Renz is planning to participate in the metropolitan two-mile championship walk to be held in conjunction with the 7th Regiment A. A. games April 5. P. S. Clark, another Mercury Foot athlete, transferred from unattached to the New York A. C.

Columbia Swimmers Meet Erasmus.

The Columbia freshman swimming team expects to close its season today in a meet with the Erasmus Hall High School. The schoolboys were to have tackled the Columbia youngsters last week, but asked for a postponement. The Blue and White youngsters have yet to meet defeat.

RED SOX GO SOUTH WITHOUT BABE RUTH

President Frazee Ignores Slugger's Demand for $15,000 Stipend.

Babe Ruth, the home run clouter of the Boston Red Sox, did not appear in this city yesterday to take the boat for Jacksonville with Manager Ed Barrow and a party of ball players. Ruth is a real holdout and says he will not play unless Boston meets his demands. Ruth was to have had a final talk with President Harry H. Frazee about his contract here yesterday. As Ruth is an unusual combination of pitcher and batsman and was used in four different capacities by the Boston Club last season, he thinks he should get a big boost in his salary for the coming season.

"I have not heard from Ruth today and he has not heard from me," said President Frazee yesterday afternoon.

Ruth has made two propositions to the Red Sox. He wants $15,000 if he signs a contract for only one year or will sign a three-year contract calling for $10,000 a year. Frazee says that Ruth will not be worth $15,000 as a drawing card this season.

Boston fans are pretty well worked up over the failure of the club and player to get together. Ruth last season was the big figure in baseball and was the star of the world's series. He hung up a wonderful home run record. He pitched several games, played in left field, covered first base and served faithfully as a pinch-hitter. To Ruth's way of thinking, any player who can do all the things he did for Boston last season is worth $15,000 a year.

Boston baseball fans are an enthusiastic lot. Ruth is a hero with them and already there have been many suggestions about how the Ruth case should be disposed of. It has been suggested that the American League ought to chip in and pay the difference to Ruth, as the player is a great drawing card in every city on the circuit.

It has even been suggested that a popular subscription be taken up among the fans to make up the difference between Frazee's offer and Ruth's demand for $15,000.

Ruth's friends say that he is sincere in his statement that he will not play with Boston unless he gets what he asks for. Frank Baker a few seasons ago would not play with the Athletics when they refused to pay him what he demanded, and George Foster did the same thing with the Red Sox.

Another one of Boston's best pitchers, Carl Mays, did not go with the club yesterday, but Manager Barrow says he expects that Mays will report at Tampa before the Spring training season is over. The differences over Mays's salary can easily be adjusted.

In the party which sailed with Manager Barrow on the Arapahoe yesterday were Ray Caldwell, John Dubuc, Herb Pennock, George Dumont, and Pat Shea, pitchers; outfielders, Frank Gilhooley, Amos Strunk, and catchers Schang and McNeil. Joe Bush, Jack Barry, and Jack McInnis will make the trip by rail.

A series of seven games has been scheduled between the Yankees and the Robins. Three of the contests will be played in Jacksonville, where both clubs will train, and the four other games will be played in Southern cities on the trip north. The two clubs will part company on April 17, after a game at Newport News. The Brooklyns will go to Boston, where they open the season on April 19, while the Yanks will play two exhibition games in Virginia cities on April 18 and 19.

The first game between the clubs will be played at Jacksonville on March 29, six days after the clubs start training. Games also will be played on April 5 and 12. The clubs will leave Jacksonville on April 14 and will play on that afternoon at Brunswick, Ga. On April 15 they will play an exhibition game at Orangeburg, S. C., and on April 16 at Goldsboro, N. C., and at Newport News on April 17.

Both Yankees and Brooklyns should benefit by training in the same city, because three or four times a week the teams can play practice games of five or seven innings. This early practice against major league oppcsition all the time during the Spring training period should put the players in shape much faster than playing against the recruits or minor league clubs, as the teams have done in the past.

The Yankees yesterday released another pitcher, Ed Monroe, to the St. Paul Club of the American Association.

Bert Niehoff, the Giants' utility infielder, has signed to play with the Seattle Club of the Pacific Coast League, which is managed by Bill Clymer.

President William F. Baker of the Phillies said yesterday that shortstop Dave Bancroft was not a hold-out, but that he was anxious to report at the training camp at Charlotte, N. C., next week, before signing his contract. As it is against the rules of the club to permit players to go on the training trip before they have signed for the season, it is believed Bancroft will sign this week.

Catcher Eddie Burns of the Phillies has made such a large salary demand that President Baker has asked for waivers on him. None of the clubs wants him; even the Giants, who need a catcher, having turned him down.

President Baker of the Phillies has consented to waive claim on Davey Robertson of the Giants, and the three-cornered deal between the Giants, St. Louis and Washington may yet go through. Baker wanted Robertson, but the player wrote to him stating that he was attached to the intelligence department of the army and was stationed in Washington. He desired to retain his position and play ball at the same time. This he could do only by playing in Washington.

Now that the Phillies have waived claim on Robertson, it is expected that Barney Dreyfuss will follow suit. In that event Mike Gonzales will soon become a member of the Giants, Doc Lavan will go to the St. Louis Cardinals and Robertson will go to Washington.

Murphy Wants to See Cubs' Books.

CHICAGO, March 18.—Charles W. Murphy, former President of the Chicago Club of the National League, who recently purchased five shares of stock in the organization, today filed a petition in the Circuit Court for a writ of mandamus to compel officials of the club to allow him to examine its books and records.

Clyde Engle Becomes Coach.

BURLINGTON, Vt., March 18.—A. C. (Clyde) Engle, seven years utility man with the Boston Americans, has been engaged as baseball coach for the University of Vermont. He will arrive here tomorrow to begin putting the nine into shape.

ALEXANDER ON WAY HOME.

Cubs Receive Word Direct from General Pershing.

CHICAGO, March 18.—"Alexander has left station en route to United States."

This cablegram signed by General Pershing, commander of the American army, gave first definite assurance today that Grover Cleveland Alexander, premier pitcher of the National League, was on his way home to join the Chicago Nationals. The message was received by Fred Mitchell, President of the club.

Alexander has been in Germany with the Army of Occupation. He is expected to land within two weeks and to join the Cubs at the Spring training camp, Pasadena, Cal.

YALE'S SCHEDULE CHANGED.

Dates for Harvard and Princeton Games Are Reversed.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., March 18.—Two changes have been made by Manager Weir Sargent in the Yale baseball schedule which was announced last week. The Springfield Y. M. C. A. Training College has been booked for Wednesday, April 9, in place of Columbia. The Yale-Columbia game was arranged conditionally, and, upon a request from Columbia for a change in date, Yale scheduled the Springfield college for the match in this city.

The third game with Harvard, in case of a tie in the series, will be played on Saturday, June 21, and the third and deciding game with Princeton, in case one is necessary, will take place June 24. These two matches were arranged in the reverse order on the Yale schedule as originally announced last week. The place for both these games will not be decided until the season is well advanced. Leading alumni wish both played in New York.

RUTGERS NINE ON FIELD.

Outdoor Work Begun in Preparation for C. C. N. Y. Game April 8.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., March 18.—Outdoor baseball practice was begun today by the Rutgers team with fifty candidates reporting. The Scarlet will open its schedule on April 8 with C. C. N. Y., in this city, and the coach is anxious to get his men at real work.

There will be no Southern training trip this year, but the schedule will open much earlier than usual. Rutgers appears to be weak in the pitching department as regards veterans, but the rest of the team appears promising. Only two veterans have been lost.

WILL COACH UNION NINE.

Matty Fitzgerald, Former Giant, to Handle Baseball Team.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., March 18.—Union College will go in for baseball on a prewar basis this year. Matty Fitzgerald of Albany, former catcher of the New York Giants, has been engaged to coach the team, and a pretentious schedule, announced today, has been arranged. It calls for twelve games, including a double-header, and two dates are still open.

The schedule follows:

April 19—Morning, N. Y. U. at New York; afternoon, Crescent A. C. at Brooklyn.
April 30—Army at West Point.
May 3—Williams at Williamstown.
May 6—Colgate at Schenectady.
May 10—R. P. I. at Troy.
May 14—Hamilton at Hamilton.
May 16—Rutgers at Schenectady.
May 17—N. Y. U. at Schenectady.
May 24—Worcester Tech at Schenectady.
May 30—Hamilton at Schenectady.
June 7—R. P. I. at Schenectady.

Gibbs Boxing Bill Reported.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 18.—The Gibbs Boxing bill was reported out of the Senate Judiciary Committee this afternoon unamended. The measure will be amended on the floor of the Senate, it was said, to meet objections principally of promoters regarding provisions compelling the holding of bouts in buildings especially constructed for athletic purposes.

Workout for Columbia Track Team.

Coach Merner of Columbia will give his trackmen the first outdoor workout of the season this afternoon if the weather conditions remain favorable. Merner is endeavoring to make a strong bid for the three-cornered intercollegiate meet with Dartmouth, Penn, and Columbia on South Field.

Yale May Play West Virginia.

Special to The New York Times.

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., March 18.—West Virginia probably will play Yale on Oct. 25 at New Haven, according to announcements made here today. The date was submitted by the Mountaineers a week ago, and Yale has advised that this is the time most acceptable to them. The game will precede that with Princeton on the Mountaineers' schedule.

SHOEMAKER LOSES IN WEIRD MATCH

Amateur Pool Champion Is Defeated by H. S. Osborne in Title Tournament.

The biggest surprise of the national amateur pocket billiards championship tournament at the New York A. C. was furnished last night when J. Howard Shoemaker, titleholder, went down in defeat to Henry S. Osborne of Hartford, Conn. The score was 125 to 120, after twenty keenly contested frames.

Osborne, through his unexpected success, registered his second victory of the tournament. Up to yesterday he had dropped four consecutive games. In the afternoon the veteran Connecticut titleholder returned his initial success when he toppled Albert C. Crowe by a count of 125 to 116 in seventeen frames. This game, like the evening session, was more than usually keen, for Crowe threatened Osborne's margin right up to the final point.

The evening contest furnished a striking contrast, in addition to its astounding result. The schedule brought together the leading player of the tournament and one of the weak contestants. Osborne upset expectations from the opening. He jumped to an early lead and showed the way to the titleholder from the start. Osborne's form did not improve greatly over what he had shown in his previous matches, but, on the other hand, Shoemaker seldom ever before has exhibited such erratic ability. With this condition, Osborne had things practically his own way throughout. The frames were evenly divided.

Osborne played brilliantly at the start. After halving the opening frame, the Connecticut veteran took the next two and went into the lead by 28 to 12. Shoemaker from the beginning played off form. He couldn't seem to get the ivories rolling properly, missed comparatively easy shots, and overplayed others which ordinarily would have been easily accomplished. Instead of improving as the match progressed, Shoemaker became more erratic until at the sixth frame he was behind by 50 to 27.

In his seventh and eighth frames the champion returned his best performance. He played up to his usual standard, following excellent position and registering many difficult shots in a brilliant cluster of twenty-one balls. Osborne came back coolly and at the eleventh frame was leading by 88 to 55. This was decreased to 19 points in the following frame, and the champion, continuing his good work, took the following two frames, advancing to within 8 points of Osborne, with the score at 95 to 87.

Osborne gradually drew away from the champion thereafter, until at the eighteenth frame he was leading Shoemaker by 122 to 109. Here the champion made his last stand when Osborne missed on a hard long table cut shot. The effort was wasted, however, for after considerable jockeying Osborne got two more and ran out his string in the twentieth frame.

The scores:

AFTERNOON GAME.

Kweit Back on C. C. N. Y. Net Team.

Prospects for the success of the tennis team of the College of the City of New York were strengthened yesterday when it was announced that Harold Kweit, Captain of last year's team and member of the 'Varsity for three seasons, was discharged from the navy and has returned to college. The former Captain is in good condition and was out on the court yesterday giving the newcomers a hand and trying out some new strokes.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Pressure has risen generally east of the Mississippi River, with the maximum over the Ohio Valley. West of the Mississippi it is falling, as a rule, with depressions over Wyoming and Utah. During the last twenty-four hours there were rains in the Atlantic States, the Ohio Valley, the region of the Great Lakes, and in the Pacific States.

Clear sky was general Tuesday night over all parts of the country east of the Rocky Mountains, except in the north Atlantic States and the Ohio Valley.

Temperature has fallen generally east of the Mississippi River except in New England, and risen over the Missouri and upper Mississippi Valleys.

The outlook is for fair weather generally east of the Mississippi during Wednesday and Thursday, although it will become unsettled Thursday with probably rain in the upper Lake region and the lower Ohio Valley.

Temperature will rise Wednesday and Thursday in the Mississippi and Ohio Valleys and the Lake region, and Thursday in the middle Atlantic States and New England.

Winds along the north Atlantic Coast Wednesday and Thursday will be fresh northwest with cloudy weather; middle Atlantic Coast, fresh northwest with fair weather; south Atlantic Coast, moderate north with fair and warmer weather.

FORECAST—TODAY AND THURSDAY.

Eastern New York, New Jersey, and Eastern Pennsylvania—Fair Wednesday and Thursday; warmer Thursday.

Southern New England—Fair and cooler Wednesday; Thursday, fair with rising temperature.

Western New York—Fair and warmer Wednesday; Thursday, cloudy and warmer.

Northern New England—Partly cloudy Wednesday, preceded by rain in extreme eastern Maine; Thursday, fair with rising temperature.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at 11 P. M., taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

	1918.	1919.		1918.	1919.
3 A. M.	41	47	4 P. M.	54	62
6 A. M.	37	49	6 P. M.	53	53
9 A. M.	43	52	9 P. M.	49	43
12 M.	49	51	11 P. M.	47	42

This thermometer is 414 feet above the street level. The average temperature yesterday was 52; for the corresponding date last year it was 46; average on the corresponding date for the last thirty-three years, 38. The temperature at 8 A. M. yesterday was 52; at 8 P. M. it was 45. Maximum temperature, 62 degrees at 4 P. M.; minimum, 42 degrees at 10 P. M. Humidity, 91 per cent. at 8 A. M.; 55 per cent. at 8 P. M.

The barometer at 8 A. M. yesterday registered 29.86 inches; at 8 P. M. it stood at 30.02 inches.

Education Notes.

The University Settlement Society, 184 Eldridge Street, announces a course of twelve lessons in modern dancing. Classes will be conducted on successive Friday evenings, beginning March 21.

The Teacher-Clerks' Assn. of the elementary schools will hold a meeting at 10:30 A. M. on Saturday in the Wanamaker Auditorium. All teacher-clerks are invited to attend, as business of importance will be transacted.

At the University Club of Brooklyn, 109 Lafayette Avenue, on the evening of March 22 there will be brief addresses on "Problems in High School Administration" by Principal G. J. Raynor of the Commercial High School; on "The Elementary Schools" by Principal Byron W. Baker, P. S. 156, Brooklyn; "Articulation of Elementary Schools and High Schools" by Principal H. M. Snyder, Manual Training High School; "Life Values in High School Education" by Harold G. Campbell, administrative assistant, Eastern District High School, and "Co-ordination of Schools and Business" by Arthur J. Mackey, co-ordinator, Pay Ridge High School. Exercises will open promptly at 8:30 P. M.

Miss Ruth Tappan of the Brooklyn Training School will speak on "The Child's Garden" at the Brooklyn Botanic Garden tomorrow at 4 P. M.

The Teachers' Interests Organization will hold a salary meeting at 4 P. M. on March 29 in P. S. 27.

The Class of '88, Hunter College, will hold a reunion on April 5 at the Hotel McAlpin.

The following is the list for typewriter-accountant, Grade 2, (Remington-Wahl machine): Angelina I. Spinelli, 97; Mary V. Rourke, 94; Ella A. Byrne, 93; Edythe Mazzu, 90; Mary A. George, 89; Lita B. Brannett, 88; Helen Schwarts, 88; Harry A. Kitchen, 85; Emma E. Waring, 80; Anna Kasnowitz, 78; Madeline D. Kirschmann, 73; Lillian Wolz, 70; John Prata, 70.

United States.

The commission announces for April 1 an examination for machinist's helper, for men. A vacancy in the Bureau of Standards, Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C., at $960 a year, will be filled from this examination. Competitors will not be required to report for examination at any place, but will be rated on physical ability, 40; training and experience, 60. Applicants must show that they have had at least two years' experience as machinist's helper or in similar work in a machine shop or factory. They must have reached their eighteenth birthday on the date of examination. Further information may be obtained from the commission, Washington, D. C.

Estates Appraised.

BLACQUE, VALENTINE A., (Jan. 9, 1915.) Total estate, $593,020. Assets, real estate, personal, $3,773, this includes $2,312 from the French Government for an automobile commandeered at the beginning of the war, and income due from the trust fund created by decedent's grandfather, Valentine A. Mott, $1,461. A claim was made for the principal of this trust by the estate on the ground that Valentine Mott's will left the remainder to the issue of his grandson, the decedent, to whom a son was born in 1876 and died six days later. The estate claimed the father, the decedent, was the heir and next of kin of the infant son and so should have the principal. Surrogate Cohalan decided against the estate of the decedent and the Court of Appeals sustained that decision. Cash, $74,288; stocks and bonds, $514,958. The estate went to his wife, Kate Wilson Read Blacque.

and their correspondents throughout the world

The personal introduction, which obtains for the traveller the services and facilities of the Correspondents named in the list attached to the Letter of Credit should, in addition to its financial safeguards, recommend the Letter of Credit, especially in these times, as desirable in the highest degree as a financial arrangement for those contemplating foreign travel.

A Better Outlook for Investors

Peace conditions have already improved the earnings of many corporations that were seriously affected by the war. That these earnings will continue to increase with the return to normal conditions is confidently expected.

Since security prices in some cases have not as yet reflected these improved earnings and prospects, we are still able to offer strong securities at war-time prices.

Unusual Investment Opportunities

MEN in their forties or fifties seeking to become financially independent, can ill afford to neglect to accumulate long-term bonds around present prices. It is the judgment of investment experts that the time is bound to come when many well secured bonds that can be purchased today to yield around 5% to 6½% will sell at prices which will not yield anywhere near so much income. To men in their forties or fifties this is an important consideration, since every dollar of additional income means just that much more financial independence.

Stocks React Under Realizing Sales Near the Close of Business—February Trade Figures

The rather quick change in the character of the stock market which occurred during the last half-hour of business yesterday was attributed to a combination of realizing sales and an increased output of sales for reaction. While the price list at the end of the day showed a number of substantial gains, these in most cases were merely a portion of sizable gross increases scored earlier in the session. In fact the market by selling off near the end of trading spoiled what had seemed in the early afternoon to be a continuation of the previous advance. Even the railroad stocks, lately sluggish and inclined to heaviness, were at one time in process of recovery, and the steel and copper shares were giving a pretty good account of themselves when the switch came. Some of the petroleum, tobacco, and shipping shares were from 2 to nearly 5 points higher than the day before at the time when offerings rose in the ascendancy over demand.

The general swing toward lower levels was not surprising to traders who had been studying the market closely for the last ten days. In this period it was noted that while certain special stocks were being moved up easily by the concentrated effort of large speculative interests, the railroad issues, together with a number of the more conservative industrials, were doing nothing more than backing and filling, without a tendency either way. Such a situation is conducive to testing of the market by short sellers, and when realizing reached fair proportions it was reasonable to suppose that short sales quickly expanded. The reactionary trend seemed to have no incentive outside of technical considerations. As far as the day's news developments were concerned little appeared to accentuate what has been under discussion for some time past. It is more than likely that a date not distant will bring events at the Peace Conference of a nature to have far-reaching influence on security prices, but at present the markets are weighing only the general principles so far enunciated at Paris. Today steel makers and representatives of the Government will consider a program for stimulating new buying, and while the producers went over the ground yesterday at a meeting in the Steel Corporation's offices they made public nothing of their ideas. The market followers who find comfort or dissatisfaction in foreign trade reports had much to study in the February statement of foreign commerce. The total of exports was truly amazing, considering that the shipment of war materials did not figure. The outgo of goods, amounting in value to $588,000,000, topped the best previous February record by $121,000,000, and exceeded the February showing last year by no less than $177,000,000. The total was within $35,000,000 of the record established in January last. Doubtless exports of food products counted heavily in the aggregate, but the statement was emphasized by the fact that wholesale prices during the month were somewhat less than in January. The great increase in our trade balance, which is going forward without letup, is a matter, of course, of economic satisfaction, but the size of the problem centred about the liquidation of Europe's debt to this country is made more evident as trade reports continue to be made public.

French exchange again leaped about, reflecting what seems to amount to the cessation of support to the market by the French Treasury. Checks were quoted at 5.74 at the end of the day, compared with 5.71½ on Monday afternoon, while business was reported at figures as low as 5.78. The call money market displayed greater ease than it has for several weeks past, a considerable total of loans being reported at 3¾ per cent. The fact that only a small part of bank checks deposited with income tax statements have yet passed through the banks seems to have had an effect on the money market.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

French Exchange Goes Lower.

French exchange continued to reflect yesterday the confusion into which the market was thrown the day before when it became apparent that the French Treasury was no longer supporting the rate. In banking quarters transactions were reported as low as 5.78 francs to the dollar for sight bills, compared with 5.71 at the close on Monday. A recovery to 5.74 occurred late in the afternoon. The decline of quotations followed a fresh recession of the franc rate in London. The sterling parity is 25.22½ francs to the pound. The "pegged" rate was long maintained at 25.97 prior to the retreat which began last week, but since the support was lessened the quotation has moved down to the neighborhood of 27.45. The belief that the French authorities were seeking to discourage imports by permitting exchange to decline was rather generally expressed among local bankers.

Harriman National's Trust Powers.

The Harriman National Bank has received from the Federal Reserve Board permission to act as trustee, executor, registrar of stocks and bonds, guardian of estates, &c., under authority of the recent amendment to the Federal Reserve act. This is the fifth local national institution to elect to exercise many of the functions of a trust company.

Quick Action in Shipping Stock.

The trader who guessed right about Atlantic, Gulf & West Indies shares early yesterday morning took a good profit, provided that he sold with equal correctness. The range from the opening to the maximum price was 5 full points, but the quotation melted down so rapidly toward the close that the net gain for the day was no more than 1½ points. Marine preferred swung upward 4 points from the opening, but also had to let go of most of this advantage later. The rise in both had the appearance of pool buying, but if this was the governing factor the pools uncovered a lot of unexpected selling as the day progressed.

Conflicting Market Opinion.

The end of the market session was so near at hand when the heavy outbreak of selling occurred that it was rather difficult to describe the full character of the day's dealings in stocks. The ease with which the shipping issues, United Cigar Stores, and one or two others were bid upward in the first hour seemed to show the market to be unchanged from its condition for a week past. In some quarters it was thought that the sharp decline was a result of bear attack as the major influence. In other trading circles where a reaction has been hoped for the opinion was advanced that realizing sales had been the larger influence.

Ontario Dividend Passed.

The net decline of close to a point in Ontario Mining was accounted for by news that the quarterly dividend expected shortly would not be declared this time. The company had been paying 50 cents per quarter since the advance in the price of silver last year increased its income. The management is carrying out a development program which made it necessary to conserve cash resources.

Railroad Bonds Move Slowly.

In the bond market, dealers say that there has been a steady decrease in the number and quality of the inquiries for railroad bonds since the prices of Liberty issues have eased off to a point where the latter offer a better inducement to the investor than some of the old line rails. The belief is general that the recent heavy purchases of Liberty bonds by savings banks and insurance companies has marked the beginning of the end of the final distribution of the Government bond issues offered thus far, and specialists say that as soon as this distribution is completed the Liberty bond quotations will advance and the old line railroad securities will return to favor. One bond man sets the date for a resumption of investment in railroad bonds as late as November or December of this year.

Railroad Meeting Off.

The announcement from Washington that the meeting set for today in that city of Director General of Railroads Walker D. Hines, and the Central Committee of Railway Executives which was chosen more than a week ago, had been postponed, did not cause particular surprise. The Washington information stated that the conference had been postponed because the Director General was busy working on a plan which would allow the Administration to meet the present emergency, and that the postponement was indefinite.

Southern Carolina & Georgia Bonds.

Information was received in Wall Street yesterday to the effect that plans are under way for the financing of the $5,250,000 South Carolina and Georgia Railroad first mortgage 5 per cent. gold bonds which fall due May 1. The issue represents the Carolina division of the Southern Railway, and it is understood that the plans are for an extension of the bonds over a period of years. It is believed in the financial district that the matter will be taken care of by local bankers, but at the same time it was pointed out that recent railroad financing had been placed from Washington. The due date of this issue is some distance away, but the matter has been brought up at this time as the Victory Liberty Loan campaign will extend beyond that date.

Japanese Shipbuilding.

While American shippers are crying for tonnage and more tonnage in which to place their goods for foreign markets where the demand for American products is far ahead of the supply, word has been received from Japan that the Nipponese have been hard hit in their shipyards by the termination of the war. Japanese newspapers say that as the tonnage output of the United States and Great Britain increases the output of Japanese yards will decrease as the result of the higher prices they have to pay for basic materials. This, it is explained, will be true of the mushroom yards which have been the result of the war and high prices, but will not obtain in the case of the old established firms which are expected to weather the storm of initial high prices and continue their normal production of vessels.

The Railroad Requirements.

The financial requirements of the railroads in the current year, based on proposals made by the Director General of Railroads, and estimates of average monthly net income, are placed in some quarters as high as $1,200,000,000. This amount has been tabulated as follows: $381,806,000, due on 1918 accounts; more than $300,000,000 to finance inland waterways, the Boston & Maine reorganization, and equipment orders of 1918 to be paid for this year; $491,000,000 to finance capital expenditures, and $200,000,000 railroad maturities in 1919. To this is added an estimated deficit of $240,000,000, which the Administration will have to meet if net operating incomes continues at the rate of $55,000,000 a month, making the total requirement $1,630,000,000. From this it is suggested that $150,000,000 may be deducted as the amount of 1919 rental the roads can use for capital expenditures, together with $200,000,000 maturities which will probably be refunded, leaving the net requirements for the year at $1,280,000,000.

MUST SPECIFY LUXURY TAX.

Retailer May Not Include It in Selling Price.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Retailers selling taxable luxuries, such as expensive clothing, may not include the tax in the selling price, but must specify the amount of the tax in collecting it from the customer. Announcing this today following a conference with merchants, the Internal Revenue Bureau explained that the rule would prevent the raising of prices more than the amount of the tax. The so-called luxury taxes will go into effect May 1 and be collected monthly.

Taxes on toilet articles will be collected by sale of stamps to be bought by retailers and affixed to each article sold. The cost of these stamps may be included in the selling price of the article.

Collectors of internal revenue today had instructions to notify all persons who failed to pay the first installment of their income tax last Saturday that they thereby had forfeited the privilege of making their payments on the installment plan. All such delinquents, the instructions issued by Commissioner Roper said, must pay their full tax upon demand of the district collector.

Persons who failed to file their returns last Saturday may avoid the penalty of 25 per cent. in addition to the regular tax if a sworn statement is presented with their return giving a reason for the delay. Otherwise revenue collectors were instructed to enforce the penalty.

Cigar Company Earns $2,318,982.

The annual report of the American Cigar Company for last year, which was issued yesterday, showed net earnings after interest charges and Federal taxes of $2,318,982, which was equivalent to $17.80 a share earned on the $10,000,000 common stock. This compared with net earnings of $2,213,755, or $16.14 a share, earned on the same stock in the preceding year. After the payment of preferred and common dividends amounting to $1,200,000, the surplus for the year was $1,118,982, which compared with $1,013,755 in 1917, and the profit and loss surplus was $12,442,915. In the preceding year the profit and loss surplus was $11,323,933.

BIG BUILDERS HERE DEMAND $40 STEEL

James Stewart Declares That Price Would Give Pre-War Profits and Cover Labor Increase.

WANTS CUT OF $16 A TON

All Building Halted, He Says, and 4,000 Erectors Working Where 60,000 Should Be Employed.

Representatives of three of the largest construction companies in the city—James Stewart & Co., the Thompson-Starrett Company, and the George A. Fuller Company—said yesterday that steel must come down from $14 to $16 a ton before there could be any increased activity in construction work. This was said with special reference to the conference between the Industrial Board of the Department of Commerce and the representatives of steel manufacturers to be held in Washington today to consider Secretary Redfield's plan for stabilization and to fix a basic price for steel, with a view to reassuring public confidence by the placing of Government orders.

The representatives of the construction companies said that if a price were determined upon at this conference which was only $5 to $8 a ton below that at present quotations there would be no incentive for the undertaking of new building. It was their view that such a cut would only create further unsettlement of conditions; that the remedy lies in a drastic cut in prices. They considered that a price of $40 a ton at the mill for structural steel should be the bsasis on which to start, this comparing with a price of from $54 to $56 a ton at the present time.

James Stewart said that, contrary to often published reports, building was at a standstill. "What we have," he said, "are inquiries, but they develop into nothing more than that. At present our own company and the George A. Fuller Company and the Thompson-Sterrett Company are employing not more than 4,000 men, whereas under normal conditions the men employed would number between 50,000 and 60,000. The reason for this inactivity is that buildings cannot be put up under the present prices for steel to compete successfully with those erected in the pre-war period.

"What is needed is that the price of steel be brought down to a point where the profits of the steel manufacturers is not any greater than in pre-war years. This might force some of the high cost companies out of business, some of those which were organized during the war to handle war business, as well as some of the others which have always been high cost companies, but it is necessary to determine upon a price plan which shall be drastic enough to invite the attention of the outside buyers. It is this feature which should come to the attention of the Redfield Committee.

"It is one thing for the Industrial Board to say that prices are fair, after having a conference with the steel men, and then offer proof of this, in a sense, by placing Government business. That may be very well for the Government, but it does not alleviate the condition with regard to building unless the cuts are drastic enough to bring the price of mill steel down to $40 a ton. I have looked carefully into the figures supplied to me as to the cost of production of steel, and it seems that an increase of $12.50 a ton over the pre-war prices should satisfy the demands of the steel companies as to earnings and therefore dividends.

"It has been estimated that in the pre-war years a steel company such as the United States Steel Corporation could make a reasonable profit over dividend requirements by selling structural steel at the mill at $28 a ton. The $12.50 additional would supply the difference between labor costs now and then.

"The construction companies are willing to do business for less profit than heretofore so as to get business to moving. At present practically no construction work is being undertaken in the city. I know of one plan which was submitted from Washington, but it was abandoned when it was pointed out that the costs were 50 per cent higher than those figured upon. The fact that drastic cuts in prices are needed, and not half or quarter way cuts, should receive the attention of the Industrial Board. The public cannot be induced to build simply because the Government is willing to place orders for steel after only slight price recessions."

WILL CUT STEEL PRICES.

Delegates of Companies in Washington to Meet Industrial Board.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Delegates of American steel interests, headed by Judge Elbert H. Gary, representing the American Iron and Steel Institute, assembled in Washington tonight to meet with the Industrial Board of the Department of Commerce tomorrow in an attempt to decide upon a reduction in and stabilization of steel prices.

The conference will be the first of a series to be held by the newly created Industrial Board with representatives of the basic industries of the nation, the purpose being to speed the return to normal conditions through the present period of industrial reconstruction.

The members of the Iron and Steel Institute's committee who are to participate in the conference are, besides Judge Gary, Charles M. Schwab, James A. Farrell, Alva C. Dinkey, Eugene C. Grace, John A. Topping, L. E. Block, James E. Burden, C. H. McCullough, Jr.; H. C. Dalton, A. F. Huston, and William L. King. The Department of Justice will be represented by Edward T. Quigley, acting solicitor of the Department of Commerce. No action will be taken without assurance first being given by Mr. Quigley that it contravenes no Federal law.

"Made in America" on every ingot plate and shape, and these scattered to every country of the world where steel is used, is the plan of the steel and iron companies of the United States. Two great export associations have been formed and many independent firms are arranging for still a third, so that practically every mine and mill will take part in the great conquest for a large share of the metal trade of the world.

Hard and soft lumber associations are also being formed along the same lines for purposes of exploiting the export trade.

COTTON PRICES EASE OFF.

Decrease in General Speculative Operations Felt in Market.

Cotton prices eased off yesterday, more as a result of a sluggish demand than as the product of any notable increase in selling pressure. The way toward lower levels was pointed at the opening when Liverpool cables denoted that the market was weak over there. Traders were more inclined to pay attention to the near approach of the planting season, which current weather conditions indicate may be started earlier than usual. More than this, however, the market was influenced by a decrease of general speculative operations on the long side.

Among the old style contract prices declines ran from 25 to 60 points, with December contracts standing out as an exception through a drop of 95 points. In the new style options the recessions were somewhat less, ranging from 25 to 40 points. According to market gossip the decline of the December contract and the rather sharp fluctuations which occurred resulted from liquidation by outside interests, Japanese exporters being mentioned as possible sellers.

Yesterday's quotations were as follows:

WIN WAGE INCREASE IN BUILDING TRADES

All Classes of Labor, Under Umpire's Award, Get $1 a Day More.

VOICES DOUBT ON RATES

Justice Dugro, in Making His Decision, Questions Its Reasonableness.

Supreme Court Justice P. Henry Dugro, the umpire selected by the Building Trades Association and the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners to consider their dispute over wages, yesterday announced an award that granted an increase of about $1 a day to all classes of labor. The umpire was appointed with the approval of the Secretary of War and the Secretary of Labor, and his decision, effective to July 1, has been accepted by unions and employers.

Justice Dugro's award ends the strike that was only suspended on Feb. 25 when he was designated to take evidence in the dispute. His award specifies that carpenters employed at shop work shall receive $5.50 a day and those employed outside shall receive $6 a day. After July 1 the scale shall be $5.75 for inside work, and $6.25 for outside work. In his letter announcing the award Justice Dugro said:

"The inception of the controversy between the parties took place in the month of the armistice, and it may well be that a demand of that kind for $6.50 a day as the rate for 1919 was reasonable, but today peace has been considered practically an assured fact, and such expectation of great demand for carpenters in 1919 as could have been considered reasonable in November, 1918, cannot now be so considered. Government work has, or probably will, slacken, and general building operations have not yet been undertaken to any great extent. The stage of such operations, in which the services of carpenters will be in demand, will not be present in the immediate future.

"With these considerations in mind, and such others as were presented at the hearing, I am of the opinion that the rate to be paid should not be fixed for the entire period of the remainder of the year, but that a lower rate should be fixed for the period preceding July 1, next, than for the six months period thereafter.

"With regret that I am not free from doubt as to the reasonableness of the decision, but in the hope that it may nevertheless be satisfactory, particularly as the later period is of short duration, and the period wherein a proper rate for future observance will be more readily determinable than now, I announce this decision."

Acceptance of the award was made by C. G. Norman, representing the employers; Alexander Kelso, representing William L. Hutcheson, President of the United Brotherhood, and Robert T. Brindell, head of the carpenters' district council.

GALVESTON-HOUSTON ELECTRIC COMPANY

Three Year 7% Secured Gold Notes

Dated March 1, 1919 Due March 1, 1922

THE COMMONWEALTH TRUST CO., BOSTON, Trustee

The Galveston-Houston Electric Company owns the capital stock of the Galveston Electric Company, the Houston Electric Company and the Galveston-Houston Electric Railway Company, which companies do the entire electric railway and a portion of the electric lighting and power business in Galveston, Texas, the electric railway business in Houston, Texas, and operate an interurban electric railway between the cities of Galveston and Houston, a distance of 51 miles.

From a letter of Messrs. Stone & Webster, Boston, Managers, we further summarize as follows:

Purpose of Issue: The proceeds of these $1,500,000 Notes will provide for the retirement of the Company's entire floating debt incurred for additions and improvements and for all necessary requirements through 1919.

Security: These Notes will be the direct obligation of Galveston-Houston Electric Company and will be secured by deposit of $1,800,000 General Mortgage 7% Bonds of the three operating companies.

Earnings:

Years ended December 31	Gross Earnings	Net Earnings after Operating Exps. and Taxes	Interest Charges	Balance for Sinking Fund Requirements, Reserves, Replacements and Dividends
1916	$1,944,839	$708,732	$321,757	$386,975
1917	2,088,121	703,250	331,203	372,047
1918	2,691,331	841,082	350,185	490,897

Present annual interest charges including interest on these Notes $400,275. Net Earnings in 1918 were more than twice these interest charges.

Sinking Funds of the operating companies have acquired $1,042,500 of the underlying bonds and are acquiring bonds at the rate of about $115,000 per year.

WE RECOMMEND THESE NOTES FOR INVESTMENT.

TAX DELINQUENTS PAY FULL PENALTY

Lose Installment Privilege and Collectors Exact Additional 25 Per Cent.

MANY SEEK EXPERT ADVICE

Corporations Want Tangles and Ambiguities Cleared Up Before Making Final Returns.

Guided by the ruling of the Commissioner of Internal Revenue that persons who failed to make their initial tax payments by March 15 had forfeited the privilege of paying in installments, and that the whole amount of their income tax was due, a number of tardy citizens presented themselves at the offices of the various Internal Revenue Collectors in this city yesterday and discharged the full obligation to the Government at once. A majority of those who had not paid, however, took advantage of the granting to collectors by the Commissioner of the right to determine in each individual case whether the delay involved culpable neglect and therefore subject to the penalty of 25 per cent. of the tax.

Those who think their delays were excusable are asked to write letters to the collector of the district in which they file their returns, explaining why payment was not made within the time specified in the law. Already quite a number of such letters have reached the collectors and in addition to the other complications of tax collecting, they now face the task of passing judgment on these offenders.

With the passing of the first rush, which was largely occupied with the cases of individual taxpayers, the collectors are finding more and more every day that a huge number of corporations which filed tentative returns still are in the dark as to various knots and tangles in the law, and the demand for expert advice is growing instead of diminishing. In furnishing this advice local officials are, of course, guided by interpretations officially put upon various phases of the act by rulings of the Treasury's Bureau of Internal Revenue, with which some private authorities differ.

Internal Revenue Collectors yesterday called attention to the fact that payments of "special taxes" on the part of brokers, theatre proprietors, museums, concert halls, and others are due March 26, under the provisions of the new law. William H. Edwards, Collector for the Second District, made this statement elucidating the law as applying to such persons:

"Brokers are required to pay $50. If a broker is a member of a Stock Exchange, Board of Trade, or similar organization he is required to pay an additional $100 if the average value during the preceding year ended June 30 of a seat or membership in such organization was between $2,000 and $5,000. If the value was more than $5,000, he pays $150. Additional tax liability of $25 is assessed for the first six months of 1919. Pro-rata credit is given where the old tax had been paid up to June 30. Pawnbrokers pay $100, the pro-rata liability to June 30 being $50, the pro-rata credit where the old tax has been paid to June 30 being $25. Ship brokers pay $50. Every person whose business it is as a broker to negotiate freights and other business for the owners of vessels or for the shippers or consignors or consignees of freight carried by vessels is regarded as a ship broker. Custom House brokers pay $50. Proprietors of theatres, museums, and concert halls, where a charge for admission is made, having a seating capacity of not more than 250, pay $50; between 250 and 500, $100; between 500 and 800, $150; more than 800, $200. Credit for one-half of each of the foregoing amounts is given where the old tax was held to June 30, 1919. Proprietors of bowling alleys and billiard rooms pay $10 for each alley or table. Persons operating or renting passenger automobiles for hire pay $10 for each such automobile having a seating capacity of two and not more than seven, and $20 for each such automobile having a seating capacity of more than seven."

BUTTER AND EGG MARKET.

BUTTER.—Receipts yesterday, 10,284 pkgs. Demand exceeding the supply, and with very active trading, prices are again higher and strong. Creamery, higher than extras, a pound, 65½@66c; extras, 92-score, 64½@65c; firsts, 88 to 91 score, 62@64c; seconds, 83 to 87 score, 58@61c; lower grades, 53@57c; unsalted, higher than extras, 70@71c; extras, 68@69c; firsts, 64@67c; seconds, 60@63c; State dairy, tubs, finest, 63@64c; good to prime, 57@62c; common to fair, 45@55c; renovated, extras, 51@52c; firsts, 49@50c; lower grades, 43@48c; imitation creamery, firsts, 48@49c; ladles, current make, firsts, 44@45c; seconds, 41½@42c; lower grades, 40@41c; packing stock, current make, No. 1, 41½@42c; No. 2, 40½@41c; lower grades, 36@40c.

EGGS.—34,925 cases. The market developed a little easier tone, with liberal receipts and rather free offerings on the New York Mercantile Exchange. Sales did not exceed 41¼@42c for Northern Ohio and Northern Indiana firsts. Trading was limited, buyers and sellers being apart on the general offerings. Trading from store at the close is fair but not especially active. The rank and file of the fresh gathered stock arriving from southerly and westerly points is selling in range of 40½@41½c, but fine marks of southerly ungraded eggs are taken at 42c, and stock that shows more or less grading such as was formerly sold under the grading of extra firsts commands a little higher price. White eggs are in liberal supply from nearby points, and the market is quiet, with free offerings at unchanged prices. Californias about steady, but top quotation is reached only for exceedingly fancy goods. Fresh gathered, extras, dozen, 43½@44c; storage packed, firsts, 42@43c; firsts, northerly sections, 41½@42½c; firsts, central and southerly, 40½@41½c; under grades, seconds, 39@40c; dirties, No. 1, 39c; No. 2 and poorer, 37@38c; checks, good to choice, dry, 37@38c; under grades, 35@36c; State, Pennsylvania, and nearby Western hennery whites, fine to fancy, 46@47c; ordinary to prime, 42@45c; gathered whites, ordinary to fine, 42@45c; Pacific Coast whites, extras, 47c; ordinary to fine, 42@46c; Western and Southern, gathered whites, 42@45c; State, Pennsylvania and nearby hennery browns, 45c; gathered brown and mixed colors, 41½@44c; duck eggs, nearby Indian Runner, fancy, 62@65c; Baltimore, 60@62c; Western and prime Southern, 55@60c; Southern, common to good, 40@52c.

WOMEN'S VICTORY VAIN.

Cleveland Company to Ignore Order to Reinstate Conductorettes.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—The sixty-four women street car conductors of the Cleveland, Ohio, Railway Company who were discharged March 1 must be restored to their work under a decision of the War Labor Board made today by Joint Chairmen Taft and Manly.

A former order of the board was set aside by the new decision, which restores seniority and other privileges to the women workers.

The employment of the women caused a strike in Cleveland last year. In December the War Labor Board, upon the application of the Mayor, recommended their discharge at the end of a month, but the company by agreement with its male employes continued to employ them until March 1. In the new decision the Joint Chairmen held that an injustice had been done the women by the former order, made without a hearing being given to the women, because "the terms of their employment justified them in believing that their employment would continue until normally ended by their voluntary withdrawal or failure on their part to render proper service or other sufficient reason."

The company, it was stated, has sufficient vacancies to give employment not only to the women but also to restore in its service all men who have been absent in military service.

CLEVELAND, March 18.—The Cleveland Railway Company will abide by its agreement with the city and Carmen's Union not to employ women conductors after March 1, notwithstanding the order of the War Labor Board, John J. Stanley, President of the company, announced late today.

Under the agreement a three-day street car strike was settled, and Mr. Stanley said he could not reinstate the women and be a party to another strike.

The conductorettes will hold a meeting tomorrow night to discuss further action in the event they are not taken back.

Bliss Company Earns $1,271,353.

The report of the E. W. Bliss Company for the year ended Dec. 31, 1918, issued yesterday, showed net earnings after the deduction of taxes and depreciation, amounting to $1,271,353, which was equal after preferred dividends to $46.85 a share earned on the common stock. This compared with $89.57 earned on the same stock in the preceding year. Common dividends amounting to $593,750 were paid in the course of the year, as compared with $625,000 on the same stock in 1917, and surplus decreased from $1,614,295 to $577,603. Total surplus as of Dec. 31, 1918, was $16,131,878, as compared with $15,336,134 in the preceding year.

SOVIETS CONTROL BUENOS AIRES PORT

Commercial Bodies Protest Against Tyranny of Maritime Federation.

TELL OF BUSINESS LOSSES

Accuse the Government of Failing to Protect Workingmen in Their Right to Labor.

BUENOS AIRES, March 18.—The names of thirty-four prominent business men, representing seventeen commercial organizations, are attached to a page advertisement in the newspapers addressed "To the People of the Republic."

The proclamation declares that the foreign commerce of Argentina is subject to the control of "a genuine Soviet of the port of Buenos Aires."

"President Irigoyen," it continues, "recently told our representatives that the Government would take no drastic measures against violence, which policy is evident in the tolerance shown to foreign professional agitators, instead of deporting them."

It reviews the commercial losses due to boycotts, and asserts: "The Government does not afford protection to workmen in their right to work."

La Razon announces that neither the shipowners nor the workmen show any disposition to assist the Government in solving the port strike situation under the decree issued Saturday which nationalized the service of loading and unloading vessels under the authority of the Custom House.

Argentine newspaper men have formed a union. They will apply for membership in the Graphic Arts Federations which is directing the strikes of printers in several cities.

ORGANIZE B. R. T. WORKERS.

Two Meetings Are Held in Brooklyn to Enroll Union Members.

Plans for organizing the workers of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company were discussed at a meeting in Arcadia Hall, Halsey Street and Broadway, Brooklyn, last night, attended by 10,000 persons, more than half of whom were employes of the B. R. T. After the first meeting, which began at 8 o'clock and lasted until nearly midnight, there was another meeting beginning at 2 o'clock in the morning for night workers.

It was pointed out that the meeting was merely for the purpose of organizing and that there was no question of a strike. The speakers included Hugh Frayne, William Collins, and Frank Morrison of the American Federation of Labor, and P. J. O'Brien, Vice President of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes of America.

HINES GETS $50,000,000.

Railroad Administration Aided by War Finance Corporation.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Fifty million dollars was loaned today to Director General Hines by the War Finance Corporation as the first advance for the Railroad Administration since it was left without funds by failure of the Congressional appropriation. Other loans will follow as rapidly as they can be arranged.

The loan was made to the Director General as representative of railroads which the War Finance Corporation considers essential war industries. Adequate collateral was given in the form of railroad bonds and notes, mainly, it is understood, bonds of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The loan was made at 6 per cent., the same rate as is charged by the Director General for most advances to railroads, and is payable July 15 with the right on the part of the Director General to repay before that date.

The War Finance Corporation also approved an application from the Central of Georgia Railroad for an advance of $1,121,000.

These loans are in addition to the $70,000,000 aggregate advances made heretofore to individual railroad companies.

GIVE DINNER FOR JAPANESE.

Silk Delegates Drink Toasts to the Mikado and President.

The twenty delegates of the Japanese National Raw Silk Industry who came to this country to study the American silk trade were the guests of the Silk Association of America at a dinner in the Hotel Astor last night. About 400 members of the American Association were present.

All the delegates had attended the dinner of the Japan Society in the same room on Friday night when Viscount Ishii made his plea for an article in the Constitution of the League of Nations to prevent race discrimination, and some of the speakers referred to the suggestion of the Japanese Ambassador, without mentioning his name. Gosuke Imai, chief of the delegation and a member of the Imperial Japanese Senate, expressed his opinion that "politics is quite out of place on this occasion," and proceeded to a discussion of the silk industry.

Charles Cheney, President of the American Association, said he believed that national isolation had ended, but that "true international friendship can best be based upon the greatest freedom of national life and aspirations," he continued. "No international union is bearable which does not go hand in hand with absolute freedom at home."

Mr. Cheney decried any attempt of "agitators" to predict unfriendly relations between the countries. Toasts were proposed to the Mikado and President Wilson with enthusiasm.

Pump Co. Reports Income Gain.

The Worthington Pump and Machinery Company notes in its report for 1918 that new orders booked after the armistice was signed compared favorably with the bookings for several years prior to the war. Eighty-five per cent. of output was directly or indirectly for the Government, the report states, and cancellations amounting to $6,117,000 after hostilities ceased left the company at the end of the year with $26,161,859 unfilled contracts on hand. The value of goods billed to customers in the year was $43,443,485, an increase of $15,035,755. The net income, including the return from investments, was $7,630,686, a gain of $1,376,115, and after providing for interest and adjustments and setting aside $4,000,000 for the estimated Federal tax, a balance of $3,187,774 remained. In 1917 the balance was $4,718,912 after Federal taxes of $1,504,857 had been met. Net current assets were $19,006,168, of which $1,953,448 was in cash and $3,359,605 in United States securities.

PREDICTS BUSINESS BOOM.

Secretary Redfield Says Unemployment Will End in Two Months.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, March 18.—That a boom in business throughout the United States is imminent, and that the unemployment situation will be cleared up within two months, were predictions made today by William C. Redfield, Secretary of Commerce, who came to Chicago to address the Paint and Varnish Industries Association and to attend the banquet of the Iroquois Club, at which he also spoke.

Wise business men, he said, were starting up their industries despite a rising market, and the Federal Industries Board was meeting tomorrow to start the ball rolling. The coming of Spring would start building operations within a month, and the harvest within another month, and this would mean a big impetus to business generally.

"I hope the League of Nations plan will be carried out," he continued. "The nation which adjusts its prices early is going to have an advantage in the world trade, too. I have been interested to see the speed with which the opponents of the League are climbing on the band wagon."

The Federal Industries Board, Secretary Redfield said, would not attempt to regulate business or "doctor" it, but would merely form a medium for discussion of the country's needs by experts in various branches of industry, and would bring together the big buyer, the business man who sells or manufactures, and the workingman who produces, and will function much after the fashion of the Department of Labor's subsidiary boards.

Case Thrashing Machine Co. Report

The report of the J. I. Case Thrashing Machine Company for the year ended Dec. 31, 1918, which has just been issued, shows net profits after interest charges and taxes amounting to $2,353,235, which, after the deduction of preferred dividends, was equivalent to $18.10 a share earned on the $8,300,000 common stock, as compared with $12.14 a share earned on the same stock in the preceding year. The report showed also that, while the company's net earnings from operation increased to $5,992,023 from $4,066,854, net profits were cut down by increases in other items.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE

Profit-taking sales in the final hour made for reduced values in the market yesterday on the Consolidated Stock Exchange. Closing quotations recorded losses in many issues, and gains in other stocks were materially reduced. The pressure was severe in the standard industrials, especially the steel and kindred stocks. Weakness in these shares had a depressing effect on the general list.

LEGISLATIVE WAR ON SMITH'S BILLS

Democrats Defeated in Opening Battle Over Governor's Reconstruction Measure.

NO MORE GIVE AND TAKE

Republicans Accused of Bad Faith—Whitman Men Charged with Squandering $3,650,000.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 18.—In both branches of the Legislature the Democrats began today an aggressive, though for the present unsuccessful, fight for Governor Smith's legislative program. The Republicans, nerved into making their first real fight of the session by the presence at the Capitol of the Executive Committee of the Republican State Committee, conferring on legislative matters, offered stubborn opposition in both the Senate and Assembly. The developments today are taken to indicate that the armed truce and the days of give and take at the Capitol are at an end and that the inevitable fight along partisan lines is on.

In the Senate acting Minority Leader John J. Boylan, under suspension of rules, called up his motion to discharge the Senate Finance Committee from further consideration of the Foley bill appropriating $60,000 for the Governor's reconstruction commission appointed to study after-war problems and recommend legislation, to the end that this measure might be discussed on the floor of the Senate. He was defeated by a party vote of 25 to 18.

In the Assembly at the same time a similar motion relating to the companion bill held in the Committee on Ways and Means was defeated after a lively tilt. In the course of the Senate debate the reconstruction commission was characterized by Republican members as a "super Legislature" and a "rump Legislature." The vote in the Assembly stood 83 to 42 and did not swerve from party lines.

Senator Boylan also called up motions relating to the bill introduced by Senator Twomey of Brooklyn providing for the abolition of the so-called Narcotic Drug Commission, created by the Republican Legislature of last year, and for the transfer of its functions to the State Health Department. This motion was defeated, 15 to 12. The Governor recommended these bills in his annual message.

After the Senate had adjourned Mr. Boylan said the Reconstruction Commission bill was still alive in the Senate, though locked in committee. He indicated that the upper house had not seen the last of the Democratic fight for this measure, which Governor Smith regards as vital to his administration.

Senator Boylan recalled to the Republican Senators that during the Republican régime war emergency measures calling for $3,000,000 had been recommended, the Democratic minority lining up with their Republican colleagues to put them through.

"All of $1,200,000 out of that $3,000,000 was for jobs, and every Republican lame duck from Montauk Point to Niagara Falls became a beneficiary in some way from the enactment of those war bills, yet we held our peace and voted for them because they were pleaded for on the ground of war necessity. Now that the necessity for reconstruction is here and equally pressing, what are you Republicans doing in return?

"On the first of the year you went down to the Executive Chamber and shokk the Governor, whom you know well from many years of service in this Legislature, by the hand, and you said: 'Al, we are with you, and we want you to make good, and we will uphold your hand; you know us, Al.' And now that he asks for a measly little $60,000 for this highly important nonpartisan commission, the members of which will serve without compensation, you are refusing him even that small amount. What is he going to make good on? 'Al' can't make good on hot air, and you know it."

Senator Sage, Chairman of the Finance Committee, said that the whole problem of reconstruction, to his mind, consisted in bringing war industries back to a peace basis with as little injury to the citizens as possible. The Reconstruction Committee, he pointed out, reading from Governor Smith's message on the subject, was loaded with duties, some of which should be performed by the Legislature, while others were already being performed by State departments which were far better equipped for the functions than any temporary commission could ever be.

"We are all fond of the Governor, but no self-respecting Legislature could connive in such a scheme as this to create a super-legislature to do its work and the work of everybody else," he declared.

Senator Black of Brooklyn, Democrat, said the real reason for refusing to put the appropriation through was the fear of "several condidates for Governor on the Republican side of the Senate that if the Reconstruction Commission was supplied with funds which would enable it to do its work it would do something that might enable Governor Smith to get the jump on them in next year's gubernatorial race."

During the debate in the Assembly on the Reconstruction bill, Minority Leader Donohue charged that appropriations of $3,650,000 made by the 1917 Legislature for "emergency" war purposes had been squandered by the Whitman administration. Majority Leader Adler retorted with an attack on Abram I. Elkus, Chairman of the Reconstruction Commission, whom he denounced as a partisan who would exercise the powers given the commission in a way that would redound to the advantage of his own party. Mr. Adler said that the Governor could have all the money he wanted for an investigation following statutory lines, but not a cent for a commission that had been created without legislative sanction.

Governor Smith said tonight that the work of the Reconstruction Commission would continue, regardless of what the Legislature had done during the day. He indicated that it would be financed from private sources, members of the commission supplying the necessary funds.

RECEIVERS' NOTICES.

RECEIVER'S NOTICE TO CREDITORS OF BAY STATE STREET RAILWAY COMPANY.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on March 11, 1919, the District Court of the United States for the District of Massachusetts, wherein the undersigned Wallace B. Donham was appointed Receiver of the Bay State Street Railway Company, made and entered a decree of foreclosure and sale, pursuant to the terms of Article Thirteenth of which the holders of all unpaid claims, debts and demands against the Bay State Street Railway Company, or the Receiver, except—

(a) claims, debts and demands in respect of the obligations secured by the mortgages or deeds of trust foreclosed by said decree; and

(b) claims, debts and demands in respect of the mortgages or deeds of trust or other instruments more particularly referred to in Article Fourth of said decree; and

(c) claims, debts and demands heretofore presented in the cause of The Archibald McNeil & Sons Company v. Bay State Street Railway Company now pending in the said District Court of the United States for the District of Massachusetts, in equity No. 834, Consolidated cause, or in the constituent causes; are required to present the same on or before a certain date to be fixed by the Receiver, which the Receiver hereby fixes as April 15, 1919, to the Receiver as such Receiver, and any such claim, debt or demand not so presented other than

(1) Any deficiency judgment or judgments which may be obtained by American Trust Company, as successor trustee under the Boston and Northern Refunding First Mortgage in respect of the Boston and Northern Refunding Bonds secured thereby, or by the holders of said Boston and Northern First Mortgage Refunding Bonds, or any deficiency judgment or judgments which may be obtained by the Old Colony Trust Company as trustee under the Old Colony Railway Company Refunding First Mortgage in respect of the Old Colony Railway Company First Mortgage Refunding Bonds secured thereby, or by the holders of said Old Colony First Mortgage Refunding Bonds or

(2) Any claim, debt or demand against the Bay State Company, or the Receiver, which may arise subsequent to the expiration of the time fixed by the Receiver for the presentation of such claims, debts and demands; shall not, unless the Court shall otherwise order, be enforceable against the Bay State Company, or against the Receiver, or against the property sold under said decree of foreclosure and sale, or any part or portion of said property, or against any purchaser of the same, or any part thereof, or his successors or assigns, nor other than as aforesaid shall any such claim, debt or demand not so presented be entitled to share in the distribution of any proceeds of sale under said decree of foreclosure and sale.

Nothing contained in said Article Thirteenth shall affect any right that may exist to commence and prosecute to judgment in other tribunals suits against the Receiver, provided, however, that the claims to be presented as above required shall recite the fact of such suits. All proofs of claims, debts or demands presented as aforesaid shall also describe as definitely as practicable any collateral then held as security for the payment thereof.

All proofs of such unpaid claims, debts or demands should be mailed or delivered to the Receiver at the address given below not later than April 15, 1919.

COMING FUR SALES.

Demand Indicates Good Prices at Next Month's Auctions.

The collection of skins to be put under the hammer at the forthcoming sale of the New York Fur Auction Sales Corporation will be the best ever offered here. This, according to General Manager William Zobel, is especially true of skunk and opossum.

"The fisher collection also is a good one," Mr. Zobel said yesterday, "and contains several lots of silky Northeastern skins. All of the blue fox to be sold came from Alaska, and the lynx also came from there. The marten pelts that have come in contain a larger proportion of dark skins than usual, and the mink collection consists substantially of all fresh skins. The Russian sables are of exceptional quality.

"Some very fine lots of Northeastern skins are included in the collection of raccoon, and the muskrats and wolves received are above the average. All sections and grades will be represented in the offering of red fox, which are up to previous ones in both quantity and quality. The value of the entire lot of furs is upward of $4,000,000. It will be disposed of in the auditorium of the Masonic Temple here during the week beginning April 7."

Fine Northern furs are in exceptionally strong demand, according to the current market report of Funsten Brothers & Co. of St. Louis, and have advanced fully 10 to 15 per cent. above the January prices. The report also says there is every reason to believe that there will be a shortage of furs from Canada and Alaska. Receipts from those sections are very much lighter than usual, which, the report says, is understood to be due to the prevalence of influenza among the inhabitants, both white and Indian. Fur bearing animals in those sections also seem to be afflicted with a similar plague. The Spring sale at St. Louis begins on April 28, and the last day for receiving shipments there will be April 12.

Beaded Articles the Thing.

The "whole thing" in the fancy goods and notions trade at present consists of beaded articles of one kind or another. It was said yesterday that it was impossible to keep up with the demand for fancy bead necklaces that is coming from all parts of the country, and that this condition was practically duplicated by the heavy call for beaded bags and ornaments. The best thing about it all, from the wholesalers' point of view, is that the bulk of the business done in them is principally on the higher-priced lines. The beads themselves are also active sellers, as many women are making their own bags. This is keeping alive the demand for imitation ivory and metal bag frames. There is some speculation at the moment as to whether the call for beaded things will keep up at its present rate after the Easter season is over, but opinions for the most part are affirmative.

Needle Scarcity Is Waning.

The scarcity of ordinary sewing needles, which not so long ago was acute, has abated considerably of late and small boys may now tear their garments with the full assurance that they can be sewed up again. With the improving of the supply has come a corresponding easing off in prices, but they were said yesterday still to be higher than before the war. Practically all of the needles now coming on the market are of domestic make. Germany is out of it indefinitely as a needle-supplying factor, and English needles are not to be had. The English representative of a local concern, now in this country, asserts that it will be some time before England will again cut any figure as a needle exporting country.

Gray Goods Still Active.

Trading continued in an active way in the local gray goods market yesterday. Among the sales made were some large lots of 38½-inch 64-60s at 9¾ cents for delivery during the next sixty days or so. For 60[illegible]48s in the same width and for the same delivery 8¾ cents was paid. Eleven cents was got for 39-inch 68-72s, while 39-inch 72-76s brought 13½ cents. Among the sheetings sales were additional lots of 36-inch 56-60s at 11¾ cents, and 36-inch three-yard goods at 9½ cents. Considerable business was done in fine-yarn cloths. The clothing specialties continued to sell in a big way.

Selling Shoes on Commission.

The plan adopted by several shoe retailers of paying commissions instead of salaries to their salesmen seems to be working out very well. It has at least, according to one shoe dealer, curtailed the former habit some salesmen had of selling the merchandise that was easiest to sell. The styles that do not sell so readily now pay the salesman a higher commission and those that practically sell themselves pay him less. The only "kick" the salesman has to register against the new plan is the rainy day, when he spends most of his time fitting on rubbers at only 3 per cent. on sales.

Present Woolen Prices.

Although buyers of piece goods appear to be skeptical in some instances of the ability of the mills to continue their high prices, the mill men can see no prospect ahead of a drop. Concessions made by the Government to mills that were turning out material for the War Department have, it is believed, been used to keep prices down. In other words, the mills have given their regular customers the benefit of a reduced cost of material. This fact, the woolen men argue, has made for lower prices than would prevail if such concessions did not figure in the production costs of the season.

Safes for Ribbon Makers?

Speaking of the tendency that has developed during the last week for higher priced merchandise, a ribbon manufacturer recalled how just before the war $60 for a piece of ribbon was a decided novelty to the trade. "But now," he said, "we have calls, and quite a good many of them, for pieces worth $150. It makes me nervous to leave the place at night without putting such valuable material in the safe." The ribbon trade has swung around to the better grades and the demand is principally for the wider goods, eighty lignes being a popular size.

The Better Dresses Sell Well.

Reports from various quarters of the cutting-up trade indicate that in the business now passing there is a larger proportion of high-priced goods selling than of the more popular priced lines. One well-known manufacturer said yesterday that his average sale was on garments wholesaling close to $100 each, and he added that the buyers were practically neglecting the cheaper numbers in his line. In the lines that begin at $20 wholesale it is also said that the consumer is calling for the better grades, and that this demand is reflected in the orders of the buyers.

Plaids and Tricotines.

Plaids and tricotines seem to be the leading novelties in the dress goods line. These materials are made up in all-wool and manipulated goods and in a variety of color combinations. They are being used chiefly at the moment by the skirt manufacturers. Dress goods sellers are well satisfied with the business being done on these novelties, and in many cases orders have to be scaled down so that the goods may be equitably distributed. The fact that they are novelties also makes price a secondary consideration, so that the lines are not so keenly competitive, a feature that is always attractive to sellers.

Cotton Prices Near Top.

According to an opinion expressed yesterday by one of the best-posted men in the local market for cottons in the gray, the upward movement in prices that has accompanied the recent heavy buying of these goods here is about at an end. Yesterday business was done on 38½-inch 64-60s at 9¾ cents, and the man in question gives them an advance of another quarter of a cent before the upturn ceases. The activity of the last week or ten days is said not to have been wholly unartificial, and in some quarters there is a disposition to doubt that prices will continue very long at their present levels after the current buying movement slows up.

EXPORTS CONTINUE HEAVY.

Total for February $588,000,000 and Imports $235,000,000.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Exports continued to show great strength in February, the total reaching $588,000,000 in value, according to a statement issued today by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce. This is a falling off from the record January total of $6[illegible]000, but as there were only twenty-eight days in February, the daily average is even higher than in January. The total represents an increase of about 43 per cent. over the $411,000,000 for February, 1918.

Exports for the eight months ended with February were valued at $4,386,000,000 as compared with $3,862,000,000 for the corresponding period of the previous year.

February imports are announced as $235,000,000, a gain over the $213,000,000 for January, and over the $208,000,000 for February, 1918. Imports for the eight months ended with February totaled $1,933,000,000, as against $1,841,000,000 for a similar period the previous year.

Exports of foodstuffs to neutrals, Belgian relief, Red Cross, and the A. E. F. for 1918 were 4,547,786,458 pounds, exclusive of flour and grains, according to figures compiled today by the Food Administration, an increase of 2,156,858,194 pounds over 1917. Grain and flour exports were 458,200,552 bushels, an increase of 84,616,842 bushels over 1917.

Exports for January, 1919, the latest figures available, were 396,027,827 pounds, and 38,784,198 bushels of flour and grain, against 191,945,784 pounds and 27,655,456 bushels during the same month a year ago.

FOR BIG MERCHANT MARINE.

National Association Elects Senator Ransdell as Head.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—The National Merchant Marine Association, which will work to aid in the development of a merchant marine under the American flag adequate to the needs of the nation in peace and war, completed its permanent organization today, electing Senator Ransdell of Louisiana as President.

The organization announced that it will collect and disseminate information showing the necessity of an American merchant marine and suggest to Congress from time to time laws to be passed which will promote the best interests of the American people.

The five Vice Presidents of the organization are J. Parker Kirlin, New York; Edward B. Burling, Washington; William Butterworth, Moline, Ill.; John H. Kirby, Houston, Texas, and William R. Wheeler, San Francisco. The Executive Committee elected follows: Edward B. Burling, Chairman; George W. Norris, and Captain C. A. McAllister, Washington, D. C.; L. L. Richards and Hendon Chubb, New York; William Allen, New Orleans, and Emile P. Albrecht, Philadelphia. The Executive Committee will elect a Secretary and Treasurer.

Among new members whose election was announced were H. V. Bernard, importer and exporter, 503 Fifth Avenue, New York; W. R. Ingalls, consulting mining engineer, Hill Building, New York, and H. H. Raymond, President of the Clyde Steamship Company and Mallory Steamship Company, New York.

WARNS RESERVE BOARD.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Representative McFadden of Pennsylvania made a new move today in his fight against John Skelton Williams, Controller of the Currency. Mr. McFadden wrote to Governor Harding of the Federal Reserve Board, declaring that it would be illegal for Mr. Williams to sit as one of the board in a conference to be held Thursday, at which time, it is expected, both the financing of the railroads and the forthcoming Victory Loan will be discussed. Any action taken at this time, Mr. McFadden contended, would not be binding, because Mr. Williams's presence would be necessary to constitute a quorum. Carter Glass, Secretary of the Treasury, who is a member of the board, is scheduled to speak in St. Paul, Minn., on that day, and another member of the board is absent from the city.

Mr. McFadden asserted tonight that by the end of this week he would begin his proposed quo warranto proceedings to test Secretary Glass's right to reappoint Mr. Williams after that official had failed of Senate confirmation, if by that time Mr. Williams had not resigned or Secretary Glass had not made reply to the inquiries of the Pennsylvania Representative for the legal reasons for the appointment.

Hosiery Demand Keeps Up.

Even though the number of buyers now in this market is considerably smaller than it was a month or so ago, sellers of the finer qualities of silk hosiery for men and women say that they see little change in the demand for Fall lines. Salesmen now on the road are turning in good business and in some cases where it has been necessary to make allotments in order to distribute the production equitably they have already been largely disposed of. Buyers who have been in this market and only succeeded in filling their needs on wanted lines partially while here, are now bombarding the local selling offices with letters asking that they be taken care of in case any other buyer reneges. In some instances even the samples are asked for.

BOAT OWNER DENIES YIELDING TO UNION

Says Earnings of the Boats Given to Government Will Be Used to Fight Strike.

ONLY SEVEN CREWS QUIT

Delahunty Declares Others Are Ready to Leave Places on Army and Navy Tugs.

Announcing that he had agreed to give the Government ten coal boats for the coaling of transports, J. J. Kelly of the B. Maclain Transportation Company last night denied that the unions had succeeded in making a rift in the ranks of the boat owners in the harbor strike.

"Some days ago the local representatives of the War and Navy Departments," said Mr. Kelly, "requested me to charter a few coal boats to the Government on a bare boat basis, which means that these boats would be delivered to the Government without Captains, and that the Government would be free to put its own men in charge of them. I indicated that I would. The union leaders immediately distorted the matter and sought to make it appear that I had signed up on the union wage scale and deserted my associates in the coal-boat business. I have not. My interests always have been with the private boat owners. Today, with the full approval of my associates in the New York Boat Owners' Association, I have allowed the Government to have ten boats on a bare boat basis. I have done this only upon the positive assurance that the Government absolutely needs these boats for the coaling of transports. Every dollar which I receive for the hire of these boats will for the duration of the strike be donated to the boat owners' fund for fighting the strike."

Captain William A. Maher, Vice President of the Marine Workers' Affiliation, asserted last night the Army Medical Department, located on Pier 90, North River, was not living up to the Government's agreement with the unionists working on army and navy boats, and that the crews were being worked more than eight hours a day. Captain Maher said that the question would be taken up today with the Government.

Thomas L. Delahunty, President of the affiliation, said that he had ascertained that only seven crews had quit on army and navy tugs, but that the other seven crews were reported as ready to leave their places. Mr. Delahunty said that five railroad tugs were lent to the army and navy officials yesterday, and that five more would be added to the military fleet today.

The announcement that additional tugs would be turned over to the military today following charges made at the union headquarters by two Captains, who alleged that the local Railroad Administration had caused them to lose their jobs because of union affiliations. This was characterized by A. J. Stone of the railroad forces as "ridiculous." Mr. Delahunty, who had earlier ordered a rigid investigation of the charges, said last night that he had nothing to add to the matter, but possibly might say something about it today.

Captain Benjamin F. Hutchison, who, as administrator of the harbor floating equipment at this port, has been acting as naval representative in the negotiations with the strikers, was detached yesterday from that duty and ordered to command the Norfolk Navy Yard. Captain James F. Cater, until recently commanding the battleship Connecticut, was detailed to succeed Captain Hutchison. No reason for the transfer was announced.

LAWRENCE STRIKERS CLASH WITH POLICE

Trouble Starts When Officials Break Up Parade—Small Outbreaks Also at Night.

LAWRENCE, Mass., March 18.—Violent encounters between policemen and textile strikers and strike sympathizers, which started today when the police broke up a parade, were resumed tonight. The disturbances were the most serious since the strike started six weeks ago.

Shots were fired at policemen from tenement houses while they were struggling with leaders of the parade this forenoon, and tonight the police exchanged shots with occupants of a house who attempted to prevent them from arresting a disturber.

Twenty-one men arrested during the early rioting were held under $500 bonds each on charges of inciting to riot. In pesenting the cases, Captain J. J. Sullivan of the police told the court that red flags were waved at the head of the parade. Outside the courtroom strike leaders denied that any red flags were carried, and said that an Italian flag must have been mistaken for the revolutionary banner in the fog. Four men arrested because of tonight's disturbances will be arraigned tomorrow.

The most serious outbreak tonight occurred in an alley between Lowell and Valley Streets. A man threw a stone at a patrolman, and when the police tried to arrest the man, they were surrounded by strike sympathizers. Shots were fired at the patrolmen from a tenement house, and the officers fired into windows of a house from which they thought the bullets came. The police succeeded in arresting four men and driving off the others.

A fight took place in another section when Polish operatives who had been attending a strikers' meeting jeered at policemen as they came out of the hall. Again clubs, stones, and bottles were called into play, but no arrests were made.

FIGHT STATE INCOME LEVY.

Objections May Prevent Inclusion in Tax Commission's Bill.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 18.—Work on drafting the Tax bill by which the State hopes to obtain $22,000,000 in revenue, most of which it has been deprived of through the coming of prohibition, has been completed by the special committee headed by Senator Davenport of Oneida. The committee is expected to present its report next Monday night.

Objection has been raised, particularly up State, to the contemplated State income tax, and there was some doubt today whether this provision would be incorporated in the measure to be submitted. The bill, however, will contain provision for a tangible personal property tax and a permissive business tax which localities will have the choice of levying.

The committee will submit a bill covering all its recommendations on which it is expected to set hearings for the first or second week of April. This means that the Legislature will not adjourn on April 10, the date set in resolutions already offered in both bodies.

REAL ESTATE FIELD

For a figure said to be about $100,000 less than its assessed valuation by the city for taxation purposes the ten-story Jones Building, at the southeast corner of Duane and Elm Streets, was sold by the Hollywood Hotel and Cottage Company yesterday to the Elm-Duane Corporation.

The structure covers an irregular plot, 110.8 on Elm Street, 102.6 on Duane Street, with southerly and easterly lines measuring 100 and 86.3, respectively. Title to the property will pass to the buying corporation, which was incorporated at Albany Monday, with a capital of $500,000, on April 1. The Directors of the new corporation are F. Halstead, H. Harris, and H. G. Wiley. The Charles F. Noyes Company negotiated the sale.

Mrs. William Ziegler Buys West Seventy-second Street Apartment House.

As an investment, Gladys W. Ziegler, wife of William Ziegler, has purchased the thirteen-story apartment house at 124 and 126 West Seventy-second Street.

The structure, which occupies a plot 50 by 100, was erected a couple of years ago by the G. B. Beaumont Company, which transferred it to the 124 West Seventy-second Street, a holding company for the builders. It was immediately reconveyed to Mrs. Ziegler, subject to a mortgage for $330,000. The buyer holds title to several other parcels of property in the vicinity.

Operator Buys $300,000 Loft in Old Retail Shopping Zone.

In the old retail shopping zone, where there has been a revival of speculative buying, Charles Galewski, operator, purchased the twelve-story fireproof loft at 30 to 32 West Fifteenth Street. The structure, which occupies a plot 50 by 100, was sold by Elizabeth Ferris of Long Branch, N. J., who held it at $300,000. It is fully rented at about $40,000 a year. William Sussman and M. & L. Hess negotiated the sale.

Profit in Resale of Auction Bargain.

The six-story loft building at 343 to 347 West Twenty-sixth Street, a holding of Thomas M. Hamilton, one-time Police Commissioner, was sold at forced auction yesterday to Loretta M. Higgins for $61,000 and immediately resold by her to a client of Francis B. Robert for $67,000. The property, which is 63.11 by 98.9, was sold at the stand of Henry Brady. The judgment against the property was for about $50,000 and there were back taxes of $7,500.

Third Avenue Hotel Sold at Auction.

Henry Boettger acquired the old Knickerbocker Hotel at the southwest corner of Third Avenue and Twenty-fifth Street for $48,950, when it was sold in foreclosure yesterday by Joseph P. Day. James N. Wells' Sons represented Mr. Boettger at the auction sale.

Sheridan Square Property Acquired by Bank.

The Corn Exchange Bank bought the triangular corner site, forming the junction at 76 Grove Street, corner of West Fourth Street, at the new subway station on Sheridan Square, through A. W. McLaughlin & Co. The bank will erect a building for its own occupancy on the site, making the forty-second branch in the Corn Exchange Bank system.

Private Dwellings Sold.

The four story and basement high-stoop dwelling, on lot 24 by 100.5, a Columbia College leasehold, at 4 West Fifty-first Street, was sold to a client of the Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Company for occupancy.

The four story and basement dwelling, 22 by 100.8, at 29 West Eighty-sixth Street, was bought by clients of Henry L. Moses, attorney. Louise Salzer is the recorded owner.

The West-Mercer Corporation sold the four-story and basement building, 19 by 102.2, at 61 West Eighty-sixth Street, to a client of Robert W. Fulton, who will remodel the premises into small apartments.

The four story and basement dwelling, 16 by 100.6, at 132 West Seventy-eighth Street, was sold by the West-Mercer Corporation to a client of Franklin C. Albee for occupancy.

Tenement Deal.

The United States Trust Company, trustee for the De Muth estate, sold the five-story apartment, on plot 37.6 by 99.11, at 293 West 147th Street, adjoining the corner of Eighth Avenue, to an investing client of Sharp & Co.

Halcyon Hall Bought by Operators.

Halcyon Hall, a seven-story elevator apartment on site 83.6 by 100, at 408 to 414 West 150th Street, between Convent and Amsterdam Avenues, was bought by Ennis & Sinnott from Moore & Ashley, builders, through W. D. Morgan.

Brown in Two Deals.

Frederick Brown sold to Samuel H. Golding, lawyer and operator, two five-story apartments, each 75 by 100, at 560 and 565 West 192d Street, between Audubon and St. Nicholas Avenues, renting for about $14,600 each, and were held at $110,000 apiece. To a client of Harry J. Rogers, Mr. Brown sold the five-story apartment, 28 by 100, at 2,092 Amsterdam Avenue, between 163d and 164th Streets.

Heights Activities.

Mrs. Margaret M. Loughnane sold the two six-story apartments, on plot 79.6 by 103, held at $115,000 and renting for about $15,000, at 4,310 to 4,318 Broadway, southeast corner of 184th Street, through the Nehring Company, Jules Nehring, President.

The Bendor Building Company, represented by Grossfield Brothers, attorneys, sold to Bessie Glicher the five-story thirty-family apartment house at 592 to 596 West 178th Street, on a plot 75 by 100, adjoining the southeast corner of St. Nicholas Avenue. The house rents for $14,600 and was sold for $110,000.

Daniel H. Jackson bought from William Gamble, Vice President of the Irving Trust Company, Hudson View Court, a five-story new-law apartment, held at $135,000 and renting for over $17,000, at 112 and 118 Haven Avenue, facing West 171st Street. J. S. Maxwell was the broker.

Max Cohen bought from the Klingenstein estate two five-story apartments, each on a plot 43.9 by 100, and each held at $50,000, at 503 and 517 West 175th Street, through Max Blau.

The Bronx Market.

Louis E. Kleban bought the five-story apartment house with stores, on a plot 42 by 100, held at $60,000, at 305 East 166th Street, northeast corner of College Avenue, through Alexander Selkin and David Mintz.

Cahn & Pittman bought the five-story new-law apartment with stores, held at $50,000, at 315 East 166th Street, corner of Findlay Avenue, from Dr. Louis Golden. Alexander Selkin and David Mintz negotiated the sale.

The United Real Estate Trust Company sold to the P. H. Construction Company, P. Herschowsky, President, for immediate improvement, a plot of four lots, 125 by 100, on the west side of Creston Avenue, south of Burnside Avenue. Quilan & Leland represented the buyer and B. H. Weisker the seller.

Osserman & Gottlieb, Inc., bought the new-law twenty-family apartment house at the southeast corner of Vermilyea Avenue and 211th Street, held at $70,000, from the Henry Menken Company. Max Marks was the broker and London & Davis represented the purchasers.

AMBITIOUS

absorb this!! A year ago I resigned as sales manager of the largest automobile distributer in the country. I wanted to increase my earning capacity. I had reached the top of the ladder. I looked over the business field with a fine comb and rejected innumerable propositions. At last I hit on the greatest business in the world, LIFE INSURANCE, which had been presented to me many times before but never until I tried the business did I realize the following:

A delightful business, calling on the highest type of business and professional men, offering them a commodity of the most unquestionable character. Every day doing some good for my fellow-men, and at the same time building and enjoying an income far beyond my fondest hopes. Your compensation, based upon commission, will be limited only by your own intelligent application. You ambitious salesman, come in and let's have a talk, and let me thoroughly prove my statements to you. If you are in the 30s or 40s, have demonstrated your ability in your present position, if you are making $3,500 or upward, and you are eager to double, yes, treble, your present income, will you hold yourself open and permit me to prove that I have the very opportunity you have been waiting for? Call and see my sales manager, Mr. Taylor, between 2 and 5 o'clock, 902, 516 5th Av.

ASSISTANT ADVERTISING MANAGER by a progressive Middle West store; qualifications, forceful copy writer and good layout man, preferably an assistant now employed who wishes an opportunity. ACCOUNTANTS NEEDED.
MEN AND WOMEN.

I want to hear from bookkeepers, cashiers, school teachers, office workers, stenographers and all capable men and women, either with or without bookkeeping experience, who are ambitious to get into higher accounting positions paying

$2,400 TO $6,000 A YEAR AT THE START.

The readjustment of commerce and industry to a peace basis, the reconstruction and reorganization of American business along more efficient lines, the more scientific analysis of costs to meet domestic and world competition and the necessity for accurate income and excess profits tax reports to the Government have created thousands of new and attractive opportunities for permanent positions in the higher accounting field.

At present we can supply only in a very limted way students and members to fill the numerous requests being received for cost accountants, auditors, junior and senior accountants, comptrollers, &c., &c. Government and business demands have exhausted the available supply of trained men and women.

So, our organization, having the largest staff of accounting and business efficiency experts in the world, is making every possible effort to help meet this unusual situation, and to that end I will interview men or women who desire to qualify for these positions by taking individual home training. This can be done without interfering with their present employment.

APPLICANTS WHO ARE ACCEPTED will be placed under the direct personal supervision of one of our staff of certified public accountants and thoroughly trained in the special knowledge and practical procedure necessary to qualify for important accounting work.

Address for interview, giving age, position, education and telephone number, A. C. S., Post Office Box 63, Times Square Station.

ASK INQUIRY INTO POLICE DEPARTMENT

Republican and Socialist Aldermen, Through Wm. F. Quinn, Demand Investigation.

BOARD DEFEATS THE MOTION

Hint That State Legislature May Be Asked to Conduct a Hearing.

Republican and Socialist Aldermen yesterday demanded an investigation of the Police Department under threat of asking for a legislative inquiry if the local board refused to vote for one. The demand was put forward by Alderman William F. Quinn of the Eleventh Manhattan District, who asked for a discharge of the Committee on Rules from consideration of his resolution demanding an investigation of the department. After a lively debate Mr. Quinn's motion was defeated and it was said that the Legislature would be asked to appoint a committee to conduct an investigation.

Mayor Hylan was blamed by the Aldermen for the present conditions in the Police Department, and Alderman Quinn declared that if crime and lawlessness continued to increase "the people of New York City will rise up in their wrath and take the situation in their own hands by appealing to Governor Smith to remove the present Mayor." He charged that the Mayor had "injected cheap and petty political dictation" into the department. He declared, also, that his resolution demanding an investigation had been long enough in committee in view of the importance of protecting the public interests against lawless conditions, and he added:

"If you defeat my motion I can assure you it will be followed by an investigation conducted by the State Legislature." He continued.

"Mayor Hylan has injected into the Police Department the same cheap and petty political dictation that has characterized his administration of the different departments of the City Government since New York was unfortunate enough to elect him to office.

"The present deplorable conditions have no doubt been brought about from the cheap ward politics practiced by Mayor Hylan in his dictation to the Commissioner and the appointment and promotion of men for political preference rather than ability over the head of the Police Commissioner, which has lowered the efficiency of the department to the present deplorable standard."

A letter from Commissioner Enright to the board answering some of the questions put to him last week by Alderman Falconer, Republican, was received and placed on file. In it Commissioner Enright defended the use of a fund for the pay of special patrolmen by declaring that the Board of Estimate had provided the funds, but that none of it had been used and it was now at the disposal of the Board of Estimate. Relative to the raising of the pistol permit fees to $25, the Commissioner said that the power to issue permits by the police was not mandatory, but discretionary. He said that Officer George J. McDermott had lost his position because the Purchasing Department had been abolished to save money.

The Commissioner did not refer in any way to the demotion of Inspector Costigan to the rank of Captain.

W. C. T. U. SEEKS $1,000,000.

Will Begin Five-Year Jubilee Celebration This Month.

The State Women's Christian Temperance Union headquarters at 156 Fifth Avenue announced yesterday the beginning this month of a five-year jubilee celebration of the national organization with a drive, to be carried through immediately, for $1,000,000 and 1,000,000 members. This is in anticipation of the celebration by the union of its fiftieth birthday in 1924, and is in accordance with plans given out from the National W. C. T. U. headquarters, at Evanston, Ill.

Temperance work in the United States is not finished with the adoption of the prohibition amendment, the women say, and they are urging increased effort.

The women are planning to send agents to more than forty foreign countries which have been federated since 1884 in the World's W. C. T. U. In Mexico the W. C. T. U. is circulating petitions to President Carranza urging him to prevent the invasion of American brewers.

WANT DR. CURRELL TO QUIT.

South Carolina University Students Present Petition to Trustees.

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBIA, S. C., March 18.—Dr. W. S. Currell, President of the University of South Carolina, was asked today to resign as head of the institution in a petition presented to the Board of Trustees signed by 166 members of the student body.

This action followed a mass meeting of students held yesterday afternoon, at which resolutions were drawn up asserting that the university is losing its prestige and that college spirit is more of a tradition than a fact. The petitioners say they believe Dr. Currell to be a gentleman of scholarship and integrity, but that he lacks inspirational power, is tactless in dealing with men, cold in association with students, and devoid of the qualities of imagination and idealism, so that, the petition argues, the university's future with the doctor at its head is well-nigh hopeless.

Tumulty's Sister Sponsor for Ship.

Miss Esther Tumulty, sister of Joseph P. Tumulty, President Wilson's secretary, acted as sponsor today at the launching of the steamship York Harbor at Mariners Harbor, S. I. Among the guests at the launching were Secretary Tumulty's mother and his brother, Felix Tumulty. The York Harbor is 276 feet 6 inches in length, 43 feet in the beam, 34 feet in depth, and has 1,200 horse power. Her keel was laid on Sept. 17, 1918.

DISCUSS CASE OF DISABLED.

Rehabilitation Conference Begins—Foreign Delegates Speak.

Delegates from England, France, Belgium, Italy, and Canada, with American Army surgeons and surgical experts in civil life, met in the International Conference on Rehabilitation which opened in the Waldorf-Astoria yesterday under the auspices of the Red Cross Institute for Crippled and Disabled Men and the Red Cross Institute for the Blind, to consider ways and means of best caring for the nation's war cripples.

In opening the conference, Douglas C. McMurtrie, Director of the Red Cross Institute, asserted that of all the problems of reconstruction facing the United States there was not one so vital and so far-reaching in its effects as that of taking care of the men of America whose bodies had been shattered in battle.

At the morning session a representative from France, England, Belgium, and Italy described what had been done in those countries in rehabilitation work. The foreign speakers were Professor L. Alleman, Chief of the Educational Staff, Belgian Military Institute for Invalids and Orphans of the War, at Port Villez, France; Dr. Maurice Bourillon, Director of the French National Institute for Invalids of the War, Paris; Mrs. Ethel Wood, Secretary of the Local War Pensions Committee of England; F. Gerald Robinson of Canada, and Professor Vittorio Putti, Director of the Rizzoli Institute, Bologna, Italy.

Colonel Frank Billings, Chief of the Division of Physical Reconstruction, Office of the Surgeon General, United States Army, and Lieut. Col. Frank I. Miller, assistant to him, told of America's plans in the matter and of the things actually accomplished by this country.

At the evening session Dr. Charles A. Prosser, Director of the Federal Board for Vocational Education, gave in detail the United States Government program for vocational rehabilitation. The other speakers were Dr. J. A. C. Chandler, Dr. James C. Miller, Charles H. Winslow, H. L. Smith, and George C. Greener, who spoke on "Encouraging Disabled Men to Undertake Vocational Rehabilitation."

The conference will continue for four days, including two general sessions in Carnegie Hall on Wednesday and Friday evenings and a mass meeting in the Hippodrome next Sunday afternoon.

Capt. Hamilton Fish, Jr., Now Major

Information was received by cable yesterday of the promotion of Captain Hamilton Fish, Jr., to the rank of Major. In January, the Croix de Guerre was awarded to Major Fish by General Petain. The citation from the French commander said: "Captain Hamilton Fish, Jr., commander of Company K of the 369th Infantry Regiment, being on furlough, came back to spend his furlough with the regiment, knowing it had been engaged. Has rendered precious services, exposed incessantly to danger, before, during and after the taking of a village and in establishing contact between the regiment and his battalion." Major Fish is a son of Hamilton Fish of 810 Fifth Avenue. He is a nephew of Stuyvesant Fish.

Elkus Heads Free Synagogue.

At a special meeting of the Executive Committee of the Free Synagogue at the Aldine Club, 200 Fifth Avenue, yesterday Abram I. Elkus, who has been Vice President of the congregation for ten years, was elected President to succeed Henry Morgenthau, who recently resigned. The election of the First and Second Vice Presidents was postponed until the annual meeting to be held in April Mr. Elkus has been associated with the organization and active in the work of the congregation since its foundation.

Senator Flies In from Washington.

Senator Charles B. Henderson of Nevada flew from Washington to the Mineola field yesterday in an airplane piloted by Major W. C. Ocker of the United States Air Service. The flight, which took two hours, was made in a De Haviland machine equipped with a 400 horse power Liberty motor. Senator Henderson expects to make the return trip by air this morning.

ASKS AID IN JOB FINDING.

Reconstruction Commission Suggests $50,000 State Appropriation.

Pointing out that the imminent demobilization of the Federal Employment Service, coupled with the arrival from France of the 27th and 77th Divisions, would tend to create an acute unemployment situation in this State, the Reconstruction Commission, in a report submitted yesterday to Governor Smith, recommended that he ask the Legislature for $50,000 to expand the work of the State Industrial Commission to coöperate with what is left of the United States Employment Service.

"The 27th Division is here, and the 77th Division is expected in a few weeks," the report says, "so that the replacement problem is acute for the first time in our own State, and the men of these divisions have rightfully raised the demand of 'local jobs for local men.' Employment, owing to complicated causes, is not plentiful. The figures obtainable show that, while the replacement of soldiers in positions is proceeding with very excellent results, the displacement of civilians is assuming serious proportions."

Frankle Estate Goes to Hospital.

The will of Rosa Frankle, who died at 600 West 114th Street, leaves $37,500 in direct bequests and her residuary estate to the Presbyterian Hospital to establish free beds. The only other bequests were $500 each to Edward A. Hendricks and George Pflome, friends.

MAYER UPHOLDS VERDICT.

American Socialist Society Liable for Obstructing Enlistment.

Federal Judge Mayer yesterday denied the motion to set aside the verdict of guilty found against the American Socialist Society, founder of the Rand School, on an indictment charging it with obstructing enlistment in the army and navy. Sentence will be imposed Friday. Under the law a fine of not more than $10,000 may be the punishment.

Professor Scott Nearing, also indicted with the society, was acquitted. He was the author of a pamphlet, "The Great Madness," which the society printed and published and on which the indictment was mainly founded. It was shown that Nearing was not a member of the society when he wrote the pamphlet.

To Give Concert in Art Museum.

A concert will be given at the Metropolitan Museum of Art on Saturday evening from 8 until 10:30 o'clock, giving the public an opportunity to hear music while viewing the works of art. The orchestra, which will consist of more than fifty pieces, will be placed in the main hall, and has been provided by Michael Friedsam. Admission will be free.

"When does a Young Man grow old?"

Our salesman had said something about a "young man's model."

"I'm forty," said the Customer. He looked thirty. "If it were twenty years ago I suppose I should be wearing a silk hat, side whiskers and a long-tailed coat. However, I've just put in eight months in France, and as long as I can play a fast game of tennis, and keep my waist line, I am going to wear just as stylish clothes as any other young man."

When you come to think of it, where are the old men? Have they gone out of fashion?

As long as a New York man can play the game, stand the gaff and keep happy he's a young man, and is entitled to dress the part.

When we say
"Hart Schaffner & Marx
New Waist-Seam Suits for Young Men"

we not only have in mind our lively new suit ideas—single and double breasted models in beautiful fabrics—for men who like to show self respect through respect for stylish, up-to-the-minute clothes; but in keeping the price of these smart clothes down to $35, we are saving you $10, $15, and $20 a suit.

The Effect of By-Products On Food and Livestock Prices

IF a thousand pound steer could be used for nothing but its food parts, its meat, sold at regular prices, would not bring what the steer cost. If its three hundred and fifty pounds of inedible parts were thrown away, either producers would have to take lower prices for animals or consumers would have to pay more for food.

Hence, Armour and Company must find a way to use and sell every ounce of all livestock.

One of the fundamental benefits of big business is that it has the resources to make scientific investigations in developing new products and the organization to sell them when they have been developed.

There is more imposed upon us than merely the marketing of meat. The beef animal referred to above affords an instance—35% of our efforts in manufacturing and selling have to do with parts that are not food at all. Multiply this one steer by millions. Think of the problem of finding markets for glue, curled hair, hides and pelts, wool, lubricating oils, soaps, banjo strings, pharmaceutical preparations, sand-paper and many other by-products in almost unending quantities. This would be difficult for a concern with lesser facilities; no large organization, even, could accomplish the task without years of endeavor in upbuilding many kinds of markets.

To produce foods economically, we not only have to be in many lines of business but we must also be large factors in each of these many lines. For, upon our ability to profitably market the by-products, depends our ability to buy and sell foods at our present small margin of profit.

But packer by-products relate to more than food. They affect the everyday life of all. They give employment and wages to many additional thousands of workers and they are used in every business and craft, and relate to every industry in the world.

Thus it is that when you purchase Armour Products you are doing two important things:

You are helping assure producers of fair prices which encourage them to raise the food supply of the future.

And you are definitely securing for yourself utmost value in the food you eat.
